Board Supports 6-County Mass Transit District

The Schaumburg Village Board acted Tuesday to support formation of a six-county mass transportation district excluding the City of Chicago and the Chicago Transit Authority.

The board voted to endorse pending state legislation to form the district, and also passed a resolution opposing another pending state bill which would include the CTA.

Action was taken after trustees heard a presentation by Mayor Howell Hollomann of Lombard. Schaumburg Mayor Robert O. Atcher urged the resolutions be approved last week, but the board deferred until members had a time to study the measures and talk to Hollomann.

Hollomann is chairman of the Six-County Mass Transportation Study committee, of which Atcher is a member. The committee developed the bill which would exclude the CTA.

COUNTIES REPRESENTED are suburban Cook, DuPage, Kane, McHenry and Will. Hollomann said the "entire committee worked together" to achieve a mutually desirable measure.

"Three bills are pending," said Hollomann, "but one is not supported by the City of Chicago." Mayor Atcher described the Chicago Metropolitan Area Transportation System (CMATS) as "dead."

Of the two remaining bills, Chicago is supporting one and the six-county committee the other. "There will probably be a compromise bill come out," said Hollomann.

The one favored by the CTA, House

Bill 4313 or the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA), would extend the CTA to include the six counties. It is objectionable, said Hollomann, because the CTA "doesn't serve all the communities" in the counties, and because areas outside Chicago would not be represented on the governing board. The three-man board would have one member appointed by Gov. Richard Ogilvie, one by Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, and one mutually agreeable to the two of them.

"THERE IS absolutely no consideration of the suburban area," Hollomann said.

The bill supported by the committee, House Bill 4362, would provide a Suburban Area Transportation System, with a nine member governing board. Hollomann termed it wise "from the standpoint of the fear of individual municipalities" that they would have no voice or control in determining routes or operations.

"A major concern of the committee," Hollomann said, "is that thus far all public transportation routes have been into or out of the City of Chicago, and provide nothing for persons going from one suburb to another. To accomplish a trip between suburbs, a person must go into the city on one route and come out on another. A suburban system would promote north-south transportation."

"We were in general agreement, but we really don't know if the municipalities agree with us or not," Hollomann said in reference to the committee members. "We will have to testify in favor of this in the next few weeks before the governor's Task Force," he said.

"UP TO THIS point, no one would listen to us. Right or wrong, they are listening now," he noted.

Commenting the population of suburban areas now exceeds the Chicago population, Trustee Raymond Kessel said "we now in no way, shape or form have an equal voice."

In thanking the board for its support, Hollomann commented "your president has been one of the hardest working" committee members.

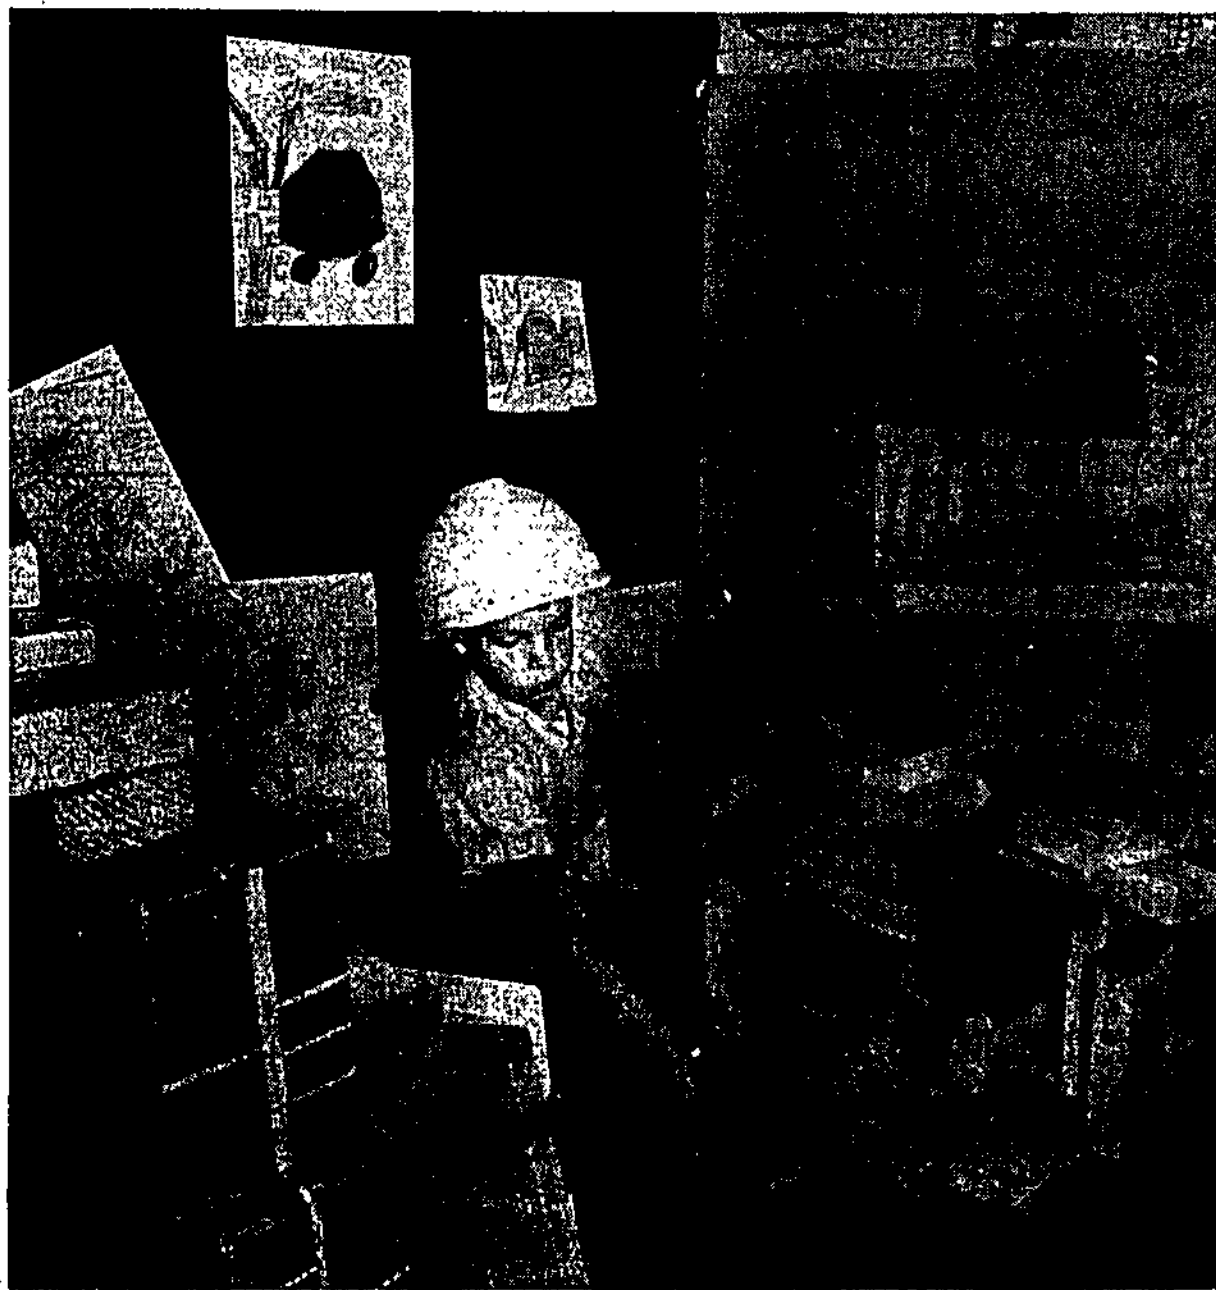

Village To Share Tree Replacement

The Village of Hoffman Estates will share the cost of parkway tree replacement with residents who wish to participate in the fall program.

Kenneth J. Dean director of the streets department, is accepting calls now for reservation of six species of tree on a first come, first served basis.

All residents who wish to purchase trees should contact the department no later than Nov. 17.

The village plans to purchase $2,000 worth of green ash, improved alder, maple, amur corktree, hackberry, thornless honey locust, and American sycamore.

A HARD HAT construction zone in school makes sense when first graders hammer away at the building unit they are working on. Blackhawk School first-grader Danny O'Brien, 6, isn't learning the construction trade, but he is building his version of the homes he sees under construction on his way to school.

Learning About Surroundings

1st Graders Don Hard Hats

by JERRY THOMAS
A unit on building is not usually part of a first grader's curriculum. But, at Blackhawk School there is a specially designed hard hat area where youngsters can pound away on building projects.

Prin. Roy Broderson said teachers are not attempting to push a building or construction career on youngsters but found that children are interested in their surroundings.

"In this suburban area construction is part of the everyday scene," he added.

THE SCHOOL converted a closet area into a building room and the children are encouraged to build what they see. Sometimes they express themselves with drawings of the various equipment it takes to build, but mostly they pound blocks together to build their versions of shopping centers and homes.

The building unit doesn't really fit into any special curriculum but uses all the child's talents.

They learn to express themselves with art work and the actual wood construction teaches them coordination, design and is also a form of expression, said Broderson.

Since the building unit began, children have been taking a keen look at the community they live in, he added. They are eager to show off the things they see going on around them.

Halloween Parade Set Oct. 28

A Halloween parade sponsored by the Schaumburg Jaycees and the Park District will be held Oct. 28.

Before the parade begins, costume judging will take place at 10 a.m. at Campanelli Park, Weathersfield Way and Braintree Drive. First through fourth place prizes will be awarded in the following age groups: preschool, 5 and 6-year-olds, 7 and 8-year-olds, and 9 and 10-year-olds.

A pumpkin carving contest complete with prizes will be held at the same time. Those wishing to participate should bring their carved pumpkins to the park at 10 a.m.

UPON COMPLETION of the judging, the Rotary clowns will lead the children on parade. The parade will leave the park, go west on Weathersfield Way to Carver Lane, and north on Carver Lane to Jennings House, 220 S. Clive Dr.

There the children will go through the Spook House and get candy from the Witch's Cauldron.

The Jaycees anticipate having 1000 children on hand Saturday morning to participate in the activities. Last year over 750 children participated, and there was no publicity in the schools.

This year fliers announcing the activities will be distributed to all the children in the grade schools in the Schaumburg area.

Village Will File Lawsuit Against Firm

Suit will be filed by the Village of Schaumburg against Morwell Builders for violations in side, rear and front yard footage provided around five new homes constructed by the firm.

The village board voted Tuesday to grant variations for the homes, only one of which is believed to be currently occupied, according to building department officials. Occupancy permits had not been issued for the other four as of yesterday, and purchasers of at least some of the homes are believed to be waiting permission to move in.

Three of the homes are located on Ashwood Court, and two are on Cottonwood Court. They violate yard ordinances by one foot, five feet, six feet, 5 1/2 feet and 13 feet.

IN DISCUSSING THE variations, Mayor Robert O. Atcher said it had been suggested during a public hearing the building department should have caught the violations, and stopped work on the homes.

"We don't agree with that idea at all," said Atcher, saying it would be similar to blaming police for crimes committed because the police were not on the scene to stop the crimes.

Atcher also compared the Morwell violations with those earlier noted by the village in homes built by Levitt and Sons, another construction firm. In the Levitt case, the houses had the legally allowable dimensions for the lots, but by "human error" were misplaced on them. The Morwell homes are "too large to go on the lots in the first place," said the mayor. The developer "knowingly placed these homes on the lots in violation of the ordinances," he alleged.

With the Levitt homes, the board did not file suit but accepted a $600 donation for the proposed hospital in the village. In this case, said Atcher, the village, through court action, will seek the maximum penalty of $500 on four of the homes and something less on the fifth per violation.

Faces 4 Counts For Hitting Cop

A Schaumburg man was charged on four counts after he reportedly stopped his car and struck a Harper College police officer late Tuesday afternoon.

Kevin Sarnwick, the patrolman involved in the incident, reported that Vincent Cervone, 38, of 1234 Valley Lake Dr., Schaumburg, stopped his car on Algonquin Road and made some remarks to Sarnwick, who was standing at "A" Road, an access road to Harper College.

When Cervone's car began to slow traffic, Sarnwick told him several times to move the car. Cervone allegedly got out of his auto and struck the officer until Sarnwick and two Harper College students managed to subdue him, according to police reports.

Cervone was charged with aggravated battery to a police officer, resisting arrest, obstructing traffic and disobeying a police officer. His hearing is set for Nov. 9 at 1:30 p.m. in the Arlington Heights branch of the Cook County Circuit Court.

Reclamation Center Open 24 Hours

Glass bottles and containers may be deposited daily at Schaumburg municipal reclamation center on Schaumburg Road east of Springguth Road.

Located behind Weathersfield Fire Station No. 1, the center is open 24 hours daily.

Members of the village Clean Environment Committee (CEC), sponsors of the recycling center, ask that glass be prepared for deposit by rinsing and removing any metal rims. Labels need not be stripped from containers.

A three-sectioned bin provides for deposit of clear, green and brown glass.

Proceeds from glass recycling, less the cost of trucking the material to receiving centers, is channeled to CEC for community improvement and beautification.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Congress junked President Nixon's federal spending ceiling, overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill, and prepared to adjourn for a campaign battle already focused on charges of fiscal recklessness.

The Soviet Union apparently has finished testing an improved SS-11 intercontinental ballistic missile and its triple warhead and now may be ready to deploy the new weapon, the Pentagon said.

Democratic candidate George McGovern challenged President Nixon to meet him in at least two nationally televised debates and offered to pay for the network time out of his own campaign funds.

The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement which includes settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $600 million.

The World

The North Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris said secret talks held by White House adviser Henry Kissinger have failed to break the negotiating deadlock because of President Nixon's intransigence on both military and political questions. In Saigon, Kissinger arrived under heavy security for a new round of secret Vietnam talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

A second consecutive night of violence in which two civilians were killed brought about a meeting between militant Protestants and British military authorities seeking to avert a confrontation between the two groups.

The State

James Gallagher, 12-year-old son of a wealthy Barrington executive, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his 19-year-old sister, Eileen.

Orlando Wilson, former superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, died in California.

The U.S. Labor Department announced it has devised new "Chicago Plan" aimed at employing some 10,000 blacks and Spanish-speaking workers in the construction industry by September of 1976.

Jane Fonda in Chicago said she finds it difficult to convince Americans that it is not unpatriotic to be against the war in Indochina. She and other antiwar activists are making headway to make certain that the war remains the primary issue in the presidential campaign.

The War

Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam even as White House adviser Henry Kissinger flew in from Paris to discuss peace. War communiques reported Communist units launched 96 shelling and ground attacks in a 24-hour period. Fighting was reported 13 miles from Saigon.

Wants Issue Clarified

Outside Storage Raises A Furor

A request for a change in the zoning ordinance to allow outside storage of rental equipment "opened up a Pandora's Box" Tuesday at the Hoffman Estates Zoning Board of Appeals meeting.

David C. Foster, owner of the United Rent-All Store, 80 E. Golf Rd., requested a hearing to clarify the issue of outside storage. The zoning ordinance for business districts does not mention outside storage, although it has been interpreted in the past as prohibiting such storage.

THE REQUEST, according to several board members, is a Pandora's Box, because it potentially involves storage in business and manufacturing districts, and the parking of rental trucks at service stations and auto rental establishments.

Foster, who bought the franchise business last April, said he was unaware at the time that he could not store outside or park rental vans and trucks.

"I want to know what I can expect from the village in the future, and what the village expects from me," Foster said.

The business is primarily for homeowners' equipment rental, Foster said, but the renting of vans, trailers, and trucks could be a lucrative sideline.

Storage is a problem already, he said, adding he would like to store such items as ladders, wheelbarrows, and small portable cement mixers outside.

The issue of storing rental trucks outside has come up before, but has not been dealt with, Bob Valentino, zoning board chairman said.

BOARD MEMBERS agreed the renting of vans and trailers and outside storage should be clarified in an ordinance. The ordinance could possibly stipulate that it applied only to rental stores, Valentino said.

However, writing an ordinance so it will stand up legally and be enforceable will be a lengthy process, said Charles Ritz, zoning board member.

Defining "outside storage" and "a rental establishment" will be the major problem in writing the ordinance, board members said. A subcommittee was appointed to study the question and bring back suggestions to the Nov. 21 zoning meeting, based on what other villages have done.

Since writing an ordinance will take several years, Foster asked if he could get a temporary permit to park trucks and store certain items outside.

Liquor License Increase Gets Final Board Approval

Final approval was granted for one-third across-the-board hikes in liquor licenses in Schaumburg Tuesday night.

Preliminary action on the increases was taken last week, when the village board directed its attorney to prepare an ordinance amendment providing the increases. This week the board waived first reading on the amendment, and granted final passage.

The increases apply for sales of liquor, beer and wine as packaged goods for consumption on the premises, under varying class licenses, and for combinations of different class licenses.

Approval came after Mrs. Betty Enbysk, 820 Bradford, questioned justification for the increase, saying she understood liquor licenses could not be used as a revenue producing measure. She asked in what ways village expenses of issuing the licenses had increased.

VILLAGE ATTY. Jack Siegel responded that liquor licenses are among the few areas in which municipalities may charge fees for revenue. Whether or not a board does so is a matter of policy, he said.

Mrs. Enbysk also questioned action by the board last week in accepting donation of a voluntary fine from Levitt and Sons, a construction firm, made out to the Schaumburg facility for Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center. "Do not fines normally go directly to the general fund?" asked Mrs. Enbysk. She said she was asking merely for information, and was "questioning what we might find in the next violation."

Mayor Robert O. Atcher responded the village saw the violations for which Levitt paid the fine donation, as "human error," and the village "didn't feel it was worthy of court action."

At the same time, said Atcher, the developer might "remember to be more careful next time" if he had made a contribution to benefit the people of Schaumburg for the current violations.

Siegel also noted that prosecution for violations is not a board decision, but is a matter for the concern of the police department and the village president. They must decide if sufficient violation exists to warrant filing legal action seeking a fine, he said.

The handling of the Levitt case was "not by any means an unusual procedure, really not an extraordinary procedure," Siegel said. He also pointed out a court might not award a fine if suit were filed.

See Action On Park Tax Claims

Some effort toward resolving a number of delinquent tax claims against property owned by the Hoffman Estates Park District should come next month, according to park district lawyers.

The tax claims, some pending since 1960 and 1961, will be heard in the Cook County Circuit Court on Nov. 15.

Park Commissioner Fred Weaver said Tuesday that the claims are against several pieces of property, including Pinger, Cottonwood and Vogelei Parks, which were part of the district when it was incorporated.

He said park and village officials at the time the land was donated to the district failed to file for tax exempt status on the property immediately and subsequently, delinquent taxes and penalties began to accumulate.

In a letter from park district attorney Don Rose, the board was advised to pay claims amounting to more than $7,000 to settle some of the delinquent claims. WEAVER SAID that he did not feel the figure represented an accurate amount on the total taxes owed.

"In previous discussions, the amount has been considerably less," Weaver said. He added that part of the problem might stem from an accurate division on the taxes owed on the Vogelei Park property.

Board president Tom Barber instructed park district director Al Binder to investigate the matter further before any action is taken on the claim payment recommendation.

Park officials and possibly several village officials will be asked to testify at the tax injunction proceedings to the fact that the property was within the Hoffman Estates Park District. Park officials said this may help to defray a portion of the delinquent tax claims.

Grossly Misrepresented, Says Atcher

Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher Tuesday contended he was "grossly misrepresented" in recent stories and editorials in The Herald dealing with storm water retention at Woodfield Mall.

"It was never suggested there be a dam at the edge of that ditch," said Atcher, in response to accusations he said a choke dam was constructed in a drainage ditch leading from the mall to Salt Creek.

"I never said there was a dam either," said the mayor. He said he had pointed out an area of water retention to a Herald reporter, but never claimed a dam was installed.

"Everything I said (concerning the retention) was an absolute fact. I said nothing that was not true," said Atcher. "I again was grossly misrepresented," he said.

Atcher also commented on statements attributed to Richard Lanyon and Ayoub Y. Talhami, supervising engineers with the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago (MSD) at a meeting Friday night with the Timbercrest Homeowners Association.

Atcher said he had called Talhami and questioned him about the comments quoted in Monday's edition of The Herald.

Talhami also said he was "grossly misrepresented," said Atcher, and denied ever saying that Timbercrest subdivision or part of it was built on a flood plain. "It's not true," said Atcher. On a portion of the Dirksen School site there was a spot where drainage was above ground, and to permit development two to three feet of fill was spread and a 42-inch storm sewer was installed, Atcher said. Talhami, contacted yesterday, was reluctant to use adjectives about the situation, and only said three feet of fill was used to build up land around the sewer.

Regarding the Woodfield dam question, Atcher said Talhami told him Lanyon said only that the mall's construction violated no laws and that regulations on site water detention was not in effect until this year, after Woodfield was constructed.

Soda Pop Drinkers

Nixon Leads In Theaters' 'Straw' Poll

Richard Nixon is the presidential choice of over 70 per cent of soda pop drinkers — at least at those attending the Randhurst Cinema and the Mount Prospect Cinema.

These Mount Prospect movie houses, along with almost 400 others in the nation-wide General Cinema Corp. chain, are conducting a "Straw '72 Presidential Preference Poll."

The poll structure is simple. You buy a drink at the candy counter and then indicate your choice of whether you would like a Nixon or a George McGovern straw with your drink. They even have a neutral straw for the uncommitted.

WHEN YOU MIX politics and movies like this, you come up with a lot of Nixon supporters (not California gubernatorial candidates as one might expect). Maybe the fact that Nixon likes John Wayne movies is getting the wide-screen addicts' votes.

At the Randhurst Cinema, Nixon leads McGovern 76.7 per cent to 24.3 per cent, according to theater manager Ray Helon. John Misavice, manager at Mount Prospect Cinema, reports percentages of 70 per cent for Nixon and 30 per cent for McGovern.

Nation-wide, the poll, about a month old, shows Nixon with a slim 54.3 per cent to 45.7 per cent lead over McGovern, according to Helon at Randhurst.

A similar poll was conducted in 1968 when Nixon won over Hubert Humphrey by a 20 per cent margin.

LINDA MURRANS

Palatine Girl Homecoming Queen At WIU

A Palatine resident reigned as homecoming queen last weekend at Western Illinois University at Macomb.

Linda Murrans, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Murrans, 939 Ventura Dr., is a junior at WIU majoring in speech pathology.

A 1970 graduate of Palatine High School, she transferred to Western from Auburn University, Auburn, Ala.

At WIU, Miss Murrans has been awarded a communication arts and sciences departmental scholarship and is on the dean's list. She also is a resident assistant.

Miss Murrans plans to work for a master's degree while practicing speech therapy in public schools.

Band To Visit Mt. Rushmore

The Palatine High School Symphonic Band is planning a Fourth of July trip to Mount Rushmore National Monument next year.

The 65-member band and director Tom Trimbora discussed plans for the trip at a meeting last week. The group plans to fly to Rapid City, S. D. and will present a concert the evening of July 4 during the ceremony lighting the monument.

Trimbora said he got the idea for the trip during his vacation last year when he visited Mount Rushmore. Each night, he explained, a ceremony precedes the turning on of the lights on the monument.

In addition to the concert, the band will take a bus trip through the Badlands and return to Chicago July 5.

Students will have to pay their own air fare to Rapid City, Trimbora said, and some seats on the Boeing 737 jet will be available for parents.

Urge OK Of 2 Variations For Garages

Two variations to allow the construction of garages were recommended for approval Tuesday by the Hoffman Estates Zoning Board of Appeals.

The board recommended approval of a 10-foot front yard variation to allow Lindy Clark, 365 Princeton St., to convert a one-car enclosed carport to a two-car garage.

Clark's home sits diagonally on the lot, facing Princeton Street and Perry Lane. Bob Valentino, zoning board chairman, said a front yard variation is not ordinarily granted, but the unusual angle is a mitigating circumstance in this case.

A variation of the requirement that there be at least 15 feet between any two structures was recommended for William Beisiegel, 115 Batavia Ln.

BEISEGEL WANTS to construct a two-car garage nine feet behind his house. He intends to install a new driveway entering from Bradley Lane and later remove the existing driveway. The existing attached garage eventually will be converted to a room.

In other business a representative of the firm marketing duplexes on Berkeley Lane, between Evanston Street and Grand Canyon Parkway, asked for advice on the placing of advertising signs.

The duplexes are isolated on a small street, and the firm wants to erect small advertising signs to attract potential buyers driving along major streets.

Signs are not permitted on any public rights of way, Valentino said. The state does not allow them on their roads, and the proposed village sign ordinance also prohibits them, Valentino said.

The firm has placed such advertising signs on public rights of way and the police have removed them. Valentino said the police are now removing these signs.

THE FIRM'S ONLY recourse is to request a zoning board hearing for a variation allowing the placing of temporary signs on private property. The property owner would also have to agree to this.

Alternatively, Valentino said, the village board could grant permission for a temporary sign without a hearing.

The zoning ordinance in residential districts allows one sign on a lot advertising the sale or lease of the home on that lot. Advertising the sale of other property not on the lot is prohibited.

The next meeting of the zoning board will be Nov. 1 instead of Nov. 7 because of election day, Valentino announced.

Nixon-McGovern TV Debate?—No Way

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Picture this: With millions watching on television, George McGovern points at President Nixon and challenges him to explain what part the White House played in the Watergate bugging.

Democrats dream of such a face-to-face encounter, but there is no chance of it happening in these final three weeks of the presidential campaign.

The President, like all previous White House incumbents, wants no repeat of the so-called "great debates" of 1960 — when he faced John F. Kennedy.

But congressional Democrats who wanted debates curiously bungled a chance to pass a bill to pave the way for televised confrontations. If Nixon vetoed the measure, as was predicted, the Democrats could have claimed an issue of sorts.

The bill won Senate approval but became stalled in the House Commerce Committee, and there is no chance that Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., will allow it to be sent to the House floor in the last hours of this session.

SOME DEMOCRATS privately suggested that refusal by the House leadership to back Staggers in a 1971 fight with CBS President Frank Stanton may have caused Staggers to keep the bill bottled up.

Speaker Carl Albert supported the bill to allow broadcasters to make free time available to major party candidates for president and vice president without making equal time available to minor candidates.

Albert's position didn't budge Staggers but he maintained that failure to report the bill had "nothing in the world to do" with his unsuccessful effort to elicit Stanton for contempt of Congress last year.

"We just never had time to get to it," said Staggers of the measure passed by the Senate last March.

However, sources in the House say Staggers has not forgiven the Democratic leadership for opposing his efforts to elicit Stanton for contempt after he refused to turn over outtakes from the CBS television documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon."

Staggers discounts this. He says that the committee's schedule was clogged with important business. "I look at realities," he said. "I don't think the President would have debated on television."

NEITHER DO many Republicans. Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, says the bill was not in keeping with Nixon's request for repeal of equal time for all federal candidates — including House and Senate — not just the President.

Thus, Brown and others had expected a presidential veto if the bill had passed.

And Brown adds that he is frankly puzzled by the Democrats not attempting to pass the bill.

Under present law, if a broadcaster permits a candidate of one party to make an appearance, he is obligated to make equal time available to all other candidates for the same office.

The proposed revision could have meant a bonanza for the financially hard-pressed McGovern campaign. It permitted major party candidates "maximum flexibility" to choose the format for their free time which Senate sponsors insisted would not force a candidate into debate.

Candles To Adorn Special Canadian Stamps

The Canada Post Office has chosen candles to adorn its special stamps for Christmas this year — the ninth consecutive year it has released special Yuletide adhesives.

Four denominations using three separate designs will be issued Nov. 1 at Ottawa. Vertical stamps in 6 cents and 8 cents variety show four different size glowing candles. Two other issues are on the horizontal — the 10 cents depicting candles amid fruits and bowls and the 15 cents stamp showing a 18th Century French prayer book, a brass vase and two boxes.

The designs for the four stamps were created from photographs by Ralph Webber of Toronto who has imparted the season's spirit of peace and goodwill through one of the oldest and most universal symbols associated with Christmas, burning candles.

The candle predates Christianity by several thousand years. In pre-Christian days candles and evergreens were used to decorate homes during midwinter festivals celebrating the rebirth of the sun. Through the coincidence of the winter solstice festival and the feast of the Nativity the symbolism of the evergreen as survival and the candle as life endured in the traditions of Christmas.

THE CHRISTMAS stamps are being printed separately in four-color lithography by Aston-Potter Ltd. Toronto.

Marginal inscriptions including the photographer's name appear on the four corners of each pane of 100 6 cents and 8 cents stamps and each pane of 50 10 cents and 15 cents stamps.

Quantities of all four denominations are being "tagged" and will be available in the Ottawa and Winnipeg tagged versions. There are no marginal inscriptions on corner blocks of the tagged stamps.

When ordering mint stamps, the minimum purchase for inscription corner and tagged versions is 10 stamps for the 6 cents and 8 cent denominations and four stamps for the 10c and 15c denominations. Collectors may order mint stamps through the Philatelic Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, K1A 0B8.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations should send their requests to First Day Cover Service, Canada Post Office, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada K1A 0B8, enclosing the proper remittance, which is the cost of the stamps to be affixed, plus a five-cent service charge for each cover.

THE WORD WE GET relative to the delay in receiving the 2c Cape Hatteras stamps from the Philatelic Sales Unit comes from its superintendent, Robert D. Schurr. "The workload at this office has nearly tripled this fiscal year and a backlog of from six to eight weeks has developed. This applies to all orders received in this office and is not confined to orders for the 2c Cape Hatteras stamp." This by mail (who can cope with all those operators?) and we thank Schurr for this information. We all promise to be extra patient until he and his staff catch up. (Since the Postal Service was inaugurated at the beginning of July, 1971, it looks like its attention to stamp collectors may be paying off...).

Minor electrical repairs can be handled by most homeowners. More caution than skill is required in such jobs. This is the chief difference between repairs on an electrical system and other repairs. Touching a live wire is the constant danger, a danger that can be eliminated easily.

Just make certain there are no live wires. Either pull the main switch, or pull the fuse for the circuit you are working on. The important thing here is that you remove the right fuse.

With the power off you can handle such things as switch or outlet replacement or installation of new fixtures.

You may want to change old noisy switches for silent ones or replace a standard switch with a dimmer. These jobs are simply a matter of connecting the old wires to the terminals of the new switch or outlet.

IT'S JUST IMPORTANT that these wires not be live. Get yourself a neon tester — two wires with metal probes, the wires connected to a tiny neon light. Put the probes in an outlet or in contact with wires and if the neon glows the current is on. Try out your tester ahead of time so you know what it looks like when it is glowing.

Lacking a tester, you can plug in a lamp or a night light in the outlet to see if it is working.

Pulling the main switch is a good idea if you are not sure which fuse to pull. The trouble with this is that it turns off everything in the house, including the refrigerator.

You can make electrical repairs even simpler by identifying each fuse with its circuit and then placing a list on the fuse box door.

Turning on all the lights and then removing the fuses one at a time will tell you which fuse is for which part of the house.

WHATEVER THE repair, don't leave any exposed wires. Don't leave wires bare so they can rub against something or against each other. Use electrical tape. Tighten terminal screws. Be neat and thorough.

There are nonconducting grips you can put on pliers and screwdrivers to make the tools insulated. Don't put your faith in them and chance touching live wires with the tools. The professional knows what he's doing when he does this. You probably don't.

Never work on a damp floor when working on anything electrical.

Don't do electrical work where it or you may come in contact with plumbing. These are things that turn you into a ground, a path for electrical current through your body — phibit!

Collecting Coins

The following letter from V. G. Johnson, financial secretary to Cayman Islands, British West Indies, introduces one of the most unusual and beautifully designed coins ever placed in general circulation. It is an innovative concept as well as being revolutionary in the treatment of a profile device.

"Dear Friend: The marriage of a Royal Princess is an event that never fails to capture the romantic imagination of the entire world. Just such an event occurred at Westminster Abbey in 1947 when Princess Elizabeth, daughter of King George VI, and heir apparent to the throne of England, was married to Philip Mountbatten, the Duke of Edinburgh. Today, 25 years later, Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are about to celebrate their Silver Wedding Anniversary. And the Cayman Islands, by issuing a special commemorative coin to honor the Royal couple, are now making it possible for people all over the world to join in the celebration.

"AS IS APPROPRIATE for a 25th Wedding Anniversary, this new coin is made of sterling silver and has a face value of 25 dollars (equivalent to $32.75 in U.S. funds). This makes it the highest denomination silver coin ever issued by any country. But the coin has still another distinction: It bears a portrait of Prince Philip in addition to that of the Queen. This may not seem too unusual until you realize that there have been 83 different British reigns spanning more than 1,100 years, and yet this 25-dollar Cayman Islands coin is the first coin in all that time to portray a member of a British Royal Family other than the ruling sovereign.

"The Cayman Islands would like everyone to be able to enjoy this beautiful and historically significant coin. For that reason, they are making uncirculated specimens available at face value ($32.75 U.S. funds) rather than at the high premium commemorative coins usually command. Brilliant proof specimens are also available for $39.00. Proofs are available in limited edition only and orders will be accepted until Dec. 31, 1972. However, uncirculated specimens will be available at face value throughout the anniversary year, or until Oct. 1973.

"FOR YOUR convenience, the Cayman Islands government has arranged for the numismatic agents, Paramount International Coin Corporation of Englewood, Ohio, to accept and process orders or inquiries from readers of the many newspapers carrying your column. This will eliminate the extra cost and delay that often results from overseas shipments."

Sincerely,
V. G. Johnson
Financial Secretary
Cayman Islands, B.W.I.

At this writing the coins were not being struck, but I have had an opportunity to see photographs of the finished piece and the special display holder they will be shipped in. At the risk of being repetitious, the beauty of this coin in addition to the exceptional value can only set an exciting precedent in coin collecting.

It measures 45mm and weighs 800 Grains with a fineness of .925 Sterling.

The anniversary coin is being produced by the Royal Canadian Mint in Ottawa. Distribution from Ohio makes it mandatory that Ohio residents add 4½ per cent sales tax in addition to the $1.00 handling charge.

Direct all inquiries regarding this particular piece to Mr. David W. Akers, Director of Sales, Paramount International Coin Corporation, Englewood, Ohio 45322.

COOPERATIVE BLOOD REPLACEMENT PLAN 477-7800

Assessor Blasts Critics

by ROGER CAPELLINI

Cook County Assessor P.J. Cullerton has snapped back at his critics, accusing the news media of "juggling statistics," and the governor's office of playing politics.

Cullerton said reports that he has instructed his staff to assess property at 25 per cent of market value, instead of the announced 20 to 22 per cent, were "irresponsible."

He also denied allegations contained in a 900-page report from the governor's Department of Local Government Affairs that the assessing practices of the office are "secretive and discriminatory."

Two Chicago newspapers charged Tuesday that Cullerton had ordered his staff to assess single-family homes in the north quadrant — including Wheeling and Palatine townships — at 25 per cent of market value instead of the announced 20 to 22 per cent. The newspapers said that would result in a 19 per cent increase in assessments.

Cullerton Denies Assessment Hike

by ROGER CAPELLINI
A News Analysis

The charges made by two Chicago newspapers Tuesday that County Assessor P. J. Cullerton has ordered a 19 per cent increase on reassessments of homes in the north quadrant of the county appear to be unfounded.

The charges, which Cullerton has denied emphatically, stem from the quadrennial reassessment of property in seven suburban townships and three in Chicago.

This year, Cullerton's office has instituted a new system of assessing, and it is only by coincidence the new system has been first applied to the north quadrant.

Basically, the new system is based on fair market value of the property and replaces the old "bricks and mortar" technique which considered only reproductive cost.

Under the new system, the assessor's office determines the market value of the property and then takes a certain percentage of that value as the assessed value.

The assessor's office announced, when it instituted the new system, that the assessment for single-family homes would equal 20 to 22 per cent of the market value.

The newspapers have charged, however, that Cullerton has instructed his staff to base the assessment on 25 per cent of the market value — a markup that would increase the assessment by 19 per cent.

Marshall Theroux, Wheeling Township assessor, said yesterday he has been compiling a study of the new assessments in the township in an effort to determine the results of the quadrennial assessment.

Theroux said the allegations made against Cullerton's office appear to be premature. Theroux said, "We don't have enough public information yet to compare the 1972 assessments with the actual sales figure of homes in the area."

The township assessor added, however, that based on a preliminary examination of the figures he has compiled to date, "it appears there has not been a substantial change in assessed values."

Theroux explained that while the old assessing system was not actually based on market value, a relationship has always existed between assessed value and market value.

That "unofficial" relationship, Theroux said, was that the assessment on single-family homes equalled about 20 per cent of market value. He said with the figures available to date, it appears the same relationship exists.

Additionally, an examination of the total assessed valuations for the township appear to contradict the alleged 19 per cent increase.

The total assessed valuation for Wheeling Township last year was roughly $281,650,000. As a result of the recent assessment, the total assessed valuation for 1972, subject to change, is approximately $332,508,000, an increase of about $50,858,000, or about 18 per cent.

That would seem to support the charges of a 19 per cent increase, except that there are other reasons for an increase in assessed value.

Initially, new construction in the township of about $30 million, can account for 60 per cent of the increase from last year.

A substantial portion of the remaining 40 per cent of the increase can be attributed to the higher assessments for vacant land, commercial and industrial properties and the adjustments made to older homes.

In other words, the 18 per cent increase in total assessed valuation can be attributed to new construction and assessing adjustments — and that the 20 to 22 per cent figure for single-family homes remains accurate.

Cullerton's office, however, does not come out of the controversy blameless.

The difficulty in determining the relationship between market value and assessed value exists because Cullerton's office refuses to disclose to anyone the method used for determining market value.

Without that information, any attempt to pinpoint the relationship of market value to assessment is pure speculation. Also, without that information, the taxpayer has no way to determine if he is being assessed — and therefore taxed — properly.

Cullerton said he "categorically denies" the allegation, and assured homeowners affected by the quadrennial assessment they "will not generally feel an increase in either assessed valuation or taxes because of the actions of my office."

CULLERTON SAID a new system of assessing property has been instituted — a system which employs the market value of the property as the basis for assessing rather than the old method of determining what it would cost to reproduce improvements on the property. He said, "This does not mean an automatic increase in your assessment. It does mean more equitable treatment for all taxpayers, both homeowners and owners of commercial and industrial properties."

Generally, the new assessment system has resulted in higher assessments for vacant land, older homes and commercial and industrial properties. The assessments on newer homes generally have been reduced through the new system.

Cullerton said the system means, "I will continue to assess homes at a rate which is approximately half the rate applied to commercial and industrial properties."

He said, "It is time that irresponsible members of the press stop their juggling of statistics which only mislead the public."

THOMAS M. TULLY, chief deputy assessor, said the home classification percentage for homes in the north quadrant used in the recently completed quadrennial assessment remains at 21 to 23 per cent of market value. He said home assessments for suburban areas have either remained the same or gone down.

"In general, the big increases in assessments in the north quadrant are taking place in industrial properties," Tully said, "particularly in the newer properties. Assessments for some shopping centers are being increased."

The assessor also responded to Gov. Richard Ogilvie, who said Tuesday he will order a complete reassessment of property in Cook County if the assessor does not make "drastic changes" in his operations next year.

The governor's threat was made in conjunction with the 900-page report which charged, "The entire method of operation of the assessor's office is to avoid complaints from taxpayers."

Richard Kissel, who compiled the report after an investigation initiated by Ogilvie last April, said a taxpayer now is, "completely in the dark as to how his property assessment is made, and therefore, is at the mercy of the assessor."

Cullerton said, "The only truly accurate statement in the report is the candid admission that it was prepared by a group of law students who know nothing about professional appraising. This fact is painfully apparent from a reading of the report."

The assessor also charged, "The so-called unbiased law students who prepared the report were summer patronage employees of the governor."

With A Rubens Problem

Here is another Jeff Rubens problem. You find yourself in an inferior six-diamond contract. Inferior because six no-trump depends on picking up the queen of hearts. At six diamonds you also must worry about a potential diamond loser.

Rubens' explanation of how you reached six diamonds instead of either three or six no-trump is that your partner misbid. That is as good an explanation as any so we accept it.

The Rubens' problem is: How do you plan the play?

The answer is that you win the club lead in dummy and lead a trump toward your hand.

Why do you do this?

Your only worry is that the trumps may break 4-1. If they do and West has four to the jack-nine, you will have to lose a trump trick. If East has four to the jack-nine, you can find out about it with two trump leads and finesse against East.

If you win the club in your hand and lay down the ace, a smart East may drop the nine to give you the option of playing the king next on the theory that West started with jack 5-4-2.

If you lead the first diamond from dummy, East is much less likely to make that nine-spot play. If he does you pay off to him.

George Gobel's Vacation Wasn't Very Peaceful

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — George Gobel decided to take the year off and relax, play a little golf and laze around his pool, but in 10 months he has had less than two weeks to call his own.

The crew-cut comedian doesn't appear often on television. He hasn't made a movie in almost a decade. Nor is he recording hit records.

But night club managers love him. So do audiences from Las Vegas to Florida. Gobel is an agreeable man who finds it difficult to say no to supper club operators.

As a result he continues to make a fortune against his will.

"My trouble is I agree to play two or three weeks in a club," Gobel said, "and I wind up playing five or six weeks. Maybe that's a good kind of trouble to have. But it's still work."

LONESOME GEORGE is that rare comedian with a clean night club act.

A family-style comic has become a rare as G-rated movies.

"Maybe it was my upbringing at home or the Midwestern background of Chicago," he said, "but I just don't think a man ought to stand up on a stage and tell dirty jokes in mixed company. Or even unmix company."

"Now I'm not putting down the guy who do. But it's not for me."

"I'd feel kinda funny if I was using them four-letter words and looked down and saw some young kids sitting with their parents. Or maybe without their parents."

George interrupted himself to sing a few bars from "The Rose of No-Man-Land." His reedy voice struggled for the high notes.

"YOU DON'T HEAR that song much anymore," he observed. "Come to think of it, you never did hear that number unless you were serving in World War I, which I never did because I was too young. Come to think of it, I wasn't born at the time."

Gobel need never sing for his supper again. It isn't necessary for him to tell jokes either.

4th District Senate Candidates

John Nimrod

John Nimrod:

State Has Responsibility For Supporting At Least 51 Per Cent Of Education

by FRED GACA

John Nimrod is a product of township government, but he is not sure the township is still a needed agency.

Nimrod, Republican candidate for state senator from the 4th District, has been a Niles Township auditor and is now Niles Township supervisor. He has been president of the supervisors division and a director of the Township Officials of Illinois.

"The question of any government is," said Nimrod, "is it the most economical one to provide service. Maybe the township is not needed. Maybe another kind of government is needed."

As a senator, Nimrod said he would work for legislation to delineate the duties of the different levels of government in providing services to the people.

BECAUSE PROBLEMS such as mass transit and flood control are pushing government units together, Nimrod considers "regional government inevitable." He would, however, advocate that local governments have a representation in any regional government and would not be forced to abide by any decision they did have a voice in.

Nimrod got a late start as a candidate. In the March primaries, the incumbent from the 4th District, John Carroll, was nominated to run again. Citing poor health, Carroll later resigned. The Republican committee then selected Nimrod to run.

Nimrod has been endorsed by Carroll; John Graham, 3rd District senator; and Arthur Simmons, 4th District representative.

Despite his late start, "Everyone knows I'm in the race," said Nimrod.

HIS DEMOCRATIC opponent, Thomas Flynn, has called Nimrod a political boss and patronage worker for the Republican party in Cook County. He has also charged that Nimrod was not working at his job at the Illinois Industrial Commission and "has defied the Internal Revenue Service."

Nimrod has denied every one of Flynn's charges, calling Flynn "an irresponsible candidate" for the "frustrated, frantic and false manner in which this individual conducts his campaign."

Nimrod, in turn, has charged that Flynn is not the "active member of the Niles Bar Association," "professional urban planner" and "college professor" he (Flynn) claims to be.

According to a mailing Flynn sent out, Nimrod has been the "subject of a Better Government Association investigation."

NIMROD HAS A LETTER from J. Terrence Brunner, executive director of BGA, which states that Nimrod has never been the subject of an investigation and no employee of BGA could be found who made such a statement to Flynn.

The letter states that Brunner requested, by phone, that Flynn retract his statements.

Nimrod said Flynn did retract the statement in a news release, but continued to make the charge in a mailing sent out to residents of the 4th District.

Nimrod has refused to debate with Flynn because "I am happy to face the press or any fair process but there is no way I am going to give him a platform for him to holler out at me and I have to defend myself."

NIMROD IS NOW assistant to the chairman of the Illinois Industrial Commission and a project director for a state plan to implement the Federal Occupational Health and Safety Act.

As a result of the commission's work, Nimrod said, "Illinois is leading in the federal safety plan. It is now 90 per cent operational."

In addition to being township supervisor, Nimrod is also the elected Republican committeeman for Niles Township. He said if he is elected he would resign the supervisor position immediately, but would not resign from the committeeman's position.

Nimrod has already formed a citizens senatorial advisory committee. The committee has been active during the campaign and will continue to work as an advisory body to Nimrod if he is elected.

THE COMMITTEE is designed to provide a broad, bi-partisan representation from throughout the 4th District.

Nimrod's views on various subjects are:

—The state has the responsibility for supporting at least 51 per cent of the cost of education. The state school board should not, however, become a "czar" in telling what type of education will be available throughout the state.

—He would support a form of parochialism that gave tax credit or money to parents who want to send their children to parochial schools, provided such a system was constitutional.

—A SYSTEM OF aid should also be available to families which have children in college.

—State funds should not sit idle in earmarked funds if such funds are no longer required for the purpose originally intended.

—Control of O'Hare Airport and all other major airports should be the responsibility of the state.

—He supports the tax relief proposals of Gov. Richard Ogilvie.

—The state should supply support and assistance to local agencies in planning for flood control, specifically the deep-tunnel drainage system being proposed by the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Herald Election Preview

Candidates for the Illinois Senate in the 4th Legislative District are interviewed in today's edition of the Herald's election preview.

Republican John Nimrod and Democrat Thomas W. Flynn are both seeking their first terms in the Senate, though Nimrod is a former member of the Illinois House of Representatives. Both are residents of Niles.

The new 4th Legislative District includes the Southeast portion of Wheeling Township formerly in the 3rd District, most of Maine Township and most of Niles Township.

Both senatorial candidates appeared before the Herald's panel of reporters and editors for these interviews.

Thomas Flynn:

Promises To Work With Municipalities To Help Get Grant Information

by ALAN AKERSON

"A question of decency vs. corruption" is the way Democrat Thomas Flynn likes to characterize his campaign against John Nimrod for the 4th District state senate seat.

Flynn is running long and hard to win. He has vowed to take a leave of absence from his Cook County Department of Planning and Development post and campaign 16 hours a day. And he's certain he's going to beat Nimrod: "It's not a question of me beating him. Even the Republicans reject this man."

Among other things, Flynn has charged that Nimrod ordered a county building department employee to break into the files of George Dunne, then a county commissioner. Flynn also claims that Nimrod is a longtime Republican patronage boss.

Nimrod became the Republican nominee after John Carroll, the incumbent, announced he would not seek reelection. The announcement came after the primary last March.

Flynn is quick to point out that Nimrod did not have to go through a primary race to get on the ballot: "He is not running because the people nominated him."

"I said three weeks before (Nimrod replaced Carroll) that Nimrod would go on the ticket and that Carroll would be eased out. (Gov.) Ogilvie wanted him (Nimrod) on the ticket."

A resident of Niles for the last 10 years, the 34-year-old Flynn is currently a law student and expects to get his law degree in January. He is currently the assistant commissioner of consumer fraud in Niles.

If elected, he promises to work closely with municipalities in his district to help them get more information about what grants, information and services are available to them from state and federal sources. He contends that villages miss out on a great deal of state and federal grant money simply because they either don't know it's available or don't know how to apply for it.

THE PROBLEM of flooding, Flynn feels, is one that could have been solved by now if work on the Upper Salt Creek Watershed Plan had begun sooner. He is critical of Gov. Ogilvie saying Ogilvie could have started the work two to four years ago.

As for the rest of the flooding problems, they could be solved with the development of a comprehensive land use plan — something that could easily be put together from existing Northeast Illinois Planning Commission plans, according to Flynn.

The way to solve flooding problems, says Flynn, is to persuade villages to abide by the comprehensive plan by offering them financial incentives in return for their cooperation.

He is wary of area-wide building moratoriums, pointing out that a halt in construction means persons will be forced out of their jobs.

ON THE SUBJECT of low and moderate-income housing, Flynn said it should be available for suburban residents who need it. He supports efforts now under way in which suburban municipal officials will be asked to help draft a voluntary plan for low and moderate-income housing in their areas. "Voluntary action is the best approach. Local people, mayors, are involved." He feels the community, by referendum, should have the final say on the housing issue.

Concerning welfare and taxes, Flynn maintains there is a good deal of housekeeping needed at the state level. He has promised to work for a federal takeover of welfare if he is elected. He contends the responsibility for welfare payments became the federal government's when the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the residency requirements for welfare recipients. As a result, he said, states like Illinois attract more than their share of welfare cases because payments here are bigger than in some other states.

Tax reform for Flynn means the abolition of the personal property tax in Illinois. The loss in revenue, hopefully would be matched by lower expenses if Illinois could rid itself of the welfare program.

While he wants Illinois to get out of the welfare business, he wants the state to get more involved in the education business. "The state has the primary responsibility for education. If the state does this properly, then we will have equalized education opportunities."

Flynn also wants Illinois to set up job training centers throughout the state to train or retrain welfare recipients and thus help them get off the welfare rolls. He feels labor and management using state funds could operate the centers on a cooperative basis.

Flynn bills himself as "a new kind of Democrat, the suburban Democrat." He says of himself, I'm not an organization. Dick Daley Democrat."

The Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am writing to ask for some clarification about nitroglycerin pills. You said in one of your columns that they are quite all right for the treatment of recurring angina but harmful for persons who had chest pains. What is the difference between angina which my doctor told me I have, and chest pains. How can one tell when he is having an attack of angina without the pain? I was told by my doctor that it would not harm me to take nitroglycerin in anticipation of pain unless I overdo it.

You also said that the reason nitroglycerin didn't harm some people is because they weren't fresh by the time they are taken. How long will they keep and what is the best container to keep them in? I carry mine in a plastic box in my pocket, which I refill from time to time from pills contained in a small glass bottle of 100 pills as they come from the drug store. I have this refilled every three or four months.

Dear Reader — Because the use of nitroglycerin tablets is widespread, it is important that people really understand their use, benefits and dangers. Angina pectoris is the constricting or squeezing discomfort or pain in the chest associated with heart disease. Angina lasts less than 10 minutes. Longer episodes may be a heart attack.

Individuals who have "established angina" with regular recurring chest discomfort of short duration and who receive relief from this discomfort by nitroglycerin are taking the right medicine. The individual who has not had any angina or chest pain for a period of several months and has not been taking nitroglycerin tablets, because he didn't need them, and then suddenly develops chest pains should call his doctor first.

The onset of chest discomfort that resembles angina in a person who hasn't had angina for a month or years, often means a heart attack and the treatment is different. These individuals are well advised not to take anything except under their doctor's recommendation, and he will usually want to see them right away. Nitroglycerin tablets taken at the onset of a heart attack (I'm not talking about angina) can sometimes lower the blood pressure and cause shock, thereby complicating the heart attack and may be very dangerous. You can take nitroglycerin tablets to prevent angina as your doctor has recommended.

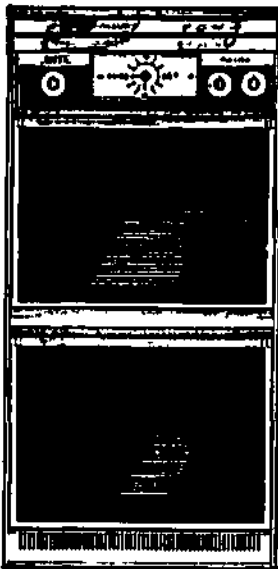

Nitroglycerin tablets will not stay fresh unless they are kept in a special container. The small glass bottle with the 100 pills that you get from the drug store is carefully sealed to keep the pills fresh. Once the seal is broken and the tablets are exposed to the air they will gradually deteriorate. The rate of deterioration varies but you should not keep pills longer than six months after the seal on the bottle is broken. Most of them, if kept in their original bottle even though the seal is broken, should be good for a period of three to six months.

FDA Controls Need Toughening

Who ever would have thought there was something wrong with hexachlorophene?

A household word and a household staple, it was the magic ingredient that for years helped us be a cleaner, healthier, more cosmetic and appealing people.

Thousands of moms used it on their babies, mostly in the form of powders and the liquid soap Phiso-hex. Thousands of dads scrubbed with it, mostly as part of the immensely popular Dial soap. Hospitals throughout the country have found it the most effective substance yet in treating staphylococcus infections.

And all of us, through massive media advertising campaigns, have been conditioned to accept it almost as part of our way of life.

And now, by order of the Food and Drug Administration, it is being virtually eliminated from all the wondrous uses to which we have put it. Wonder ingredient to disgrace in one fell swoop.

The reason cited by the FDA: Danger lurks in hexachlorophene.

By order of the FDA:

- Infant powders with more than three-fourths of one per cent hexachlorophene must be recalled. They're of particular concern because they don't wash off and are usually covered by diapers.
- Other products with more than three-fourths of a per cent must be recalled, except those in drug stores where they can be sold on a prescription basis.
- Those with less than three-fourths of a per cent hexachlorophene and still on hand can be used, but further production must be stopped immediately.

Pushing the FDA to its decision was a report from France that at least 21 babies died from inflammation of the brain after having been dusted with a powder containing 6 per cent hexachlorophene, a result of manufacturing error that put in twice as much of the substance as intended.

It was part of a pattern of evidence that the antibacterial product can cause serious — and fatal — central nervous system damage. Cases reported in the United States included deaths of severely burned patients washed with a liquid hexachlorophene product, and 204 babies who died shortly after birth with evidence of a "definite correlation" between exposures to hexachlorophene and lesions in the brain system.

The FDA stressed that there has been no reason to believe that products like Dial have played a role in any disabilities or deaths, but acted out of an interest in caution for the greater good.

This case — and cases like it — bring to mind one urgent question: If there is peril in a product like hexachlorophene, how did it ever get into the marketplace, in wide distribution and with a promotional campaign to condition our wide acceptance of it?

In short, where was the FDA years ago? Where were the controls by the manufacturers and distributors?

We are reminded again, in our mass distribution society, of the critical need for diligence — for all possible safeguards to be taken — in the manufacture and approval for sale of a product used by millions of unsuspecting buyers.

If hexachlorophene indeed is potentially perilous, it never should have been released for massive over-the-counter sale in the first place.

The hexachlorophene case underlines again the need for the FDA to put more money and manpower into tougher supervision over what's loosed on the market, and for the drug and cosmetic industry to more rigidly test its products to eliminate risks to the buying public.

The evidence here says in this case the public's trust and safety was not adequately protected.

McGovern's 'Bag'

A group called Americans in Paris for McGovern is harnessing tourist power on behalf of the Democratic candidate for president.

The organization, composed of Americans living in France, hopes to enroll as roving emissaries for George McGovern many of the one million Americans who will visit France this year.

The heart of the drive, a variation of the traditional bumper sticker campaign, is the distribution at such popular tourist meccas as Orly Airport and the Eiffel Tower of luggage stickers and lapel buttons bearing slogans proclaiming, "J'aime McGovern,"

"Vivre McGovern" and "McGovern Is My Bag."

"The tourist is the most visible and mobile American citizen to be found," says Eugenia Wilds, a co-chairman of the group. "Very few tourists bring autos with them, but they all carry suitcases, briefcases and flight bags. And George McGovern will be riding right along with the voter."

It's a clever idea, and a good thing that Senator McGovern is a man. Imagine the howls from the women's libbers if a lady candidate for president, which no doubt there will someday be, were to be called anybody's "bag."

Fence Post Letters To The Editor

Cat Ordinance Explained

Mr. Morrey's letter which appeared in the Fence Post last Friday regarding my role in drafting the Animal Control Ordinance and my vote contained two misstatements of fact. In addition, in my opinion, his was a jaded picture of events.

First the errors. While I am a member of the Environmental Control Board, I was not on the ECB committee which drafted the ordinance. Second, I voted to approve the ordinance with three modifications. I did not abstain. Also, for the record, I am one trustee who does not own a cat.

At the ECB meeting which considered the proposed ordinance as presented by the committee, I voted to submit the ordinance to the village board. I thought it was a good ordinance then. I think it is a good ordinance now. However, as a trustee I have an obligation to consider the views of the citizens. Those who have discussed this ordinance with me, in the majority, were opposed to several provisions in the ordinance. And it was these provisions which were changed.

We eliminated a higher license fee for unspayed females. At that meeting Mrs. Morrey stated the higher fee was OK with her. She raised dogs for profit, and would pass the higher cost on to the buyer. Dog and cat owners who contacted me were not as willing.

We also eliminated the leash law provision for cats. From the calls I have had, I am not convinced that 1) most residents believe there is a problem with cats, and 2) if they do, are willing to pay the added cost of enforcing such a provision. The Health Department has estimated that enforcing the leash law for cats would cost about $25,000. This money can only come from substantially higher license fees or added taxes. If I misread the sentiments of the citizens, I would like to know.

No one knows better than I the work the ECB committee and Mr. Dawson put into drafting this ordinance. It is a tribute to their efforts that 99 per cent of the ordinance, was approved without change by the committee of the whole.

As I mentioned to Mr. Morrey in a phone call, I do not object to explaining my votes. I do find it difficult, as I have in the last few days, to explain votes I have not made.

Briefly on Mr. Morrey's other comments. Both the "trick and treat" limitation and building moratorium were placed on the agenda and discussed by the board.

The point made on Halloween was that it was the parent's responsibility, not the village's, to control their children's "trick or treat" activities. However, the board did think the proposal had merit and asked the village manager to draft a resolution suggesting "trick or treat" activities be conducted on October 31 during daylight hours. But this village action still requires the cooperation of the parents.

I will not attempt to speak for Mrs. Reiter. Perhaps Mr. Morrey should ask her if she believes the village took her problem lightly. We only said a building moratorium would not solve the problem. In a phone conversation I had with Mrs. Reiter prior to Mr. Morrey's letter, I

Franciscan Prayer Vigil Backed

I very much resent Mr. Rosenberger's biased and prejudiced attack on the recent prayer vigil on chastity held at the Catholic church. I neither attended the prayer vigil nor am I a Catholic, however, as a parent and a former teacher, I admire the church for at least recognizing that there is a problem of morality in our society and trying to seek a solution.

One has only to look around and see that because of a breakdown of the basic unit of our society, the home, and a permissive attitude toward sex, that divorce is rising at an alarming rate, VD is rampant and the juvenile delinquency and drug abuse are on the increase. Most authorities attribute the bulk of these problems to the breakdown of family life.

An informed person can certainly make better judgments, so I am all for sex education. This can be and is usually taught without giving a license to practice without restraint. A look at the statistics, which show an alarming rise in VD and illegitimacy, can tell you what results when all restrictions are lifted.

To say that Franciscan Priests can't impart any advice in the area of family living is to say that a doctor cannot treat cancer unless he has experienced it or that a psychologist cannot treat an emotional illness because he hasn't experienced an emotional breakdown.

In reply to the Bible licensing polygamy, while in the Old Testament polygamy have learned that it seems the village has solved her particular problem. She has experienced no further sewer backup in spite of one period of heavy rain.

Finally, since being on the board, I know of no instance when any trustee has been indifferent to a citizen. Shortly after I was appointed to the board, I was instrumental in establishing the village listening post. Every Saturday morning from 9:30 a.m. to noon there is at least one trustee in Village Hall to talk with citizens in person or on the phone. Every trustee has willingly participated in this program.

If Mr. Morrey is unhappy with those on the village board, may I invite him to attend a meeting to lay the ground rules for a convention, which will select candidates for next April's village election, scheduled for 8 p.m., October 31 at the Slade Street Fire Station. His participation would be most welcome.

my was practiced, there is no license on polygamy in the teachings of Jesus or the New Testament which most Christians use as their authority.

In reply to the statement that the church is a miser, I would say while the church may not have always dispensed of their friends in a prudent manner, there are many great humanitarian contributions they have made to society. Many of our great institutions of learning are and were sponsored by churches, not to mention hospitals, day care centers, nursery schools, drug abuse centers, homes for the aged, etc. Who can question the work of the Salvation Army or the countless number of individuals who Will Young Sign Code?

Congressman Abner Mikva has challenged his opponent, Sam Young, to sign the Fair Campaign Practices Code, something Mr. Mikva has already done. This challenge comes in the midst of some disturbing indications that Mr. Young has been using distortion and misrepresentation in his campaign. Does Mr. Young have any excuse for refusing to sign the code? I can't think of one and he certainly hasn't given one to the voters of our district.

An open letter to Senator McGovern and Senator Shriver:

From listening to the huge volume of television coverage you have been given and your political commercials, one incredible fact is evident. You both seem to feel the mentality and memory of the average voter is so bad, that they will vote for you because you pretend to represent the solution to all our problems.

Mr. Shriver, both you and Senator McGovern have been critical of the present administration for its handling of the Vietnam situation. Do you think we have forgotten that your brother-in-law got our ground troops involved in this conflict to begin with?

I heard you criticize the military for spending so much money on things like post exchanges and golf courses for our servicemen. It is evidently your opinion that the American servicemen who lay their lives on the line for your protection are not entitled to these privileges.

Sen. McGovern, you said that Pres. Nixon is "hiding" because he won't campaign. I take it you think the President of the United States should ignore his duties as President, in favor of campaigning. You certainly are ignoring your duties as a United States Senator. I wonder what the people from your state think they are getting for their money.

You would stifle all individual initiative with your welfare proposals. Many of your other proposals would advocate our country taking away our individual freedoms in favor of the federal government doing what your administration would feel is best for us.

And WHY, Sen. McGovern, have we never heard one word of criticism from you ever, of the North Vietnamese and their aggressions? One would wonder as to your loyalty to our own country because of the deafening silence on this subject.

I feel I owe it to our son who was killed in Vietnam to vote for Pres. Nixon.

Discipline's A Challenge

I've come to realize the Herald's Fence Post letters are widely read in Arlington Heights and often quoted, whether they contain fact or not. Therefore I resent our Dist. 25 board of education and the administration being referred to as "os-triches!"

In the Arlington Heights Teachers Manual there is a directive on "punishment of pupils." Each principal strives to give guidelines to the teaching staff in his or her building on maintenance of discipline.

I agree clarification of maintenance of discipline is necessary and always an ongoing challenge. Each school contains several hundred pupils with double that number of parents. That means hundreds of individuals to be dealt with on an individual basis, realizing the need for flexibility in dealing with the individual. The school recognizes its position in dealing with the deportment of students and parents, our accomplishments can be unlimited!

Township Boosted

I am one township resident who wouldn't trade the service I get from the local elected township officials for anything — especially from graft-ridden Cook County!

When I had a question about my tax bill I contacted Mr. Pedersen, the assessor, and while he explained that it was especially difficult to get any information from the Democrat Assessor's bureaucracy, he did a wonderful job and I was fully satisfied with his performance.

I was happy that my two daughters were able to go to the town hall and register to vote with our new town clerk from Rolling Meadows. They told me she was exceptionally cheery and helpful.

In the winter Hans Bergman's highway crews keep our township roads in excellent conditions, and believe me, I know the problems they face on the austerity budget that they operate on. Too few people know what really goes on in Hans' department, and I think that is a shame.

It's time the people who really know what is going on in Palatine Township stood up and said so. Just who are the League of Women Voters anyway? From the newspaper it seems that Mrs. Ann Scollay and Mrs. Alice Deviney are the sole two members. Could it be possible that two such uninformed people could disrupt thousands of peoples lives almost overnight?

Just who are the people behind this movement?

Business Today

NEW YORK — The timber industry, which still used the yoked oxen of biblical days to get big trees out of the forest as late as 1920, now is turning to huge helicopters.

By doing away with much of the need for cutting broad access roads in the woods, aerial logging, which includes the use of balloons, skyline cable cranes and helicopters, may do much to alleviate the bitter controversy between lumbermen and those involved in how to conserve forests.

Not much helicopter logging has been done yet because the big Sikorsky aircraft cost $1.5 million each, but operators in California, Oregon and Washington have been logging by helicopter much of this year in Plumas, Klamath, Siskiyou and Lassen-Wentworth national forests. The timber companies involved include Big Bear Lumber Co., Calfell Bros., Cabax Corp., Avison Lumber Co. and Aero-Timber Development Co.

Even bigger aerial logging operations using balloons or aerial cables have been carried out in the West by Boise Cascade Corp. and Bobemia Lumber Co.

MUCH OF THE helicopter experimentation is being done as part of the U.S. Forestry Service's Falcon program. Ten million dollars is being spent over a period of five years.

The Forest Service predicts that aerial logging will spread because it is likely to prove cheaper than hauling logs out by truck or tractor. It also makes sense ecologically.

"It is building access roads rather than removal of trees that damages forests," say government spokesmen. Timbermen agree. Moreover, aerial logging makes it possible to harvest logs economically on mountainsides and other steep slopes hitherto considered too expensive to cultivate. The helicopter crew can plant replacement seedling trees cheaply and rapidly.

A Forest Service bulletin says aerial logging offers the opportunity to make selective logging more economical or to reduce the size of clearcut areas — areas in which all the timber is cut down and the tract replanted. The service said aerial logging also will make it possible to remove diseased and infested trees early, preventing epidemics that can kill whole forests.

THE FALCON STUDY also will be aimed at using aerial logging to better salvage windthrown and fire-killed timber. About half the Falcon funds are going to universities and foundations for research on conservation of trees, water and soil in forests.

Meanwhile, it should help tone down the bitterness in what has come to be known as the country's "tall timber controversy."

In this row, such conservation leaders as Gordon Robinson of the Sierra Club insist that the forests be left in their primeval state, that only small amounts of timber be harvested from them now. They say timber resources are being plundered and future generations of Americans may have neither forests nor lumber.

Timberman answer that, although wasteful logging in the past has deprived the United States of some choice varieties of lumber, the nation now grows about 10 per cent more lumber and pulpwood each year than it uses. They also note that regular harvesting and replanting of timberlands reduces nature's reproductive cycle from a range of 300 to 900 years to one of 25 to 80 years according to species. They consider it dangerous to leave too much forest land in virgin condition because the huge trees must die eventually and the annual crop of new trees growing wild will be too small for the nation's needs.

That reply doesn't satisfy the conservationists. They say they are concerned with more than the supply of the wood — they want the whole forest in its wild beauty to be preserved.

Give It A Charge And This New Car Is Ready To Roll

Commuters can take to the highways with a new electric automobile unveiled this week by Electric Fuel Propulsion (EFP) of Detroit. The first public showing of this pollution-free car is being conducted at the Civic Center in Chicago through today.

Unlike its electric predecessors, the X-144 auto is not an experimental car. It is a street-ready, fully developed and tested automobile, says EFP Pres. Robert A. Aronson.

"You can be the first in your town to drive a car that has no gas tank, emits no pollution, and at a steady speed of 50 miles per hour delivers the equivalent of a satisfying 175 miles to the gallon. With average stop-and-start driving, performance is still a remarkable 65 mile-per-gallon equivalent."

THE X-144 is an electrified American Motors Gremlin with a top speed of 70 miles per hour and can travel up to 60 miles on one battery charge. Its battery can be recharged overnight by plugging into a standard electrical outlet. Optional fast charging in less than an hour is also available. An average charge costs about 40 cents.

"In the past 12 years, we have built 69 experimental cars and road-tested them everywhere from Florida to Alaska," said Aronson. "With this car you can forget about anti-freeze, tuneups and many of the other headaches associated with standard automobiles. The X-144 is an ideal urban vehicle for short-range driving, commuting, shopping and delivery."

The car is equipped with a 20 horsepower DC motor and a solid-state electronic speed controller which replaces the conventional engine. Patented lead-cobalt batteries substitute for the gas tank.

Among the selling points is a guaranteed $1,500 trade-in after 5-7 years. Aronson said, "We can do this because there's very little to depreciate on the X-144. When the body rusts out, we intend to reuse the motor and controller which should last for 20 years."

Investors Mutual

A fourth quarter dividend of 9-3/4 cents a share was declared by Investors Mutual, Inc., fund.

The 1972 fourth quarter dividend, the 128th consecutive paid by the fund compares with 9-1/4 cents paid in the fourth quarter of 1971.

Northwest Industries

Northwest Industries, Inc. declared an increase in the quarterly dividend on the company's common stock from 12 1/2 cents to 16 1/4 cents a share. The board also declared the regular dividends of $1.05 a share on the company's $4.20 cumulative convertible prior preferred stock and $1.25 a share on the company's Series A 5% Convertible Preferred Stock.

A. O. Smith Corp.

The board of directors of A. O. Smith Corp. declared a dividend of 18.4 cents a share of common stock, payable Nov. 15. The company has an Arlington Heights facility.

Mortgage Loans Up

More than 60 per cent of the $32.8 billion increase in commercial bank mortgage loan portfolios since 1965 has been in residential loans, the American Bankers Association (ABA) reports.

During the same period the total dollar amount of mortgage portfolios for all other lending institutions such as savings and loan associations and life insurance companies has increased less than 50 per cent.

Between 1965 and 1972 total bank mortgage portfolios increased from $49.7 billion to $82.5 billion. Residential mortgages accounted for more than $30 billion of the increase, ABA figures show.

Printed Pages Get 'Voice' With New Sound System

Instructional pages that have their own "voice," as well as descriptive illustrations or text for individualized learning applications, are a new development in audio-visual educational systems. The new system is being marketed by 3M Co.'s Visual Products division as the 3M Sound-Page System.

Individual pages of instructional material carry text on one side and a magnetic coating on the opposite side to deliver prerecorded messages on a Sound-Page playback unit, not much larger than an attaché case.

Simple in design, the system can be used for a variety of training applications: clerical skills, general orientation, equipment maintenance and operation, safety indoctrination, teller training, business forms use, out-of-plant dealer and service training, according to 3M. Trainees could work exclusively with the system or use it as a guide while actually working with a piece of equipment.

In the classroom, at whatever grade level, the unit is suited for regular or remedial sequences of instruction. It can be programmed for a student studying the alphabet, learning math equations, pronouncing foreign words or tracing the intricate pattern of a computer memory circuit.

Three models of the system are available: a recorder-player and two playback units, deluxe and standard. Each uses 8 1/2 by 11-inch pages which have a magnetic coating on one side and plain white paper on the other. Illustrations and sound are locked together on a single sheet for easy reference and storing.

As the user views visual material on one side, sound is picked up on the opposite side by a revolving playback head. Each sheet accepts up to four minutes of sound — instructions, explanations, questions, music, special effects, or any audio message desired.

Color illustrations can be created simply by pasting original materials on the sound page. Visual materials can also be typed or drawn onto blank pages as required.

Sound is added to a page by placing the sheet on the recorder-player and speaking into the microphone with the "record" button on. Audio material can be updated or completely changed by erasing and re-recording. The system can be stopped at any time for quick review.

Ups, Downs Of Former Area Grid Stars

Dramatic Difference In College Careers

BOTH WORE red and white in high school.

Both were star quarterbacks on highly successful teams.

Both went to college on athletic scholarships.

That's where the similarity ends.

Four lively or long years — depending on whom you talk to — have passed since Phil Donahue and Todd Somers were rivals in the Mid-Suburban League.

Todd, one of the best running quarterbacks in the MSL, led his Arlington team to a perfect 9-0 season. Throwing only when he had to, he and the Cardinals rolled over the opposition in points 307-26.

Phil, running only when forced to, used his accurate arm to cut down seven of Palatine's nine opponents. In a season when most observers thought the Pirates would be rebuilding, Donahue's 1,333 yards passing and 17 TD bombs proved them wrong.

Those were glorious senior years for these two former rivals. Both are seniors again, but things have greatly changed since 1968.

The Ball State University (Muncie, Ind.) sports information director made his usual weekly call to our sports department on Monday. It went something like this:

"Ball State beat Dayton, 28-7. Phil threw two touchdown passes of 12 and 20 yards. He was seven of 16 for 90 yards with one interception. He ran seven times for 13 yards.

"The team is now 4-0-1 and it will be at Southern Illinois University this Saturday night."

Another fine day for Phil Donahue, the 6-1, 180-pound signalcaller for the Cardinals.

Two days before, I attended a Northwestern game with my usually hapless alma mater — Iowa — furnishing the opposition. Several times I zeroed in on the Wildcat sidelines with my binoculars.

There Todd stood among his teammates, his right hand hanging at his side clutching an unused football. No. 25 was a spectator as a sophomore quarterback directed the Cats to another loss.

Another frustrating day for Todd Somers, 6-1, 185-pound second-string signalcaller for the Wildcats.

A statistical look at their collegiate careers shows the degree of elation Phil's experienced compared to Todd's disappointment:

Donahue — 2,306 total yards (1,992 passing) and 24 touchdowns (18 passing). Somers — 210 total yards (180 passing) and one touchdown passing.

"That's great. I'm glad to hear he's doing good," said Todd when informed of his old friend's success this season. "Our freshman and sophomore years we worked out a little together in the summer."

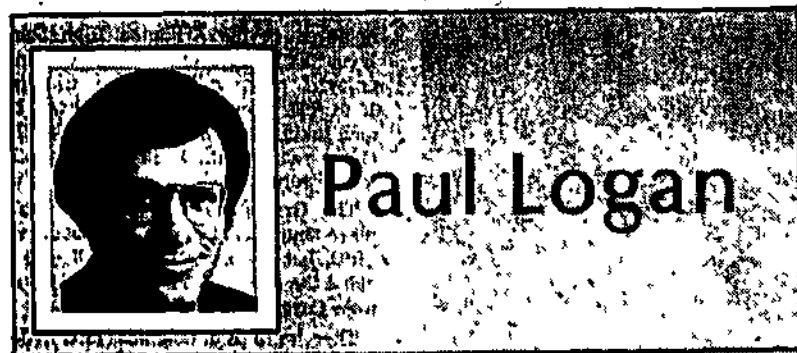

Todd was recruited mainly for his running ability, as he recalled. Perfectly suited for running the option, he said he thought Coach Alex Agase would use such an offense, especially this year. It never came about. Now Mitch Anderson — primarily a thrower — is at the controls.

"This year I had my chance and then blew it," said Somers somberly. It was his first starting assignment in three long years against none other than powerful Michigan at Ann Arbor!

Last spring Todd was No. 1. The same thing was true after fall practice. However, after trailing the Wolverines at halftime 7-0, "he (Agase) yanked me ... but I can't blame him, really," said Todd.

The benching that really hurt the most occurred the week later against visiting Notre Dame.

"We were down 30-0 at half and I was a little bit surprised that I didn't get a shot at it in the second half," he recalled. "I was a little bit discouraged, to say the least. Other than that, I've thought that the coach has given me a fair shake."

Some people might have read that Todd had some success against Wisconsin the week before. Filling in for the injured Anderson, Todd led his team in for a score from the Wisconsin 40. Following a 12-yard pass and a couple of runs, he hit a receiver deep in the end zone with a 28-yard pass.

"I'll tell you that it felt real good," he said after describing his only collegiate scoring strike in three years.

Touchdowns, both passing and running, are an every Saturday occurrence for Phil. He's accounted for 24 in his career with five more games remaining.

Some might say that Ball State isn't a major college. That's partly true in football, but this school which is more than twice as big as Northwestern (17,000 to 6,000) has been attempting to change its schedule.

"We've been trying and trying to pick up major colleges this year for an 11th game," said Phil. Many schools have turned them down out of fear of being upset by this so-called "smaller" school.

"We're real close to the Mid-America Conference (including teams like Toledo and Western Michigan) which is right on the heels of the Big Ten," he said. "The difference with the Big Ten and schools like us is we don't have the depth that they have."

After a pair of 50-50 years (5-5 and 4-5-1), Phil and his team have found great success with the triple option and new rapport with second-year head coach Dave McClain.

"I'm really happy with my choice now," answered Phil regarding other schools he might have attended. "We've got a great coach (who assisted under likes of Woody Hayes, Pepper Rogers and Bo Schembechler)."

"I signed real early," recalled Phil of his decision to go to B.S.U. "I was afraid I wouldn't get a scholarship."

He had talked with Wisconsin and Northwestern among others concerning football. However, he also had quite a few good track offers.

Todd also was interested in Wisconsin for a time, but "Northwestern was actually where I wanted to go to school," he said. "I kind of shut people off early, so to speak. I committed myself fairly early to Northwestern."

If he had to do it all over again, he still would have picked the Evanston school.

"I wanted to try big-time college football. I'm still convinced that a quarterback that can run the ball can help the team. I'm convinced I can play the position."

Todd picked the school for other reasons — his brother had played there, it has a high academic rating and "my folks can come over to see the games," he said.

Asked to assess his football career, he answered, "Oh, boy. That's really tough to say. Of course, I'd have to say I'm really disappointed right now. It obviously didn't turn out the way I'd have liked it to."

As for Phil, he said his football playing has "been a lot of hard work so far. It's a whole different thing in college. Everybody's good up here."

Phil's hoping his team is good enough to remain unbeaten so that it will receive an invitation to the Pecan Bowl.

"It's been real good to me," he said of collegiate football.

Both haven't enjoyed the sweetness of success on such a high level of sport.

Where The Action Is

Go West...For Skiing Fun

by GENIE CAMPBELL

Living on the midwestern plains, it's difficult for the Chicago suburbanite to be aware of all the skiing meccas in the Rocky Mountains, Grand Tetons or High Sierras.

So naturally, you find someone who is like Starr Walton who put on her first pair of skis at the age of three and is familiar with almost every skiing area of the Western United States.

There isn't too much that the native Californian doesn't know about the sport that in the past several seasons has snowballed in popularity. Now a family affair, more and more skiing resorts are opening up to accommodate this fired-up interest.

For those planning winter vacations on skis, the season out West usually begins around mid-November and carries through Easter vacation.

"The best time I think to ski out West is the week after New Year's. The holiday crowds have left and the snow conditions are very good," said Miss Walton, in town recently for United Air Lines who this winter is again operating special ski-oriented Snowbird flights.

Starr Walton affirms she has no one favorite area, though she admits individual resorts do have distinct characteristics.

The novice skier need not worry. He will be accommodated at the majority of areas out West that specialize in elementary and intermediate runs as well as more difficult ones.

One exception is Taos, N.M., a resort that is geared primarily to the intermediate and advanced skier.

"Taos doesn't offer such a tremendous variety of slopes. It's also harder to get to ... almost a full day's drive out of Denver," said Miss Walton who was a member of the 1964 U.S. Women's Olympic Ski Team.

While the established reputations of Aspen and Vail, Colo., annually attract an entourage of midwestern skiers, other newer areas seriously being looked over are Keystone, Colo., Park City, Utah, and Alpine Meadows, Calif.

Of course most vacationers are interested in more than just the right skiing conditions. When later afternoon arrives and the runs close, everyone heads down to town for dinner and a little local color.

Night life in the form of discotheques and pubs is available in almost every Western ski area.

"Vail, Aspen and Jackson Hole are still considered the swinging places for young couples and singles," said Starr Walton. "And if you're looking for big name entertainment, it can be found in the Taos area."

Gambling is an advantage of Nevada. Both Snowbird and Alta, two skiing areas in Utah, are located 30 miles outside of Salt Lake City and 40 minutes from Reno.

A flavor of the old wild west is a part of both Breckenridge, an old Colorado mining town and Steamboat, a relatively new area four hours from Denver that in the last year has received a lot of publicity. Promoting itself with old fashioned hayrides and steak bakes, Steamboat offers a cowboy environment that is much less sophisticated than Aspen whose former cattle ranchers and cowpokes have long since fled the scene.

If you prefer having the slopes relatively all to yourself, check out Crested Butte outside of Denver, an area noted for good skiing and few people.

Also Telluride is opening this year. It's the newest of the Colorado ski areas, another old mining town that has been rehabilitated and turned into a recreational area.

Telluride is also famous for something else. It's the reported site where Butch Cassidy made his first unauthorized bank withdrawal.

"A super family spot that is noted for its excellent groomed slopes, is Winter Park, Colo.," said Starr Walton. Seventy-five per cent of the trails are marked either beginner or intermediate.

Other skiing resorts are located in upper California and Nevada where a lower altitude offers a milder climate. Yet ski runs are as long as those in Colorado.

"You can ski two states at the same time, California and Nevada, at Heavenly Valley in the Sierras," said Miss Walton.

"California's skiing is characterized by a greater variety of snow conditions," she continued. "Like Colorado, California has both powder and hard packed snow. In addition, California has a granular corn snow that is caused by alternating thawing and freezing," she continued. "It makes excellent spring skiing. Wet powder is the most difficult snow condition western skiers experience. Neither Colorado nor California has ice."

In general the United Air Lines representative said that all ski areas were developing good cuisine. Restaurants specialize in anything from seafood to Chinese dinners.

"Better transportation to the resorts is much less harassing to the passengers today," she continued, "and cars are seldom necessary." But sometimes it is better to have a car in California and around Salt Lake City, Utah," she added.

And where accommodations are concerned, the gamut is run, from dormitories to private chalets. Those wishing to "experiment" with cross country skiing are wise to remain in Colorado where special trails and ski packages have been created to cater to the new surge in this sport. Packages are also available to enable a skier to try several different areas in the same trip.

WESTERN SKIING IS Starr Walton's specialty. At Innsbruck in the 1964 Olympic Games, Miss Walton finished as the top American girl in the Downhill, 14th. In the same year she was eighth in the world combined standing in the Downhill.

Fremd, Jackson Unbeaten As Dual Meet Season Ends

by LARRY EVERHART

The Mid-Suburban League wound up its dual-meet season Tuesday and things went according to form.

Half of the final standings now have been determined with the other half on the line in the conference meet Saturday morning at Union 78 Oil grounds near Hoffman Estates.

The first-division teams all were winners Tuesday, which means that Fremd, to no one's surprise, finished its dual schedule unbeaten in 11 meets. Palatine remained one lap behind, Hersey and Arlington tied for third, and Conant, Forest View and Prospect were next in order.

Individual winners included Arnold Jackson of Schaumburg (keeping alive a perfect record for all meets this year), Jim Wise of Forest View, John Miller of Fremd, Neil Haseman of Arlington, John Jones of Hersey and Don Burger of Prospect.

As one coach commented, "It was one of those days when no one really wants to run" because of the cold weather. Just the same, there were some fine times turned in as the barriers warmed up for Saturday's main MSL event.

FREM'D 15, GLENBARD NORTH 34
It was no contest as Fremd had a spread of only three seconds for its top five runners. John Miller notched his first victory over a short 2.5-mile course in 12:16 and right on his heels were Jamie Olsen, Jim Gallas, Chuck Ruppenhal and Mike Rohrer. Also very close behind that pack were Ed Pittenger and Ken Gehlb.

It was reported that the old course record was 12:38. If true, that would mean that Fremd's first seven runners all handily broke the mark.

One of the Viking regulars, Steve Inbody, did not run because of a sore arch.

Greg McGuire was an easy winner in 13:45 as Fremd racked up a perfect score on the sophomores level to close the season undefeated like their varsity counterparts.

PALATINE 20, FOREST VIEW 40

Wise, who has lost only to Jackson all season, set another record when he won in 14:50, the best time on the three-mile Palatine Hills Golf Club layout which opened for barrier use this fall.

But with the Falcons' fine No. 2 man Rich Nilsson out with an injury, the next five places belonged to Palatine. They were claimed by Scott Williams (15:19), Paul Kearns (15:22), Dave Teble (15:28), Bill O'Neill (15:30), and John Thullen (15:43).

Palatine's other runners were Rick Schell (15:59) in eighth place, Carl Kiewert in 10th and Tom Glenn in 11th.

Forest View had Tony Hess in seventh with 15:55 and Larry Keen in ninth with 16:01. Others were Mike Weiser, John Jansen, Jack Thomas and Paul Bjork.

Palatine romped in the sophomore meet, 15-48, as Mike Masucci was the winner in 16:23. The Pirate frosh won by 22-33 as Pete Kearns' 12:03 was tops.

HERSEY 21, WHEELING 48

John Jones of the winners came within 11 seconds of the Wheeling course record held by Schaumburg's Jackson as he covered three miles in 15:26. Seven of the first nine runners wore Hersey uniforms.

Second place went to Tom Burridge of the Huskies with 15:34 and a pair of Wheeling runners followed — Bruce Messenger with 15:47 and Brian Crehan with 15:52.

Hersey then had a string of five — Ron Stephani (15:57), Dave Jones (16:00), Chris Cooney (16:08), Jay McCarthy (16:10), and Dan Lohr (16:19). Wheeling's other finishers were Jeff Schuster (16:26), Steve Wilhelm, Jim Leeper, Ron Broadhead and Paul Schaffel.

Hersey's sophs prevailed 23-32 with Hal

(Free Wheel Division (Ages 11-12))

The Palatine Jaycees defeated the Streamwood Blades 12-0, earning their first shutout. Strong defensive effort and good goaltending kept Streamwood off the scoreboard.

David Anderson and K. C. Gullett each registered hat tricks with Mike Mikulan and Tim Cunningham getting two goals apiece. Single goals went to Ed Price, Keith Jenkins and Mike Damski. Assists were awarded to Matt Kangas (1), Price (3), Jay Blecker (1), Gullett (2), Anderson (1), Mike Mikulan (1), Mike Muraloni (2), Dan Thomas (1), and Doug McBride (1).

Price scored his goal on the exciting penalty shot which was awarded to the Jaycees when a Streamwood defenseman fell on the puck in the goal's crease. Rick Mitchell was in the nets all the way to earn the shutout.

The Palatine Jaycees next defeated the Dundee Demons 5-0, thus putting together back-to-back shutouts. Scott Vena was in the nets for the Jaycees. Mike Mikulan and K. C. Gullett each scored two goals with David Anderson adding the frosting with one goal. Jerry Milligan led in assists with two and David Anderson and Ed Price getting one apiece. It was the fourth victory in a row for the Jaycees. During the three games they have outscored their opponents 12-2.

The Palatine Jaycees played the Arlington All-stars in a non-conference game on Saturday, Oct. 14. It was a warm up to the Northern Illinois Hockey League. Gullett scored the lone goal for Arlington Heights, assisted by Fredrick in the third period.

The Palatine Jaycees lit the lamp in all three periods with one in the first, two in the second, and three in the third.

Three of the four forward lines scored for the Jaycees, again showing a balanced attack. The first period goal was scored by David Anderson assisted by K. C. Gullett and Jerry Milligan. Second period goals were scored by Mike Mikulan unassisted and Mike Damski assisted by Mike Muraloni. Third period goals were scored by David Anderson unassisted, Mike Mikulan unassisted and Keith Jenkins assisted by Mike Mikulan, Rick Mitchell and Scott Vena shared the goaltending. The final score was Palatine Jaycees-4, Arlington All-Stars-1.

The two teams will meet again in their conference game on Oct. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Arlington Ice Spectrum.

Sunday, Oct. 15, Palatine was invaded by the ever-powerful Lakers from Madison, Wis. The Lakers were led by a one-man gang named Andringa. The Jaycees, undefeated in their first four games, jumped out to an early lead on a goal by Tim Cunningham, assisted by Jerry Milligan and Fred Vitis, but then the roof fell in for Palatine. The Lakers line of three, Farnsworth, Andringa, rattled off three goals. Devin, unassisted, Farnsworth, assisted by Devin, and Moffatt and Devin assisted by Tarr. The Jaycees bounced back on a goal by Fred Vitis, assisted by Ed Price and Tim Cunningham that brought the score to 2-2 at the end of the first period.

On the second period, Andringa went to work scoring two goals, the first assisted by Stein and Mayer and the second assisted by Stein. Devin, then added another for the Lakers to complete his hat trick. But the Jaycees fought back on goals by K. C. Gullett assisted by David Anderson and Jerry Milligan, and Mike Mikulan unassisted. Madison retaliated on a goal by Trautman assisted by Andringa. The score at the end of the second period was 4-2.

At the beginning of the third period, An-dringa shattered the Palatine defense scoring three goals in a row assisted by Mayer, Stein and Trautman. Devin added his fourth goal of the day assisted by Tarr and Farnsworth before Palatine could recover. David Anderson then scored for the Jaycees assisted by Mikulan and Muraloni. Mike Muraloni ended the high-scoring game with a goal assisted by Jay Blecker. Final score - Madison-11, Palatine Jaycees-4.

Andringa scored a double hat trick and his line scored 10 of the 11 goals for Madison. The game also served as a reunion between Tim Moffatt of Madison and Ed Price of Palatine who skated on the same line in Guelph, Ontario this summer.

Northern Division (Ages 13-14)

The Palatine Norsemen Bantam traveling team dropped their league opener to Schaumburg, 2-1.

Wagner, Archibald and Ciccia scored for Schaumburg with Landis and Riley getting assists. Both Palatine goals were scored by Tim Beatty with assists going to Don McSwaney and Bob Greenhill.

Midwest Division (Ages 15-16)

On Oct. 2, the Palatine Norsemen Midgets scored first and the Schaumburg Kings tied it with a fine back hand shot by Chaneles. The game saw back and forth without any additional scoring until late in the third period when Palatine again put the puck into the net. Palatine then went into a strong defensive alignment and held on until the final buzzer to win 2-1. Scoring for Schaumburg was Chaneles, unassisted. Scoring for Palatine were Al Sundberg and Tom Garofalo assisted by Tom Glynn and Mike McSwaney.

In a game on Oct. 8 between the Palatine Norsemen and Bradford, Ontario, it was obvious that Bradford came to play. After playing two games earlier in the day they shut out the Norsemen 5-0. Palatine did have some good opportunities to score but were unable to put the puck past Bradford's fine goal tender. Jim Sprinkle was in the nets for Palatine and was awarded the game puck because of his excellent job in the nets allowing only four goals. The Palatine Norsemen Midgets are now looking forward to the season and are seeking exhibition games on a home and home basis.

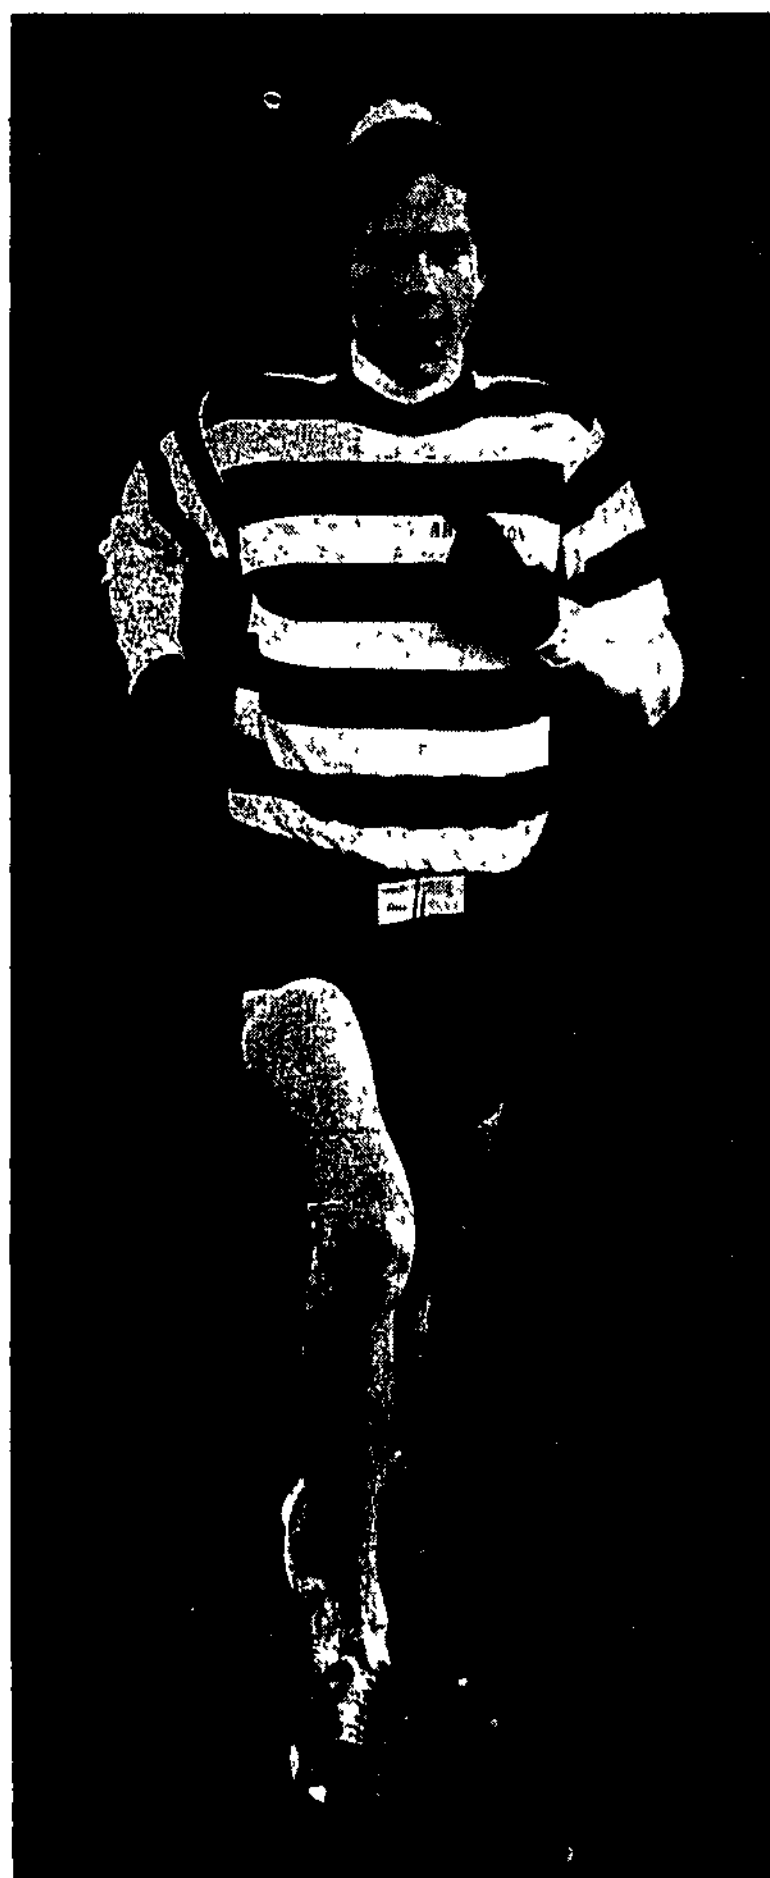

Oct. 10 found the Palatine Norsemen meeting Streamwood. Palatine drew first blood on a power play goal by Tom Glynn, assisted by Tom Garofalo. The second score was also a power play. Kevin Fromm assisted by Phil Haglund. Then Streamwood, in the second period scored two fast goals to tie up the game. Goals scored by Dahl, assisted by Fagels and Fagels, assisted by St. Aubin. The third period found Palatine carrying the game to Streamwood and the shots on goal piled up. Palatine's third goal was scored by Kevin Fromm assisted by Mike McSwaney and Mark Dittich. Mark Dittich came back to score the fourth goal was scored by Kevin Fromm assisted by Mike McSwaney and Mark Dittich. Mark Dittich came back to score the fourth goal, assisted by John Fredrickson. Matt Wayne, assisted by Mike Zordan scored the fifth and final goal for Palatine. The final score was Palatine-5, Streamwood-2.

Juvenile Division (Ages 17-18)

The Palatine Juvenile Hockey Team opened their season with a non-league game against Bradford, Ontario Juvenile Team and were badly defeated 12-2. The opening game loss was a story of taking on too much of a team too early in the season and the score indicates the way the hockey game was played. The Palatine goals were scored by Tom McFeely, assisted by Jim Sloan, and by Rudy Albrecht, assisted by Bill Posselt and Bill Hogan.

On Oct. 8, the Palatine Juveniles rebounded from their opening game loss with a sound decision over Schaumburg in their first league game at the Dome in Dundee. The Palatine Team dominated play throughout the game. Bill Carney was the leading scorer with two goals and one assist for three points. Also scoring were Paul Vitis with one goal and two assists, Rudy Albrecht with one goal and two assists, Mike Sord with two assists, Bill Posselt with two assists, Dick Bogar with one goal, and Bill Marver with one goal.

The Palatine Juvenile team will be playing in the Dome League at the Polar Dome in Dundee each Sunday morning for the next 21 Sundays. They will also be playing in the Northern Illinois League starting in November at the Arlington Ice Spectrum. They will have a total of 50 hours of ice time this season and are looking forward to an outstanding hockey program.

A HAPPY Neil Haseman of Arlington's cross country team has reason to smile. He is not only in the process of taking first place in Tuesday's Arlington-Elk Grove dual meet, but setting a new course record in 15:01. Haseman was only the third conference runner this year to beat Brian Powell of Elk Grove.

Stembridge pacing the victory in 16:37. Wheeling gained a victory on the frosh level 16:59 as the 'Cats' Mike Cormack won in 11:16.

ARLINGTON 23, ELK GROVE 38

Still another new course record was achieved at the Arlington High School layout as Neil Haseman of the Cardinals enjoyed a very impressive win with 15:01. Elk Grove's Brian Powell was second, taking only his third conference loss of the season with 15:16 (his only other losses were to Jackson and Wise).

The Grenadiers also had the third-place man in Damian Archibald with 15:22, but the barriers who followed decided the outcome. The next six in a row were Cardinals.

They were Bill Schmid (15:42), John Lerchenfeld (15:51), Mike Haseman (15:59), Tom Holub (16:00), Dave Jenkins (16:01) and Bob Skolnik (16:07).

Rounding out Elk Grove's lineup, in order, were Dave Dill, Dave Jackson, Duane Sitkewitz, Pete Giamaris and Mike Fiscus.

Arlington ran up a perfect 15-50 score in the soph meet with Greg Hansen leading the way in 16:46. Elk Grove's turn for victory was in the frosh affair, 22-34, as Mike Wolfard won in 11:26.

CONANT 23, SCHAUMBURG 38

The Cougars had seven of the top nine places to win this neighborhood rivalry match. Lake Park also entered to make it a double dual, being easily defeated by both the Cougars and Saxons.

There was much interest in the freshman meet, a showdown between undefeated powers won by Conant 23-38 over Schaumburg. Jeff Olson of Conant paved the way to the big triumph with a new course record for frosh, 11:25 for two miles.

In fact, the winners on all three levels set course records, starting with Jackson's 15:27 over three miles at Union 76. But the only other Saxon in the top nine was Mike Carey, fourth with 16:30.

Conant's times went as follows: Bob Everly, 18:17; Rick Jensen, 16:24; Steve Watron, 18:39; Dave Elderkin, 16:41; Dave Mansolf, 16:43; Ron Golubski, 17:00; and John Bond, 17:03.

Following for Schaumburg were Ron Healer, Mike Palmer, John Schevikhoven, Fess Cloonan, Mike Istok and Doug Warlick. Conant's others were Dan Wolfgram, Todd Waldron and Dan Schneider.

Schaumburg was a 19-42 winner over Conant in the soph race with both teams beating Lake Park, as they did in the frosh meet. Soph winner was the Saxons' Mark Hoerlich in 17:00, a record for second-year men.

Schaumburg had an excellent lower level season as its frosh were 14-1 and sophs 14-3. The Saxon varsity was 9-8 in duals. Conant's frosh finished with a perfect record.

PROSPECT 16, ROLLING MEADOWS 45

The Knights had no problem, taking seven of the top eight places on Rolling Meadows' 2.75-mile course.

Don Burger ran a fine 14:51 to win it and teammate Rich Reithal was two seconds behind. Another two seconds back was the Mustangs' improving Rich Jensen.

A string of five straight Prospect runners following included Mike Tyre (15:07), Brian Pomrenko (15:11), Mike Skelton (15:19), Tom Nemec (15:22) and Keith Spacapan (15:30).

Rolling Meadows' others were Jerry Porters, Mike Suerth, Craig Dahlquist and Jim Huddleston.

Prospect won the frosh meet 20-35 with Greg Tobiaz winning in 13:30, while Rich Podgorny's 15:24 paced the Knight sophs to a 27-32 win.

At Fair Lanes

In the Rolling Meadows Classic League at Fair Lanes, Rena Metz had a 552-212, Vera Hackett a 509 series, Bobbie Thomas 506, Gail Thullen 507-203 and Ann Holfeld 503. . . The Jokers, Bunnies and Lady Bugs teams each gained three points.

Hoffman Boys Club Report

In the first game at Conant Stadium last Sunday, the Titans took sole possession of second place in the Chicago Suburban Junior football league, Midwest Division. The Titans now boast a 5-1 record but they had to come from behind to beat a very good Hanover Park team.

Hanover struck first after they blocked a Titan punt on the 20-yard line. They scored on a 3-yard plunge but failed to make the PAT. They maintained this lead going into the third quarter.

The Titans came out for the second half and moved the football well with the power running of Rick Hirschman and the quick sprint of Chris Moon and Bob Groble. Hirschman burst off the tackle for ten yards and the first TD and Bob Groble handed to Bob Groble for the extra point to give the Titans a 7-0 lead.

Near the end of the fourth quarter, Chris Moon intercepted a Hanover Park Pass and carried to the 14 yard line of the opposition. Just three plays later, Chris took another handoff and followed Joe Cikauskas and Joe O'Malley's blocks in to the end zone. Andy Scholl scored the extra point which made the final score 14-0.

The junior division of the H.E.B.C. Lancers, also second in league standing but by only 1/2 game, took on a tough Hanover Park Junior team, the Rams. The first Lancer score occurred only minutes into the ball game as Terry Sappington raced 47 yards for the first TD. Very valuable linemen in the form of Mike Kierley, Jack Welsh and Paul Gaska enabled Sappington to tally 157 yards rushing.

In the second half the entire Lancer team put forth a tremendous effort and marched 50 yards with quarterback Tim Harkness scoring to make it Lancers 12, Hanover Park Rams 0.

Then Hanover recovered a Lancer fumble on the Lancers 18 yard line. Only the superb play of Jim Chamberlain, Dan Kaufman, Scott Miller, Steve Groble and Tim O'Toole kept Hanover from scoring at this point in the game. From there on in Dan Kaufman and Ed O'Malley kept things going until a pass from Harkness to O'Toole put the score 18-0, with O'Malley's PAT making the final score 19-0 Lancers.

Next week the Titans and Lancers will be the guests of their village rivals, the Commanders and Raiders of the H.E.A.A. Game time at Conant High School will be 1 p.m. for the Titan-Commando game and 3 p.m. for the Lancer-Raider game.

'Develop A Will To Win' Says Bulls' Pat Williams

by JIM COOK

Chicago Bulls' General Manager Pat Williams is clever — effectively clever.

He had to be clever to successfully sell professional basketball to Chicago — a city that had rejected five previous franchises. Williams was clever again yesterday.

Addressing over 200 principals attending the Illinois Principals' Association Fall Conference at the Arlington Park Towers Hotel, Williams emphasized the moral value of sports.

The 32-year-old wizard preached the "tremendous amount of good that comes from athletics" despite first acknowledging "all is not well in the world of sports."

He dwelled on the undue strain heaped upon 8-9 year-old athletes by parents and amateur-level coaches so that by the time the kids are 10-11, "they couldn't care less."

He recognized the "immoral college recruiting, the cheating, the hypocrisy and buying of the high school athletes." And he spoke first-hand of the greed of the pro athletes whose lone concern is the accumulation of money.

Then, by cleverly situating his captive audience of high school principals into a role as high school athletes, Williams proceeded to outline the moral value of sports.

He set down a program of eight qualities that he felt a high school athlete should possess. "Develop the will to win," Williams stressed as his opening point. Paraphrasing the Grantland Rice line that when the Great Scorer writes the score next to your name, it's not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game, Williams admitted, "I disagree." "You must have a burning desire in your heart to win. Those that don't, will perish in this totally competitive society."

"Secondly, I would encourage you to strive for perfection," he said, citing baseball's Ted Williams and basketball's Hal Greer as examples of how practice (one percent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration) have paid off for them. Bull Bob Weiss was mentioned in Williams' third quality of "refusing to give up." Weiss, who milled around in the minor leagues, stuck with it to become what Williams called, "probably the best third guard in the league."

"Welcome competition" was yet another attribute Williams hoped his audience of high schoolers would possess and "believe the impossible," he added. "...But a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?" Williams quoted.

Inspiration and enthusiasm also found a spot in the 1962 Wake Forest grad's presentation. "Jesus is the greatest inspiration and source of enthusiasm," the avid member of the League Of Christian Fellowship Athletes stressed.

"You can only go as high as your faith and confidence," Williams added. "Hit your wagon to a star."

His final point concerned disciplining your lives and maintaining health and vitality, even if it means giving up certain desirable things.

In conclusion, Pat asked his pre-tentious youngsters to sacrifice spirit and attitude, develop a sound mind and body, be coachable and maintain a deep sense of humility.

"Do the best you can, but remember, there's no indispensable man."

PAT WILLIAMS

Bill Veeck Never Changes

by LARRY EVERHART

One of many delightful things about Bill Veeck is that he doesn't change.

Veeck earned an image many years ago as a hero of the average baseball fan, a baseball owner more concerned with color and putting fun and laughs into baseball than with following tradition, as his more stodgy counterparts did.

And even though Veeck has been out of baseball for 11 years now (can it really be that long?), his image still lives on, as he showed when he addressed the Illinois Principals Association at Arlington Park Towers this week.

Billed as an "incorrigible maverick," Veeck proved to be just that in speaking out, as usual, against the baseball establishment. His entertaining talk also had a few serious messages.

Veeck began, "I'm here to represent losers. I say this because of my World Series prediction — I said Cincinnati would win in five games — and because of my former association with the (St. Louis) Browns."

"But actually it isn't whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game... That's the silliest damn thing I ever heard."

Bill was in his usual form of telling anecdotes — like this one about his days with the tail-end Browns:

"A fellow walked up to me one day and said he'd like some tickets. Right away I knew he was from out of town. I asked him, 'Would you like to sit at second base? We're not using it this year.' He asked what time the game started and I said, 'What time's convenient? We'll play at your house if you like.'

He had a few more of his patented hilarious stories before doing an about-face and making some serious comments.

"Baseball has fallen on evil ways," he said. "Sometimes there is similar trouble in society. Tradition is wonderful — but only if there is not an albatross hanging around the neck of progress."

"The game has become dull. One reads comparisons between baseball and football. Well, football has been in a state of almost continual change in different ways for 25 years."

Sarcastically, he added, "Baseball has not stood still. It has made two changes. They took the collars off the uniforms and you can't leave your glove on the field now. These are their giant steps of progress."

Relating to the principals, he urged them to "try to get every youth into sports and make them of equal value and merit. Stress individual sports as much as team sports because one can enjoy them for the rest of his life."

"This is an important part of education — how to handle leisure time to the fullest enjoyment. It's an art. This is harder than managing work time because that's all programmed."

In his short talk, Veeck barely skimmed the surface of his vast repertoire of funny stories and what he thinks is wrong with baseball.

But then, if he had related every humorous experience he has had in his illustrious career and outlined every change he feels baseball needs, the speech would still be in progress now.

Head Coach Lives In Arlington

DePaul Cagers Face Tough Schedule

DePaul University announced its 1972-73 basketball schedule, upgrading their calendar by playing perennially tough regional teams from the East, Midwest, South and Far West.

The Blue Demons' tough Midwest opponents include: Marquette, Dayton, Notre Dame, Northwestern and Toledo. Eastern regional powerhouses are Niagara University, Villanova, Duquesne University, St. Bonaventure and Providence.

The Northsiders travel South to play the Fighting Gamecocks from the University of South Carolina and a talented Far West quintet from San Diego will invade Alumni Hall.

Coach Ray Meyer said his Demons will be able to win this year against the top-rated teams because of increased bench strength.

"Our entire squad is back from last year. I expect Mike Gillespie, Nick Hirtzig and Al Burks to do a lot of scoring for us this season. The three of them combined, averaged nearly 50 points a game as juniors last year," the coach added.

"Any one, or all three of those boys could be selected for All-American honors," Meyer said.

Meyer continued with praise for his team saying, "We'll gain the depth we've needed for years from an excellent freshman team that posted a 25 win and one loss record last year."

The sharp shooting and professional ball handling of Greg Boyd and the rebounding ability of Bill Robinson from the freshman team will give the Demons additional scoring depth according to the successful Freshman Coach Joe Meyer, son of the veteran varsity coach.

Young Meyer finished his playing career in 1971 ending as DePaul's fourth all-time scoring leader behind George Mikan, Howie Carl and Jim Lamkin.

The senior Coach Meyer, of 2518 Cedar Glen Dr., Arlington Heights, will be starting his 31st year at De Paul and is now the second winningest coach in college basketball. His record stands at 464 wins and 273 losses.

There is still another angle to the Meyer format. This season Ray's youngest son, Bob, will be playing for the Blue Demons. He's the third in line, following in the footsteps of first Tom, and then Joe. Tom is the head basketball coach at Oak Park High School. Both Joe and Bob live with their father in Arlington Heights.

According to the coaching staff, the Blue Demons will play exciting ball and should earn a bid to a post season tournament.

Incoming Freshmen like All-Staters Andy Pancratz from Hersey High School and Jeff Payne of Suburban Hinsdale Central will be shooting for a berth on the varsity squad.

All Demon home games begin at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Hall, 1011 West Belden Ave. (1 block south of Fullerton at Sheffield) on Chicago's North Side, except the homecoming game Feb. 3d, against Marquette, which begins at 12:30 p.m., in a nationally televised contest.

The Meyermen open the season Nov. 29 and then immediately jump into the initial phase of the arduous schedule Dec. 5, by battling the Northwestern Wildcats at home before departing on their first road trip.

Hawks Qualify For Region Test

Despite the continued absence of one of their top golfers, the Harper College Hawks qualified for the Region IV Tournament in Champaign later this month.

Playing at the Sectional Tournament at Fox Bend Golf Club in Oswego, the Hawks finished in third place with a 324 Tuesday afternoon.

Three strokes ahead of Coach Roger Bechtold's linksters was Skyway Conference sister school Mayfair with 321. However, both SC teams were a ton of strokes behind the league's super team — Lake County. The Lancers turned in a 294 — an amazing total considering the cold (temperatures between 45 and 48) and wind on a very tough course (6600 yards).

Sharing medalist honors was former Arlington High School star Chris Marszalek with an even par 71. With the help of consecutive chip-ins of a birdie and an eagle, Marszalek stayed at par on both sides with splits of 36 and 35.

Lake County teammate Chuck Irons tied Marszalek for first.

Following the third place showing of

Lancer Bob Winter, another former Herald area product from Buffalo Grove, John Hansen had a fifth with 76.

Rounding out the scoring for Harper were Frank Fenton and Scott Persson with 82s and Mike Sutton with 84.

Also qualifying for the regional were four other teams — College of DuPage, Joliet, Elgin and Prairie State.

These sectional qualifiers as well as others from the other two sectionals in the state will converge on the University of Illinois' Orange Course for a 36-hole test on Oct. 27-28.

Fuel Shortages Could Hit Area This Winter

Gas-eating autos, increased demand for "clean" fuel and dwindling supplies are all contributing factors in the oil shortage showing up around the country. As the wintry weather takes hold, the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) has been alerted to watch for serious fuel shortages in Illinois and other heavily populated states.

OEP representative Terry Vangen in Chicago said his office was notified Tuesday of possible fuel shortages in Illinois for the coming heating season. The agency, part of the President's Office, is conducting a survey of area heating firms and oil companies to determine the extent of heating oil supplies.

"There is concern for the coming winter," said Vangen. "In Illinois, there is a possibility of a heating and fuel oil shortage. It will depend greatly on the severity of the winter weather," said Vangen. "Even though there are added natural gas supplies on hand now, the fuel shortage is not just a petroleum problem."

"The important thing to think about is that there is someone on hand to take care of problems such as this," he continued. "If an emergency situation exists, we would call together a field board to recommend action." The field board includes representatives of the Department of the Interior, Department of Transportation, Federal Power Commission, Atomic Energy Commission and other federal agencies as needed. The OEP oversees this board in its function as coordinator of all governmental activities to meet during an emergency or disaster situation.

THE SHORTAGE of heating oil is showing up all over the country, according to Herbert Hugo, Midwest Bureau chief for Platt's Oilgram. The publication furnishes daily reports on the petroleum industry.

One major oil company in Chicago gave notice three weeks ago that contracts with major jobbers (wholesalers) will not be renewed another year," he said. Another oil company doing business in 20 states, including Illinois, is telling jobbers they are on "allocation" until May 31 of next year, Hugo added. He explained that this allocation program is cutting down their supplies by one-third of the amount purchased last year.

Hugo concedes that part of this cut-back is due to oil company efforts in direct sales to customers. Yet he has reports from most major oil companies of a shrinking supply. This is evidenced in gasoline supply terminations for some independent service station dealers and in the lack of diesel fuel in some Midwest areas, Hugo says.

The fuel shortage is hitting at a difficult time as the heating season begins, says Hugo. He attributes the problem to price controls during Phase I and II, and international crude oil shortage, a normal boost in fuel consumption, the reduced efficiency of new automobiles, and the greater use of cars as the economy continues to improve.

"Of course there are also the environmental considerations said Hugo. "There's not nearly enough low sulphur oil to go around." Commonwealth Edison and large industrial users draw on the oil supplies to meet their needs for environmentally acceptable fuels," he said.

Hugo added that last year's relatively mild winter season contrasts sharply with the forecasts for the coming winter weather. Even Mathon Kyriakis, Waukegan restaurant owner and amateur weather forecaster, predicts a long cold winter, he said with a laugh.

"SO FAR we've only heard rumors about a shortage," said a Palatine heating oil supplier this week. The company, which serves several hundred area residential and industrial users, is still accepting new customers. The sales manager declined to give his name however, saying that he might be deluged by calls for service he couldn't meet.

Northern Illinois Gas Co. (NI-Gas) is prepared for the heating season, reported Assistant Vice President Dan Parson. Underground storage supplies have been beefed up to record levels, he said. The company had 106 billion cubic feet of natural gas supplies at the start of last year's heating season, compared to 123 billion cubic feet this year. The firm added 39,000 new customers during this period.

"We can handle any temperature, in meeting the demand," Parson said last week. "It depends more on how long the cold weather lasts though, rather than one specific day." This contrasts with the electric utility peak loads during the summer, usually occurring on one or two days.

Extended Blood Donor Hours Are Set

The hours of drawing donor blood have been extended at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights to help offset an anticipated blood shortage.

The blood bank will be open 14 hours a week, an increase of six hours. It will be open on Tuesday and Thursday from 8 to 11 a.m., 1 to 3 p.m. and 5:45 to 8:45 p.m.

The blood shortage is anticipated because of the Illinois Blood Labeling Act which went into effect on Oct. 1. The legislation requires blood to be labeled either volunteer or purchased. The legislation does not close the commercial blood centers but alerts the public to the greater incidence of diseases that are passed on to the patient through purchased blood.

Purchased blood accounts for an estimated 60 per cent of all blood used in Metropolitan Chicago.

Hopefully the legislation will encourage more volunteer donors to meet the hospital needs and ultimately eliminate the necessity for paid donors.

THE NORTHWEST Community Blood Bank, drawing from volunteer donors, has been able to provide most of the blood required by the hospital. The formation of the North Suburban Cooperative Blood Bank has helped to broaden the base of donors and patients and reduce the imbalance often confronting a single hospital. Rapid intra-hospital distribution greatly reduced the outlying losses previously experienced by a number of nonassociated hospital blood banks.

Appointments to give blood can be made by calling 259-1000 extension 366.

If Tuesday and Thursday are not convenient, a person may donate at the North Suburban Blood Center in Glenview. It is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., Wednesday and Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The center is at 1748 Waukegan Road. The phone number is 724-8513.

Barrington Girl Killed By Brother: Sheriff's Office

BARRINGTON, Ill. (UPI) — A 12-year-old boy Tuesday reportedly admitted slaying a 19-year-old college sophomore at her family's secluded suburban estate. He was arrested and charged with involuntary manslaughter and reckless conduct.

Eileen Gallagher, daughter of a Bell & Howell Co. executive, was found sprawled face down across the bed in her parents' bedroom. She was shot once in the back of the head.

A source in the sheriff's office said the suspect was the slain girl's brother. However, the Lake County state's attorney and sheriff's office refused to identify the boy in custody because he is a juvenile.

Sheriff Orville "Pat" Clavy said the boy broke down under questioning "and orally admitted to me he killed the girl."

Miss Gallagher was shot in the head with a .38 caliber weapon between 4 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. Monday, police said.

Miss Gallagher's body was found shortly before 7 p.m. by her mother, Audrey.

The girl's father, John, was on his way to California when the murder was discovered.

Police said Miss Gallagher was a student at Harper Community College in Palatine.

They speculated she returned home from work, took a shower and went in the master bedroom to do some homework.

There were no signs of a struggle or forced entry, police said. Nothing was taken from the $90,000 home.

Plan Literacy School

An English literacy school for people unable to read, write or speak the language is being organized by the women's organization of Christ Lutheran Church, Palatine, to begin in January.

The Laubach Literacy School will work on a one-to-one basis, with volunteers tutoring pupils individually. Training for volunteers will begin Nov. 6.

Volunteer tutors do not need teaching experience. The tutor training is done by experienced tutors using the Laubach materials and methods. The 15-hour course is divided into six weekly classes, and Marty Lane, a volunteer trainer, will start a morning class on Nov. 6. Baby-sitting will be available. A Tuesday evening session will begin Nov. 7. Classes will be held in Christ Lutheran Church, 41 S. Rohlfing Rd., Palatine.

People interested in becoming tutors or pupils in the program may call Mrs. Curtis Dahlstrom at 359-5689. The January sessions with pupils and tutors will meet twice weekly for 1½ hours.

How About Hazardous Duty Pay--For School Teachers?

by DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the issues that figured in the recent strike of Washington school teachers was a pay raise for police and firemen.

The cops and smoke eaters had received a 17 per cent increase earlier in the year, and the teachers demanded a similar boost, asserting that community status as well as living standards was at stake.

Although the teachers finally settled for 7 per cent, the questions of occupational parity is likely to arise again and again. So I asked Samuel Goodfringe, a labor relations consultant, if one group deserved higher wages than another.

"Absolutely," he replied. "It's a matter of being fairly compensated for job hazards."

"PEOPLE WHO WORK in high crime areas, where they must deal with violence, drug abuse, bomb threats, theft, arson and other types of lawlessness, clearly are entitled to a bonus for bravery."

I said "A policeman's lot is not a happy one."

"Who's talking about policemen?" Goodfringe said. "I was referring to school teachers."

The perils of public school pedagogy nowadays require every bit as much courage as the dangers that lurk about the constabulary, he averred. In support of which he cited a study released last week by a New York commission on education.

The report shows that 45 per cent of the high school students in New York City use drugs; venereal disease in schools has become "clearly epidemic" and rioting, bomb threats, theft, vandalism and gang warfare are increasing sharply.

In the first five months of the 1971-72 school year, there were 440 assaults on New York City teachers, the commission found. "NOT ONLY SHOULD they demand hazardous duty pay," Goodfringe said. "In their next negotiations the teachers should demand that faculty lounges be equipped with insurance machines like those found in airports."

"Additionally, they should insist that the FBI open a teacher academy patterned after the police academy already in operation.

"Teaching is made all the more perilous by the fact that many teachers are poorly trained for combat."

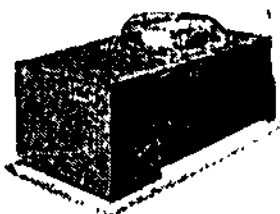

"In cities, they're sending raw, green recruits just barely out of college into the classrooms — young teachers who have never had a shot fired in anger."

"The poor devils don't stand a chance."

If these proposals fail, Goodfringe added, school teaching should be made a part of the Geneva Convention.

Corruption Charges Boring Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

President Nixon and his key aides have met accusations of corruption in the administration with studied silence. The public, by and large, has responded with a stifled yawn.

The administration strategy appears to be to sit tight and let critics try to make a case. The opposition will get no help from an unguarded comment by a top official.

The accusations of political spying, sabotage and favors for political contributions remain largely unproved. As John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's top domestic aide, said Sunday, there "are a lot of charges, not much proof, not any proof."

There are, indeed, a lot of charges. Some of them involve officials as high in the White House councils as Nixon's appointments secretary, Dwight Chapin. Chapin dismissed a report that he was the contact man for attempts to sabotage Democratic candidates by calling it "hearsay."

WHITE HOUSE Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler this week lumped all charges together and dismissed them: "I will not dignify with comment stories based on hearsay, character assassination, innuendo, guilt by association... That is the White House position. That is my position."

When a newsman told Ziegler his statement was not a denial, the press secretary simply repeated it.

Asked at his most recent news conference for his comments on charges of corruption, Nixon changed the focus slightly, referring to Sen. George S. McGovern's claim that this administration was the "most corrupt in history."

"I'm not going to dignify such comments... I think the responsible members of the Democratic Party will be turned off by this kind of campaigning," he said.

It is a fact that a group of men, including at least one person on the payroll of the Nixon campaign committee, were arrested last June inside the Democratic national headquarters in Washington's Watergate building. Nixon denied the "break-in" and denied personal knowledge of it.

"ONE THING that has always puzzled me about it is why anybody would have tried to get anything out of the Watergate," Nixon said. "Be that as it may, that decision having been made at a lower level, with which I had no knowledge, and, as I pointed out..."

At that point the President was interrupted and did not return to that train of thought, saying instead that the FBI had thoroughly investigated the Watergate incident.

It also is a fact that Clarence D. Palmby, a former assistant agriculture secretary, helped negotiate the big grain deal with the Soviet Union then accepted a vice presidency of Continental Grain Co., one of the firms selling large amounts of wheat to the Russians. Palmby denied any wrongdoing.

Nixon said the deal was not final until it was announced so Palmby "would have been very unwise to rely on the possibility that there was going to be a deal until one was made."

The President added: "If he did rely on inside information, he probably, in this instance, came out well. He could have come out the other way."

THE KEY QUESTION of whether Palmby acted unethically changing jobs in the midst of the negotiations was left unanswered.

Nixon's strategy appears to be successful. The corruption charges have not caught on as an election issue. The public appears so far to have relegated the whole thing to the category of hair-splitting squabbles among politicians.

Charges of corruption appear to have lost much of their clout as issues since 1962 when the Republican ticket with Nixon as the vice presidential nominee campaigned on a slogan of no more "Korea, communism and corruption."

Social Security and You

Q—MY HUSBAND is 67 and gets monthly social security retirement payments. I'm 58 and totally disabled. Can I get disability benefits on my husband's work record?

A—No. You are not eligible to receive a wife's benefit until you're 62 unless you have a child in your care who is entitled to cash payments on your husband's work record. But, if you've worked long enough and recently enough, you may be eligible for disability benefits on your own work record if your disability will keep you from working for a year or more. For more information, call the Social Security Administration at 255-7512.

Homes of the Northwest Suburbs

The Pennsylvania Dutch Farmhouse

The picturesque Pennsylvania Dutch Farmhouse is reminiscent of early Eastern New England architecture featuring an imposing style of home that reflects immediate warmth and rugged stability.

Originally conceived by settlers in the rocky Pennsylvania Farmlands, this style is most noted for its generous kitchens, equally spacious cabinet areas and handsome fieldstone fireplace.

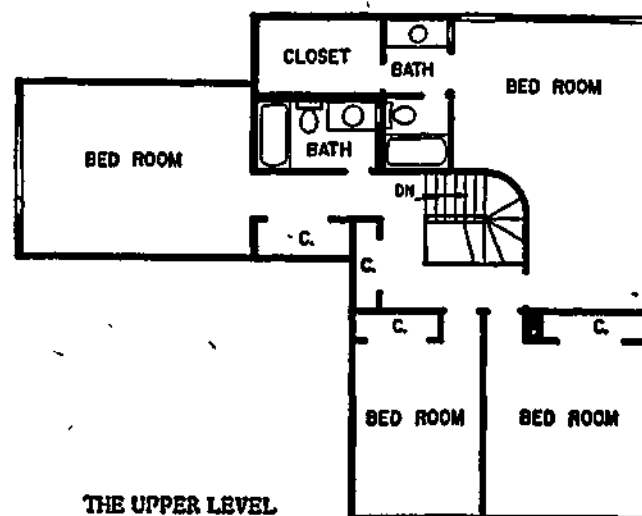

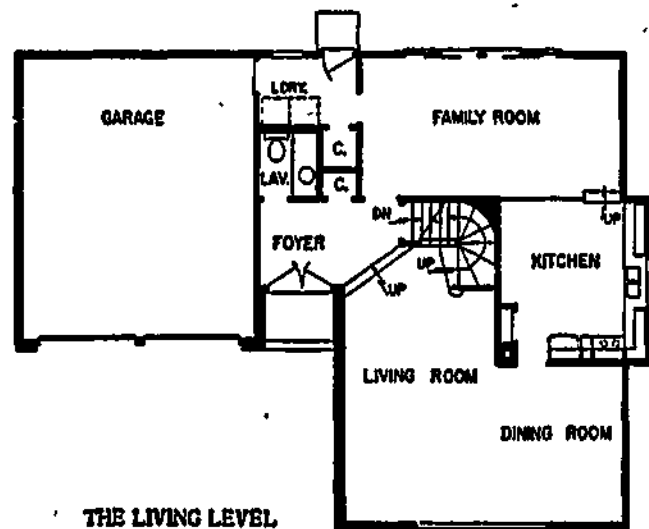

Massive double door entry accommodates many guests and offers central immediate access to the living quarters, usually including a large, well windowed living room for delightful furniture arrangements.

The upstairs is designed to feature a private master bedroom wing with adequate room for lounging & quiet seclusion and the overall harmony of the kitchen and adjoining family room is a favorite for active family living and gracious entertaining.

Rich in style and heritage, the Pennsylvania Dutch home is another of the many elegant styles found in and around Northwest Suburban Chicago.

Herbert Smolinsky, president of the Woodfield Merchants' Association said, "The Lord & Taylor ground-breaking comes on the first anniversary of Woodfield's opening. Charles Siegmann, vice president and managing director /Chicago for Lord & Taylor, said, "We are most pleased to be a part of Woodfield Mall, one of the country's truly outstanding shopping centers, and to be joining other merchants of the stature of Marshall Field, Sears-Roebuck and J. Lord & Taylor's Woodfield store will cover 126,000 square feet on two levels. Fashions for men, women and children and a select collection of household items and gifts will be offered. Fashion will include both designer styles and a selection of better moderately-priced lines.

Plaza Presents New Approach To Consumer

Huntington Commons Plaza, to be located at the intersection of Elmhurst and Golf Rds. in Mount Prospect, is now under construction for its spring, 1973 occupancy.

The 32,000 square feet of shopping space will be divided into two structures, one 75 feet deep and the other 85 feet deep, permitting floor areas sized to the needs of each tenant.

The flexibly-planned shops will all open on a Mediterranean-styled colonnade, surrounding 205 parking spaces in a tastefully landscaped setting. Shop fronts will be customized individually within strict architectural controls, to benefit all tenants.

Huntington Commons' refined shopping atmosphere will contrast sharply with the bustle of other department stores, offering tenants and shoppers a different approach to consumerism.

The Plaza hopes to draw its clientele from Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village.

Gladstone Realtors In New Offices

Gladstone, Realtors Mount Prospect office, the newest link in the fast-growing northwest suburban chain, has just moved into remodeled, increased space at 6 W. Northwest Highway, a few doors away from the office they opened just last May.

"Everything has been completely re-decorated," says manager John Touhy, "from the brand new drapes and carpeting, to the addition of beautiful plants. And we're really prepared for expansion now because in our 1,700 square feet we have complete facilities for 20 salesmen, including 20 spanking new desks."

Gladstone, Realtors also has offices in Elk Grove, Villa Park, Des Plaines, and Franklin Park.

Horseshoe Bend Offers Wide Variety Of Homes

Horse Greeley once admonished "Go West, Young Man" to find fame and fortune — and thousands took his advice. Today "Westward Ho" is heard again along the trails; but with a difference — people are looking toward the West for vacation land, a place of retirement, milder climates, natural unpolluted beauty in field and stream, leisure living, peace and contentment, away from the congestion stresses and strains of the city. Tens of thousands are going.

Such a place — carved out of these ancient beautiful Ozark foothills — Horseshoe Bend, Arkansas on the Strawberry River, is gaining national recognition. A dream of the Pratt Brothers — Bill and Dick — is now a reality.

Located in Izard and Fulton counties, Horseshoe Bend consists of 14,000 acres of the most unspoiled beauty nature could contrive. An abundance of lakes and streams make fishing and water sports a real delight. Hunting is the finest to be found.

The rolling mountains of Horseshoe Bend enhance four delightful seasons. Spring has all the beautiful blooming wild flowers and trees. Summer brings warm sunny days with cool nights ideal for all the outdoor sports and restful sleep. Fall has all the splendor of a kaleidoscope as mother nature presents her flaming Fall Revue.

Winter is mild with an average temperature of 44 degrees and a slight chance of snow for Christmas.

No pollution has reached this virgin country. The sparkling blue water is clear and clean. Fill your lungs with fresh invigorating clean mountain air. Take a hike along woodland trails once roamed by the Caddo and Cherokee. Horseshoe Bend has many recreational facilities to offer you. Play golf on a scenic, challenging P.G.A. approved golf course, swim in the beautiful Club swimming pool, go horseback riding on our famous nature trail. Or use our many waterways for your enjoyment.

Visit Hillhigh Resort and Health Spa in Horseshoe Bend. This newly completed three million dollar spa is the largest and finest in the nation. Here you can enjoy deluxe motel rooms, nutritious low calorie meals, exercise rooms, whirlpool baths, massages, and everything needed to aid you in obtaining a slim trim body and glowing good health.

Beautiful tree shaded building sites for new homes are available with easy access to all facilities of Horseshoe Bend. Build your home for retirement, vacation or a change of residence or select the home of your dreams already here just waiting for you to turn the key and walk in. Horseshoe Bend has a shopping center complete to fill your every need. Churches of all faiths are either within the Horseshoe Bend Community or close by. Two public schools serve the area with buses running through the development. Doctors and hospitals are within minutes away. Horseshoe Bend is a full service community, with all the city conveniences, nestled away from it all in the Ozark foothills.

For those who fly, Horseshoe Bend has a 5,000 foot hard surfaced runway complete with tie down and gas service.

If you're looking for a place to visit or to retire and live, come see this majestic wonderland. There's something here for everyone and we feel there is something here just right for you! You are invited to share this good life for a spell. Come visit with us at Horseshoe Bend — let us prove to you first hand that this is the place you too have dreamed of finding some day.

HORSESHOE BEND has many recreational facilities to offer. Golf is the favorite of everyone on the scenic and challenging P.G.A. approved course.

The Landings Is Chicago's Newest Fly-In Community

With grading of the new fly-in community's 3,000-foot runway bearing completion, a full-time sales office will open Oct. 23 at The Landings, eight miles northwest of Elgin.

The Landings' 160-acre first phase will include 130 homesites on half an acre or more, as well as the hard-surfaced, lighted runway; hangars and grass-covered tie-down areas, fueling facilities and a clubhouse for residents.

Chicagoland's newest fly-in community is being built by Barko Development Corp., of Des Plaines, on Powers Road about two miles northeast of the new Rte. 47-Northwest Tollway interchange.

Black-topping of the runway will begin before the end of the October, depending on the weather.

Use of the runway, as well as hangars and tie-downs, will be limited to home-site owners, who will share also in ownership of the runway.

With many small, private-flying airports closer to Chicago threatened by high taxes, and the fact that land can be sold for high prices for other real estate development, The Landings offers flying enthusiasts an opportunity to own their own facility.

In addition, because it is located outside of the Chicago Terminal Control Area, there are fewer restrictions on pleasure flying.

Site preparation has included lowering of the water table by four feet, to preclude drainage problems; deepening and widening an existing lake on the property and excavating a second lake. Developers also will install a community water system.

When they are completed, clubhouse facilities at The Landings will include swimming and tennis.

Homesite prices start at $14,500.

The Landings' sales office will be open from 10 a.m. till dusk, seven days a week. To reach the community from the Route 47-Northwest Tollway interchange, drive east one mile on Freeman Road (first road north of the interchange), then 1.1 miles north on Powers Road.

THE ABOVE AD won first prize in the annual advertising awards competition. It ran in the Herald's Centennial Edition on Sept. 4.

ROBERT N. MCGUIRE, (center) president of Continental Realtors and John O. McCabe, (right) treasurer, congratulate Clyde W. Nelson, vice president of Kelly, Ketting, Furth, Inc., Chicago, upon his appointment as Continental's marketing communications counsel.

Gladstone, Realtors won first prize in the institutional advertising category in the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers' 28th annual advertising awards competition.

The northwest-west suburban firm has offices in Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village, Franklin Park, and Villa Park. Heading the rapidly growing company are John L. Markay and Vincent J. Bolger.

"We started out 18 years ago in a one-room office in Franklin Park. Our quarters were so small that early clients referred to it as 'the dollhouse.' But a devoted staff and loyal customers who have referred their friends to us are really responsible for our growth," Markay said. "The national recognition is the icing on the cake."

Bolger will accept the award at the National Association of Real Estate Boards' convention in Hawaii in November.

According to the judges of the NIREB contest, there were more entries in the institutional category than in any of the other 10 divisions, making the competition in that area the stiffest. All entries will be exhibited at the convention, where, on Nov. 13, a panel of experts in the graphic arts, public relations, and advertising fields will use the winners as the basis for a panel discussion.

Firm Uses Brain, Braun In Work

"When Dick Braun works - everybody works," says the principal of Kaplan-Braun, Inc., Builders of Diamond Point homes in Mount Prospect.

When he says this he is referring especially to members of his own family who are partly responsible for the fact that the firm's business has tripled in the first half of 1972, with over 30 per cent of home buyers coming from the northwest side of Chicago.

There's Lynn Braun, wife of Dick, who is official color coordinator, interior decorator and part-time saleswoman for Kaplan-Braun. Their daughter Carol concentrates on selling the many features of their four different model homes from among 60 ranches, colonials or bi-levels, with a choice of either three, four or five bedrooms.

There's Chuck Pos, cousin of Dick Braun and general sales manager of the firm, and Dick himself, who is convinced that the reason they are all working so hard is because they really feel they have more to offer.

Last to join the team is Larry Braun who assists his father, Dick Braun, with the office work.

Gladstone's entire advertising and public relations program is handled by Fran Wollack and Associates, Des Plaines firm whose other accounts include both Woodfield and Lakehurst shopping centers.

USING A BEDROOM as a den or study is an indulgence that a family with children can seldom afford. But in a home designed for adult living, for the husband and wife whose children have grown and left for homes of their own, the indulgence becomes realized. Here interior designer Richard Monquest shows what can be done with the 12 by 12-foot third bedroom in The Squire model home in Dartmouth Village in Wheaton.

Bristol Offers Pleasing Balance And Versatility

Newest addition to the model homes currently on display at Benwick — all-residential community on Plum Grove Road, about two miles south of Rt. 72, in Schaumburg — is the "Bristol," an eye-catching raised ranch design.

Outstanding feature of this home is its pleasing balance of design, both exterior and interior — plus unusual versatility in "fitting" most any kind of site.

The Lancer Corporation designers, in developing this model, had the gentle hills and varying sites of Benwick particularly in mind as settings for the "Bristol." It can readily be built against a rising slope, on the flat, or on a laterally uneven lot — all to visual advantage. And, inside, the layout combines the basic advantages of both ranch and bi-level plans.

Entrance to the home is set back into the overhanging upper level, providing protection at top and two sides for the front entry — the latter being reached via a short flight of concrete steps with thinline wrought-iron railing at both sides.

From the mid-level entryway another short flight of stairs brings the visitor to the home's traffic center, at one end of the distributing corridor. The living room is at a front corner of the upper level.

The kitchen-dining area, with appliances, cabinets and work counters in an L-layout at one end, is nearly twenty feet in length. Sliding insulated glass doors open out from the dining area to the patio and rear of the home.

In the opposite area of the main living level of this model, are the three bedrooms and the two baths. Both of the latter feature eye-catching ceramic tiling, with color-matched fixtures and marble-top vanities. The master bedroom has its own private bath.

The lower level of this raised ranch model contains the two-car garage and a work-and-recreation area intended for the convenience and relaxation of family and guests.

Among the construction and finish features of the "Bristol" are: face brick on all sides — aluminum storm windows and screens — gas forced air heat — seal tab roof — drain tile around the foundation — natural wood grain doors and interior trim — wide choice of colors throughout — concrete driveway and sodded front yard and parkway.

Benwick models range upward in price from $39,700. They are open to inspection daily, including Sundays, and are located on Plum Grove Road approximately two miles south of Higgins Road, in Schaumburg.

GE Breaks Ground For Tool Facility

Mayor Roland Meyer and city manager James Watson joined with GE officials, the contractor and the architect as ground was broken in September for an addition to the Carboly Systems Department building at 1500 Hicks Road.

Approximately $1,000,000 is being invested by GE in the addition and its equipment. The 14,000 sq. ft. addition will give GE a total of over 30,000 sq. ft. here. The completed facility will be known as the Midwest Systems Center.

The Carboly Systems Department's primary products are metal cutting tools and accessories and cemented carbide cutters for the metalworking industries. The Department's headquarters is in Detroit.

"In effect, what we are setting up here is a duplicate of the home Carboly office — a sort of mini-Detroit," commented Cleatis A. Beaubien, central region manager. "It will have all of Detroit's capabilities — we can price and quote locally, design, manufacture and install tooling, provide trouble shooting and systems engineering capability and produce our own special forms at Rolling Meadows. The facility places us in a unique position to combine with our area distributors, who offer immediate, off-the-shelf delivery on standard products, and for us to be of total service to Midwestern customers."

When shop operations begin next February, there will be in the vicinity of 80 new positions available to area residents. Total employment will then approach 100 at the systems center.

Located on a three-acre site, the addition will be built onto an existing shop and office facility, and will face Hicks Road. The facility will have over 30,000 sq. ft. of shop space and 10,000 sq. ft. of office space.

Kiendl Construction Co. of Chicago is the general contractor for the addition.

in Rolling Meadows, Illinois, will look on completion early next year.

The architects are Scheidemantel & Treidler of Park Ridge.

Carboly Systems Department is a world leader in standard and specialty tooling, tooling systems, specialty materials and cemented carbide products, including Carboly cutting tool inserts, brazed tools, mining products and wear parts.

Basements Now For Recreation

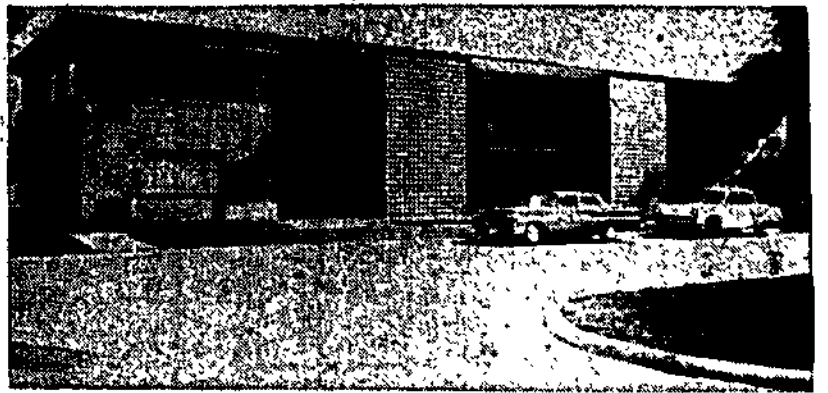

There was a time when the "basement" was where you found the heating plant and an accumulation of useless things that no one wanted to throw away.

Not any more, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau said. Today's so-called basement is more apt to be the family room, utility room or dad's workshop as well as a place for storage.

This means that the basement must be protected at all times against flooding, both for health reasons and to prevent damage to valuable equipment.

The device to do the job is a sump pump or cellar drainer. It's installed in a pit or sump, and when water in the pit reaches a predetermined level, a float switch automatically starts the pump. It continues to operate until all the water has been drained out. Shutoff also is automatic.

Sump pumps come in different types and sizes; in a range of prices. Homeowners should consult a plumbing contractor about the right choice of pump, keeping in mind that it pays to buy maximum protection by purchasing top-quality equipment.

Moving Into New Home, Apartment Is A Chore

The thought of moving to a new apartment or home is always in itself a chore. Builders such as Hollywood Builders, Inc., developer of the Barcelona Condominiums in north suburban Skokie, offer a service that is hard to top.

For instance, the marketing staff can make your move as painless as possible in today's fast-moving living style.

The transition from an apartment or home in Chicago, for example to a luxurious condominium-apartment in the suburbs is always made easier when you have experts on the job, notes Manuel S. Kramer, vice president of Hollywood.

ROBERT E. KIST, young sales manager of Barcelona, understands the housing needs of persons in the middle and upper income groups, Kramer said.

The tax advantages is one area in which the Hollywood staff explains very carefully to buyers — especially those who have been renters.

Owning a condominium is much like owning a single-family home, except you don't have all the chores of home ownership.

Professional maintenance crews take care of all the outside jobs such as mowing the grass and shoveling the snow.

Robert Kist conducts seminars on how to operate the furnace, air conditioning, etc.

There also is a customer relations man who keeps in constant contact with residents. If there is something the new apartment owner has doubts about, he is the person to contact.

These and other services are all explained before a buyer moves in.

BARCELONA OFFERS one, two and three-bedroom apartment homes priced from $31,300.

The buildings themselves offer a Mediterranean mood, with huge arches and old world balconies.

Kitchens are all electric and have self-cleaning ovens, and illuminated ceiling.

The recreation complex boasts saunas and swimming pool. There is heated garage space included.

Model apartments are at 4901 Golf Rd. To reach them take Edens Expressway north, exit Old Orchard and go east one block, then go south on LaVergne to Golf Road. Turn east two blocks to models.

Month after month, year after year, MAP sales figures show continual increases, due mainly to the fact that MAP GETS RESULTS, and results are what home buyers and sellers demand.

When you're ready to sell, talk over the current market situation with a MAP broker in your area and get all the facts on why MAP gets the job done, quickly and conveniently.

NOW'S THE TIME to check your furnace filter in a warm air system, advises Northern Illinois Gas Company. A clogged or dirty filter means poor heat circulation. It's a good idea to turn the fan motor off first.

Many Advantages To Having Your Private Water System

If you're planning to build a new home, don't bypass a choice site just because the area doesn't have a municipal water supply. You can have your own well or private water system.

To many people the idea of a well conjures up visions of a large-diameter hole with a hand pump and moss-covered bucket. The modern private water system isn't as picturesque but it's much more efficient. Basically it consists of a small-diameter well, electric pump, automatic controls for turning the pump on and off and a storage tank.

More than 10 million families depend upon private water systems for their supply. Besides freedom of choice in a building site, the private system offers these advantages:

You have control over your own water supply. You're not subject to rationing due to drought or to living in an area where population growth has outstripped the municipal system's capacity to meet water demand.

The constant high pressure offers an fully installed system enables you to make full use of all your water-using equipment. No rationing of water between the bathroom, kitchen and laundry during times of peak use.

The constant high pressure offers an effective means of fire-fighting, should one break out.

Once the system is installed, all it costs is pennies a day to run the pump. You're not subjected to periodic increases in water bills.

Well water usually tastes fresher than highly treated city water. Where treatment is called for, it's easy.

Med School Grads

Five Arlington Heights residents recently earned degrees from the University of Illinois Medical Center Campus, Chicago.

Richard Faner, 615 Mayfair, received a degree in dentistry; Linda Kay Hawkins, 721 S. Chestnut, received a degree in occupational therapy; Dale G. Knox, 1515 E. Central, and Jerome O. Sugar, 2334 Brandberry, both received degrees in medicine; and Neil A. Wells, 431 S. Waterman, received a degree in pharmacy.

Your Furnace—Is It Winterized?

Some "cool" fall preparations will lead to a warm winter for homeowners, according to Northern Illinois Gas Company.

The pilot light is the first step, says Bill Rittmueller, an advisor on the customer service staff. It is best to have left it on all summer to keep the furnace dry.

If the pilot is out, follow the lighting instructions of the furnace or owners manual. If the furnace still doesn't work, chances are it's the thermocouple, a device that holds the safety valve open. If it fails, it shuts off the pilot and the gas to

Apple Canyon Lake Is Now Nearing Completion

Apple Canyon Lake, the second-home development near Galena, Ill., which has sprung up into a bustling recreational community over the past four years, is nearing completion. Designed by the Branigan Organization, Medinah, Ill., Apple Canyon Lake is expected to be "sold out" by October, according to Robert Kessler, vice president.

"We have a balanced inventory of property — about 500 sites — throughout the project," Kessler said. The lots, which range from one-third acre to one-and-a-half acres, sell for $4,900 on up, with several available on the waterfront. Altogether, Apple Canyon Lake features 2,720 home sites.

Already, 100 homes are up, with 150 families expected to be residing at Apple Canyon Lake, at least on a part-time basis, by the end of the year. About 75 per cent of home owners are from the Chicago area, with the remaining coming from Dubuque, Rockford, Quad Cities and southern Wisconsin areas. Almost 75 per cent of current property owners plan to use their homes as a four-season vacation and weekend retreat. The rest have built permanent homes, either for retirement, or, as their main residence, while commuting to work in nearby communities.

Kessler said business has been exceptionally brisk this summer and attributes a great share of it to the completion of the recreational amenities at Apple Canyon Lake. "During our first year of selling, prospective buyers had to envision a completed lake, golf course, riding stables, and clubhouse," Kessler said. Now, everything is finished including Apple Cove, a small shopping complex and snack bar right on the water. The nine-hole golf course is in full use, two tennis courts, and a permanent campground are in constant use.

THE LAKE, with depths up to 70 feet, was stocked with 450,000 fingerlings two years ago. Now, fishing is reported excellent with residents catching bass up to 10-12 inches in size.

Visitors who make appointments in advance of their lake trip will receive a one-day Apple Canyon Lake membership, entitling them to use the swimming pool, horses, golf course, and all the other amenities during their lake visit.

Tours of Apple Canyon Lake — via water and land — are available daily, from 9 a.m. until dusk, Kessler said. To get to Apple Canyon Lake, take Highway 20 west through Freeport and Stockton and follow the signs. Appointments for one-day memberships can be made by phoning the Chicago suburban office at 279-3100 or the lake office at (815) 584-2231.

THOSE WHO WOULD like to inspect the "Hopkins" or other Quad-Plus homes may visit Fremont Junction seven days a week, from 10 a.m. till dusk. Fremont Junction is located on Lake Street, one-quarter mile east of Barrington Road.

Free Kitchen Appliances Offered

In addition to all of the amazing extras regularly included in the complete purchase price of the "Hopkins" model Quad-Plus homes at Fremont Junction, McKoon Construction is now offering a free Kitchen-Appliance Package to buyers who act before November 1.

The free package includes a refrigerator, dishwasher, washer, dryer and extra laundry room cabinets that are worth nearly $885 at General Electric's suggested retail prices.

Extras regularly included in the complete purchase price of the two-bedroom, two-story "Hopkins" model Quad-Plus homes are: central air conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, private garage, private enclosed patio, thermal barrier windows and screens, custom wood kitchen cabinets, gas range, kitchen hood with fan and master color TV antenna.

Buyers of the "Hopkins" are also invited to take advantage of two heated swimming pools and other recreation facilities that are for owners' use at Fremont Junction.

Add to all those the other advantages that come with owning a new Quad-Plus home — maintenance-free living, more space for indoor and outdoor living, equity, security and privacy — and it is easy to understand why Fremont Junction is the ideal community in which to own a home.

Fremont Junction is located on Lake Street, one-quarter mile east of Barrington Road. Those who would like to inspect the "Hopkins" or other Quad-Plus homes may visit Fremont Junction seven days a week, from 10 a.m. till dusk. To reach the model area, take the Northwest Tollway to Barrington Road, turn south to Lake Street and turn left one-quarter mile to Fremont Junction. Or, take the Eisenhower Expressway to the Lake Street Extension (Route 20), continue five miles past Route 53 and watch for the model area on the right.

McCarthy Gets Credit With Banks

The McCarthy Co., an 86-year-old diversified residential developer, has significantly increased its unsecured line of credit with three commercial banks, W. N. Kennicott, president announced recently.

"These lines of credit, together with existing liquid assets of the company, are adequate to finance our home building operations and anticipated expansion programs for the foreseeable future," Kennicott said.

"As a result, no new equity financing is presently being contemplated," he added. "Accordingly, we can see no dilution of our stock in sight."

Kennicott also announced that the company's Southern California Division has obtained an additional $15,000,000 commitment for take-out loans for purchasers of the company's housing. This, coupled with existing commitments, is adequate to provide consumer financing for the company's Southern California projected sales through September of 1973.

The company's 1972 sales have continued substantially ahead of the 1971 pace, and the third quarter ending Sept. 30 will reflect a significant increase in sales and earnings over the comparable 1971 quarter.

In addition to its operations in Southern California, McCarthy is developing a variety of housing products in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area and the San Francisco Bay area.

CLUB TANGLEWOOD, social and recreational center of Tanglewood Village in Larwin's Greenbrook County, is run by members of the Tanglewood Homeowners Association's social and recreation committee with the help of a full-time recreation director, pool manager, and lifeguard.

Need a chuckle? You can find one every day in "Short Ribs", daily cartoon in the HERALD.

Just like the expensive spreads, only it's $21,990.

Most of the new homes you've been looking at have much higher price tags than what we're asking at Ivy Glen in Palatine. You know it's true.

And maybe you've come away from the others with the idea that you won't get anything — or should we say, anything you'd want — for your money today.

That's only because you haven't seen Ivy Glen yet.

What looks like an $80,000 to $90,000 house in a quiet meadow is a condominium of four of five homes per house, landscaped all around. It's a two-story colonial, or one, with an attached garage for you and room enough in the garage for a small truckload of things besides your car.

Your Ivy Glen home has two bedrooms upstairs and a tiled bath and several closets, including a huge walk-in. And, because the floor above belongs to you, and the walls are engineered to squelch sound, you won't ever have to put up with somebody else's noise.

Downstairs you'll have a large, living-dining area, and a large, complete GE kitchen you'll enjoy cooking in. And everywhere but the kitchen and bath, there's wall-to-wall carpeting and wonderful air conditioning (your very own central system).

As for the hard work of maintenance, there's hardly any. We do all the outside chores, and so you can do the other things on weekends that maybe you've been planning to for years, but haven't had the time to do.

And don't forget the tax deductions you're entitled to as a condominium owner, and the equity build-up you'll have when you go to sell your Ivy Glen home.

Another important thing. We use all high-quality building materials. And still we're able to keep the price at $21,990. Only $1100 down and $153 a month.* And we pay the closing costs.

In your search for a nice home you've probably come to expect nothing for something. Let us finally show you something for next to nothing. See Ivy Glen any day of the week from 10 to 10. We're in Palatine. On Baldwin Rd., north of Dundee (Rt. 68) between Rand and I-53. At 1200 E. Gardenia Lane. (312) 359-9212.

Ivy Glen. Handsome two- and three-bedroom homes from $21,990.

*Loan of $20,890 with 348 monthly payments of 7.78% true interest, reflecting an 8.37% annual percentage rate. Payment includes principal and interest ($152.79) as well as mortgage insurance ($4.34). Condominium fee of $35.00 (est.) and taxes of $30.99 (est.) are extra per month.

Annen & Busse Honors Five Associates

At their sales meeting this week, Annen & Busse, Inc. was proud to recognize Million Dollar Sales achievements and presented awards to five of their sales associates.

These included Manette Christiansen, working with the firm from their Mount Prospect office since 1968, receiving this award for the second consecutive year. She is also a member of the firm's President's Club.

Jane Jackson, also with the firm since 1968, received her 3rd Million Dollar Sales award. She is also a member of the President's Club, working from the Arlington Heights office.

Alan Macdonald, with the Annen & Busse Arlington Heights office since June of last year, achieved this high goal for the first time.

Joe Perkins, in the real estate business since 1967, received his award working from the Mount Prospect office. He is past recipient of this award and is a member of the President's Club. He has retired to Florida since this achievement.

Pearl Dombrowski, with the firm in their Arlington Heights office, has twice received the President's Club award and received her Million Dollar Sales honors for the second time.

Select Windows For Dependability

You may switch to a new house siding, replace a wornout roof, and change the exterior color scheme. But the windows installed in your home when it's built are probably there to stay.

For this reason alone windows should be selected for dependability. It's a quality you'd want in any lifetime companion.

During their long tenure, windows are expected to do a number of tough jobs. They should operate properly, withstand all kinds of weather, and provide good insulation, ventilation and visibility. All this, while looking attractive and needing only minimal care.

James Harris Is Realty Firm Sales Manager

Annen & Busse, Inc. announce the appointment of James O. Harris as sales manager of their Palatine Office, effective immediately. Harris has been with the firm for the past several years and is well acquainted with the personnel, procedure, and principles of Annen & Busse.

Jim, his wife and three children have lived in the Palatine area for 16 years. He is a licensed Real Estate Broker and a professional appraiser. He is a senior member of the American Society of Appraisers and has served the Chicago Chapter of that organization in several major capacities. He is a member of the Masonic Order and an active member at his local church.

Joining Harris in the Palatine office as new sales associates are Nancy Olek and James Kubarich. These added associates will complement the staff working from that office.

Nancy Olek has lived in the northwest suburban area for six years with her husband and one daughter. She is a graduate of San Andres University in Bolivia and speaks five languages fluently. She served for two years as interpreter for the International Relations branch of the UN.

Kubarich is a native Chicagoan and an 18-year resident of the northwest suburbs. He is a graduate of the Washburn Trade School and of the Real Estate Education Corp.

Runaway Bay Is Now Open

Runaway Bay is the newest addition to the northwest suburban rental market. Now being developed by Dell Corporation, the complex contains a unique blend of three-story elevator apartment buildings, smaller two-story six-unit apartment buildings, and two-story three-bedroom rental townhouses.

"Runaway Bay, which opened Oct. 14, offers a way-of-life for practically everyone — the city dweller who is used to the corridors of a plush high rise; the urbanite and suburbanite alike who likes his lifestyle but doesn't want the mortgage, cost, care, or responsibility of a condominium or house," said Robert N. Sklare, Dell's president.

Runaway Bay, with 346 apartments is on Rand Road at Rt. 53, just south of Dundee Road, and is conveniently located near Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, and Palatine.

Included among the amenities under construction are a large, heated swimming pool, a series of lakes, buildings clustered to form neighborhoods, lighted tennis courts, bicycle paths, a tricycle area, and a play area for children.

Included in the complex' recreation center are a teen game room, adult card room, ping pong and billiard room, fireplace, exercise room, and sauna.

Realtors Attend All-Day Seminar

Ed Barth, Bill Danielson and Larry Johnson from the residential sales staff of W. L. Kunkel & Co., Realtors, recently attended an all-day seminar in St. Louis on "Working With Industry and Transferees."

The meeting was sponsored by the National Educational Center of National Multi List Service, a national marketing network of more than 550 Realty offices. Kunkel is the exclusive NMLS affiliate for Des Plaines, Prospect Heights and other northwest suburbs.

Conducting the seminar was Jack L. Bohannon, a member of the board of governors of National Institute of Real Estate Brokers, and past president of the Tulsa Multiple Listing Service.

The meeting concentrated on how more than 6,000 brokers and sales associates of NMLS member firms can provide a strong industry program to assist industry and its transferring employees. Highlighting the meeting was a discussion on how to meet and properly assist the arriving transferees and how to follow up on outgoing and incoming relocating families.

Household Tips

Convenience features in today's homes can save money as well as time. For instance, vinyl-clad Andersen Perma-Shield windows don't need painting. Painting is about the highest upkeep cost homeowners ordinarily incur, and windows generally are the most expensive item on that bill. Welded insulating glass, standard in Perma-Shield units, eliminates the need for separate storm sash.

New Golf Mill State Bank To Offer Conveniences

Construction on the $3 million Golf Mill State Bank building is over 2/3's complete, according to Robert A. Sharpe, bank president, who released a building progress report recently.

Exterior masonry work of brick with cut limestone facia has been completed on the three-story steel frame and drive-up canopy that extends out over six drive-up service lanes.

Drive-up customers will enter the six tollway-type motor banking units from the west side of the building off of Church Street and exit onto Davis Street to the south.

Solar bronze glass and anodized aluminum trim will complete the exterior specifications.

The new building consists of a lower level and three floors above ground. The bank will occupy the lower level and first floor of the building which has a total of 20,000 square feet of space.

On the main banking floor, there will be ten regular stand-up teller windows along with two new sit-down type teller locations where customers can pull up comfortable chairs and conduct their banking business.

In addition, there will be a general lobby area of approximately 3,000 square feet with a personal banking center where customers can discuss their banking matters with specialists.

Two walk-up windows will be open special banking hours at the west end of the main floor lobby foyer.

Facilities in the lower level are to include a customer service area, bookkeeping operations, an employee's lounge and washroom facilities plus storage and utility rooms.

A bank elevator will service traffic from the main floor to the lower level while building traffic will access to the two upper floors through two stair and elevator towers in the building.

The structure has been designed to accommodate a possible ten stories in the future.

Project completion is now set for late this year when a Grand Opening celebration will take place shortly after the move into the new quarters.

Golf Mill State Bank opened for business in the Golf Mill Shopping Center in 1961 and has grown to its present size of $25.5 million in assets.

Home Water System May Be Most Important Appliance

If you're planning to build or buy beyond municipal water mains, your most important home "appliance" might very well be a modern electric water system.

Millions of U.S. homeowners and farm families now enjoy the advantages of having their own private well and electric water system. In 1972, according to the Water Systems Council, more than one million families will install individual wells and water systems, or replace older facilities with modern, efficient systems.

Modern water systems are used to deliver clean, fresh water from underground sources to the point of use in the home. When properly sized and installed, these systems will supply all the water your family needs, with enough pressure to allow the use of several outlets or water-using appliances at the same time.

Basically, an individual water system consists of a compact, high-capacity pump, a pressure tank to store the water, and electrical controls to turn the pump on and off. The working heart of this system is the pump. There are two basic types of pumps, jets and submersibles, both adaptations of the centrifugal pump.

A jet pump — either shallow well or deep well — combines a centrifugal pump and a jet ejector, with the jet acting as a pressure booster, on the same principle as a garden hose with its partially closed nozzle. The submersible pump consists of a pump and motor built together as one slender unit. This unit is attached to the well pipe and placed down in the well casing below the water level. This pump is very efficient and operates down in the well where it can't be heard.

Danger: Flammable Fibers

The Yarns You're Using Could Hurt You

by MONICA WILCH

The U.S. Department of Commerce has refused to set flammability standards for yarn despite indications that some types of yarn are extremely flammable.

In May of this year, a woman in Maine was knitting a child's sweater out of acrylic yarn when she lit a cigarette and dropped the match into an ash tray. A scrap of the yarn in the ash tray ignited instantly and burned furiously, to the woman's amazement and horror.

After several months of questioning by the Herald, the Department of Commerce, one of the agencies charged with protecting the public against flammable materials, conceded that acrylic yarn does burn with an intense flame and "will cause serious burn injury."

But, they have declined to establish regulations that would force a ban of the yarn or a change in its makeup because, they say, no "unreasonable risk" of injury has been proven.

NO APPROPRIATE test method or flammability standard exists for yarn, even though the 1967 amendment to the Flammable Fabrics Act specifically expanded the authority of that law to cover fibers, including retail yarn. The limited investigations that have been conducted were mostly carried out since this spring, when the Maine woman brought her discovery to official attention. In answer to the inquiries of The Herald, the Federal Trade Commission (which enforces the Flammable Fabrics Act) simply subjected the yarn to the standard flammability test established in 1963 for fabrics. The yarn passed with flying colors.

But, an official of the National Bureau of Standards two years ago termed this test "a fairly mild standard," and called flammability standards "practically nonexistent."

"The only criteria used is the 45-degree angle test, which has not been updated since its creation 17 years ago," he said. This test requires that smooth surfaced fabrics take longer than 3½ seconds to burn five inches. He said that "thousands of tests run each year, most fabrics pass."

ACCORDING TO THE Flammability Act, the factors to be taken into consideration in testing are "the ease of ignition, the speed of flame spread, together with visual observation of flame intensity." Using these criteria, and with the assistance of two graduate students of Northwestern University's Technological Institute, The Herald conducted tests of various kinds of yarn.

Admittedly, our test was not fashioned after that of the Bureau of Standards, since the latter employs a gas-fueled flame positioned below the article to be tested. We used a simple match — a hotter flame, but probably closer to the kinds of flames people might actually come into contact with; moreover, according to the graduate students, a match flame does not burn nearly as hot as the tobacco in a cigarette.

First we tested three brands of acrylic yarns — DuPont, Sears and Carson Pirie Scott, each in five-inch lengths. All ignited immediately, burned rapidly (from six seconds in the case of Sears' to 15 seconds for the bulkiest weave, which was Carson's), and, in the judgment of the graduate students, all exhibited a very intense, hot flame.

The next kind tested was crimp set nylon, a kind of yarn used to knit infants' sweaters, coverlets, booties, etc. This yarn appeared to be less volatile and burned with a less intense flame, although it burned rapidly, in 4 to 5 seconds.

FROM THESE man-made fibers, we went to natural fibers — cotton and wool. A blended yarn of 75 per cent rayon and 25 per cent cotton was significantly less volatile than the synthetics, and once ignited, burned slower with a less intense flame.

Least flammable of all was wool. Yarn of 100 per cent virgin wool was slow to ignite and almost immediately extinguished itself. Only after several seconds' exposure to a flame did it begin to burn. Even more significantly, when a knitted swatch of wool and one of acrylic were compared, the knitted wool would not ignite at all, but the acrylic ignited after less than five seconds' exposure and burned quickly and intensely.

Another characteristic of synthetic fibers, pointed out by Blanche Stein of the Chicago office of the FTC, is that even if a flame is not sustained, the yarn melts, and she added, "a hot melt can be as injurious as a flame, but under the present standards this is not covered."

THE SERIOUSNESS of the hazard of flammable fabrics is indicated by HEW statistics showing that from 3,000 to 5,000 persons die each year and 350,000 to 360,000 are injured because their clothing burned. According to Dr. John A. Boswick, Jr., former director of the Burns Unit at Cook County Hospital, the majority of burn injuries are due to and worsened by flammable clothing.

Part of the problem in passing and enforcing up-to-date flammability standards lies in the diffusion of authority. The Flammable Fabrics Act assigns responsibility for developing standards to the Commerce Department, domestic enforcement to the Federal Trade Commission, import enforcement to the Treasury Department and investigative duties to both Commerce and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Moreover, the arduous procedure required for promulgating new standards further delays action: first, notice is published in the Federal Register that a standard "may be needed;" this is followed by 30 days of investigation and comment, after which Commerce concludes either that there is no need for a standard or publishes a proposed one.

Department regulations also guarantee oral hearings during this period to any interested party, which, according to the National Commission on Product Safety, "goes beyond the Administrative Procedure Act . . . and the Flammable Fabrics Act itself."

AFTER THE SECRETARY of Commerce publishes a decision, another 60 days is allowed for petitions for judicial review. And, after the standard is approved, it does not become effective until one year after it is signed.

Yarn appears to be bogged down at stage one of this bureaucratic process. According to Edward B. Finch, assistant director for textiles and furs, the FTC "has urged that (the) flammability standard be amended so as to specifically provide an appropriate method for testing fibrous materials."

Finch said it is the FTC's understanding that "the Department of Commerce, through the National Bureau of Standards, is presently engaged in a revision of (the standard) so as to specifically provide for an appropriate test method for fibrous materials and the flammability standard applicable to hand-knitting yarns and other fibrous products of this nature."

HOWEVER, THIS is not the story the National Bureau of Standards gives. L. James Sharman, acting chief of the Office of Flammable Fabrics of the National Bureau of Standards, told The Herald that "our preliminary investigations do not indicate, at this time, that hand-knitting yarns present the 'unreasonable risk' of injury or death required under the Flammable Fabrics Act before a standard or other regulation can be established."

Sharman noted, nevertheless, that "acrylic yarns . . . will burn and will cause serious burn injury to the individual wearing the items made from these yarns if they burn," and he added that they "burn with a rather intense flame," although as compared to other fibers "they are less easily ignited and are relatively slow burning." The latter statements are somewhat contrary to the findings of The Herald.

Besides the lack of attention given fibers by the agencies implementing the Flammability Act, Congress seems not to be aware of any problem, judging from the reaction of consumer watchdog Benjamin S. Rosenthal (D-N.Y.), who thanked The Herald for "calling this most important matter to my attention" and said he would look into it.

The upshot is that five years after yarn was added to the Flammability Act, there is no method for testing it, no criteria for judging its flammability, and the Bureau of Standards sees no reason to develop a test, much less a standard.

And even if such proceedings began today, it would take a minimum of 16 months to pass a standard. The only alternative for consumers who don't want to risk burn injury is to avoid acrylic yarns and use natural fibers.

Responsible Baby-Sitters Are Trained, Not Born

by HELEN HENNESSY

It's good for a laugh when mom opens the door to a baby-sitter who turns out to be younger than the "baby." But it's only funny on television.

Parents should ask themselves one question before giving their sons or daughters permission to take charge of someone else's youngster. Is my child responsible enough to baby-sit?

Not so long ago you, yourself, were scurrying around for baby-sitters for your little one. And now the same "little one" thinks she is ready to assume the baby-sitting role.

Remember how careful you were in selecting a babysitter? As a responsible parent you should help your own child to become the responsible baby-sitter you would have chosen.

Standing in for parents, even for a short period of time, is a challenging experience. And there are important duties that must be assumed when taking care of children. If your youngsters are in their teens, you may have forgotten infant care techniques and it might be wise to go over some of the basics.

EXTRA CARE IN handling is essential. Baby's bones and muscles are in the early stages of development. Also, if a formula is to be prepared, the ingredients must be in the correct proportions. So it is important for a baby-sitter to be careful and exacting and to understand the formula's preparation.

When babies are awake, they must never be left unguarded. Buttons, pills and other small objects look like tasty treats to a young one. Even while the baby is asleep, an occasional peek is wise.

Caring for children past the infant stage has its challenges, too. As children grow older they become more alert and inquisitive. They like to explore the most amazing places and inevitably get into mischief. It's all too easy for the playpen set to become fascinated with scissors, knives, letter openers, electrical outlets and other potentially dangerous objects.

Children need the opportunity to be independent but they must be watched carefully and handled with tact. Toddlers are often wise beyond their years. Many a young sitter has learned this to her chagrin. Mom may know her toddler's every trick. But the baby-sitter won't and her charge will play the whole bag — or as many as the traffic will bear.

SOME YOUNGSTERS are in diapers until the age of three. Diapering a tot is difficult for a mother and even more trying for an inexperienced baby-sitter. Teach your child how to fold the diaper and hold it away from the child when planning it.

Helping to prevent diaper rash and chafing and keeping baby comfortable are essential aspects of the diapering process. Here are a few hints that should help your child perform the diapering task efficiently.

Make sure the parents tell the sitter where they keep things like baby oil, powder and diapers. The first step in diapering is to clean the baby. Baby oil is an ideal lubricant for this cleaning process. An application of a baby lotion that is easily absorbed into the skin will moisturize, soothe, protect and allow baby powder to glide on easily. Finish the job with a light dusting of baby powder containing petroleum jelly. It's a barrier against wetness.

ACCIDENTS AND illness are not likely to occur. But a baby-sitter must be able to handle an emergency should it arise. Make certain your daughter has the phone numbers of the local police, fire department and pediatrician written down. Before the parents leave the baby-sitter should have the phone numbers where they, or a relative or neighbor, can be reached. And while she is getting that information it's a good time for her to discuss with the parents the rules of the house, such as television time, bedtime and snacks.

Should you wonder if your child is ready to baby-sit, ask yourself whether or not you would leave her in charge if you had an infant or young one. If you have given her the advice and support needed, you are probably confident of her ability.

And, as an extra advantage, let her know that you are only a phone call away and will gladly offer any help or support she needs.

BAR TICKET SALES helped swell proceeds of the Clearbrook Brunch to more than $12,000, all of which goes to Clearbrook Center for the Retarded in Rolling Meadows and its workshop in Elk Grove. Arriving at the Jimmy Durante Room of Arlington Park Towers, Marilyn Hadley purchased tickets from Mrs. William McAllister, seated, as Mrs. Donald Van Gorp, ticket chairman, and Mrs. Walter Kinks welcomed him. Huge proceeds from Sunday's brunch were made possible thanks to "angels" Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Clara, Arlington Heights, who underwrote the expenses.

AS ELECTION day approaches, one issue that ought not be overlooked in sizing up candidates is the consumer issue.

As far as the No. 1 political race is concerned, President Nixon has not exactly been the consumer's best friend.

The Republican National Committee, in its campaign literature, seeks to convince the consumer that the President is on his side by listing the consumer legislation he has proposed — a grand total of three bills.

One is the Fair Warranty Disclosure Act, which actually was proposed in Congress by Sen. Warren Magnuson and Rep. John E. Moes, both Democrats.

A second proposal is the Consumer Product Safety Act, under which the Secretary of HEW, (Health, Education and Welfare) would establish standards for such items as infant furniture. Another version of this bill, which would have created an agency independent of executive control to oversee product safety, was opposed by the administration.

The third Nixon bill is a Consumer Fraud Prevention Act "to regulate unscrupulous sales techniques." This is a job already being done by most state governments (including Illinois), and which probably is better left in the hands of the states.

ON THE OTHER side of the coin, the Nixon Administration has chalked up quite a track record in opposing consumer legislation.

At this writing, a bill to establish a consumer protection agency is being stalled in the Senate by an administration filibuster (which probably will kill the bill for this session). The administration supports the House version of the bill, which would eliminate grants to states for consumer protection services, prevent participation by the agency on behalf of consumers in legal proceedings, and eliminate a policy-making council of consumer advisers. With these changes, the bill is worthless.

Another important area of consumer legislation is that of flammability standards. As many as 5,000 deaths and 250,000 injuries result each year from burning fabrics. But Sen. Magnuson revealed last week that the Nixon Administration "promised to postpone federal flammability regulations for carpeting in order to get campaign contributions of $94,500 from a manufacturer on behalf of the industry."

GOING BACK further in the history of this administration, the Justice Department two years ago launched a successful battle against what would have been landmark consumer legislation — a bill that would have enabled consumers to sue allegedly dishonest businesses. The bill was also opposed by the National Association of Manufacturers and the Grocery Manufacturers of America. In its place, the administration proposed a bill that would severely limit class action suits and the powers of the Federal Trade Commission, and would eliminate criminal penalties for businessmen found guilty of fraud.

Other non-favors to the consumer:

• THE NIXON appointees to the Supreme Court tipped the scales in favor of the Standard Oil Co. of California in a price-fixing suit brought by the state of Hawaii. The decision broke a string of precedents favoring plaintiffs against large corporations.

• THE DEPARTMENT of Agriculture tarried long in banning the use of cancer-inducing DES in cattle feed when cattlemen objected. This prompted an inquiry by Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.).

• THE ADMINISTRATION favors weakening the provisions of the Delaney Amendment to the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, which forbids any cancer-causing substance to be used in food.

• NO-FAULT INSURANCE, which was recommended by the Department of Transportation in 1970, would reduce the disparity between the $14 billion insurance premiums paid by consumers and the $7 billion they receive in claims. The White House and the insurance industry succeeded in killing the bill for this session of Congress.

• THE TRUTH in Advertising Act, which was introduced by Mr. Nixon's opponent, Sen. McGovern, would require advertisers to document the safety and performance of products. The administration opposes this bill, saying that the FTC already has a program for advertising substantiation. But, with a limited staff, the FTC has in nine months asked for substantiation from only six industries (30 per cent of this substantiation proved to be inadequate). Moreover, the FTC has no jurisdiction over companies that do not advertise nationally.

• A SENATE study revealed that auto repairs cost consumers an unnecessary $10 billion annually, and Sen. Philip Hart (D-Mich.) has introduced legislation calling for performance standards for cars, inspection stations, and licensing of auto repair shops. The Nixon Administration opposes this bill as "not in the public interest."

The consumer is paying 10 per cent more in July 1972 for his food than he did in July 1971, and the price of bread is expected to go up still more following the U.S.-Soviet grain deal. According to the Agribusiness Accountability Project, a public interest research group, the Nixon Administration capitulated to big grain exporters at the expense of consumers and small farmers in this deal.

(Note: Next week's column will discuss the Democratic record on consumer issues.)

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

There are times when the men have a very good point in sneering about the feminine slavishness to style. Take the new clog shoes that have orthopedic specialists trying to keep pace with the accidents caused by these strange creations with no heel.

Part one has to do with the nurse — a bright, intelligent woman — who was wearing them. Made some comment about the story I'd seen about them. She agreed, said she knew how dangerous they were, but weren't they "cute"? Anyway, she wore them only on level ground, never attempting stairs.

Part two has to do with my niece. I told the story to her. She laughed and said she had some, too. She knew they were dangerous, but they were "all the rage" so she just had to have a pair, too. Go ahead, men. You probably can say it better than I can anyway.

Dear Dorothy: You recently answered a reader who wanted to know if a certain cream she was contemplating using to remove wrinkles would be harmful. If you couldn't give her a more complete answer than you did, publishing it was valueless. Why couldn't you suggest she contact the FDA, the Consumer Protection Agency or even her family physician? — Jean B. Pillemer

Yours right. I bobbled that one.

Dear Dorothy: Noticed your piece on pinwheels being used to keep away moles. Thought you'd be interested in our experience. Visiting a friend we noticed plastic pinwheels stuck in various spots in the lawn. We were a bit surprised as we knew they had no children. On questioning, we found that these pinwheels by vibrating the ground under which were some mole runways had completed driven them away. — Mrs. R. C. Ferrell

It's moving day for all tender bulbs and plants that still haven't been brought indoors for the winter!

So very many people enjoy holding on to their plants over the winter or starting new ones that I thought I'd outline several propagating tricks.

Did you know that those lovely amaryllis bulbs for which you pay $4 or $5 apiece can be increased by bulb cuttings?

This method of propagation is not too well known among gardeners, but offers a free, swift way of increasing your stock.

Do it this way: Quarter a large, mature bulb lengthwise. Divide each quarter into two or more wedges, being careful to include a part of the bottom (or basal plate) of the bulb. Cut each wedge further by slipping a knife down between every third or fourth fleshy scale and slice through to the basal plate.

EACH SLIVER will form another bulb. Plant the slivers vertically, with the lower halves buried and upper part in the air, in flat containing a mix of peat moss and sand. When roots form in a few weeks or a few months (at most), repot the slices individually in a peaty, sandy soil.

Want to make more begonias? Don't wait for frost to cut down the foliage.

Lift the whole plant, check for bulblets on the bottom that can be repotted. If there are none, select a stem with three leaves, cut it and root it in a pot of damp vermiculite.

Break off the stem of the begonia at the base of the bulb, wash the bulb free of soil and discard the stem portion. Let the bulb dry in the garage, and finally store all the bulbs in a cardboard box filled with dry vermiculite in a cool, frost-free spot.

Some people just put gladioli away in paper bags, only to find out in spring that the bulbs have shriveled or been eaten up by thrips.

SO HANDLE gladioli similar to the begonias, pulling up the entire plant, tossing it in the garage to dry out the foliage. When dry, remove baby cornicles (spawns) for repotting. They will bloom in two years. Cut off the foliage right down to the corm, remove soil from the bulbs, dry and store as for begonias in dry vermiculite.

Impatiens saved over winter can be snipped and rooted in pots of wet perlite (or vermiculite). Give them sun, 60-degree room temperature and high humidity. If your kitchen faces south, the sill over the sink is the perfect spot.

We discussed geraniums here several weeks ago, but want to mention to be sure you make geranium cuttings squarely across the stem just beneath a node or joint on the stem where a leaf was produced. Remember to remove lower leaves and spent blossoms from the geranium to avoid sapping strength away from root growth.

Don't try to root tuberous begonias or geranium clips in a glass of water. You could be tempting your luck in favor of stem rot instead of stem root.

BUFFET TABLES were laden with luscious gourmet foods Sunday at the ninth annual Clearbrook Brunch. The 25-member Friends of Clearbrook sponsored the benefit which entertained over 600 guests. Sampling the brunch fare are Mrs. Donald Galligan, chairman Mrs. Robert Drake Jr. and her co-chairman, Mrs. Ned Shanahan.

Flavor Affinities- Apples and Cheese

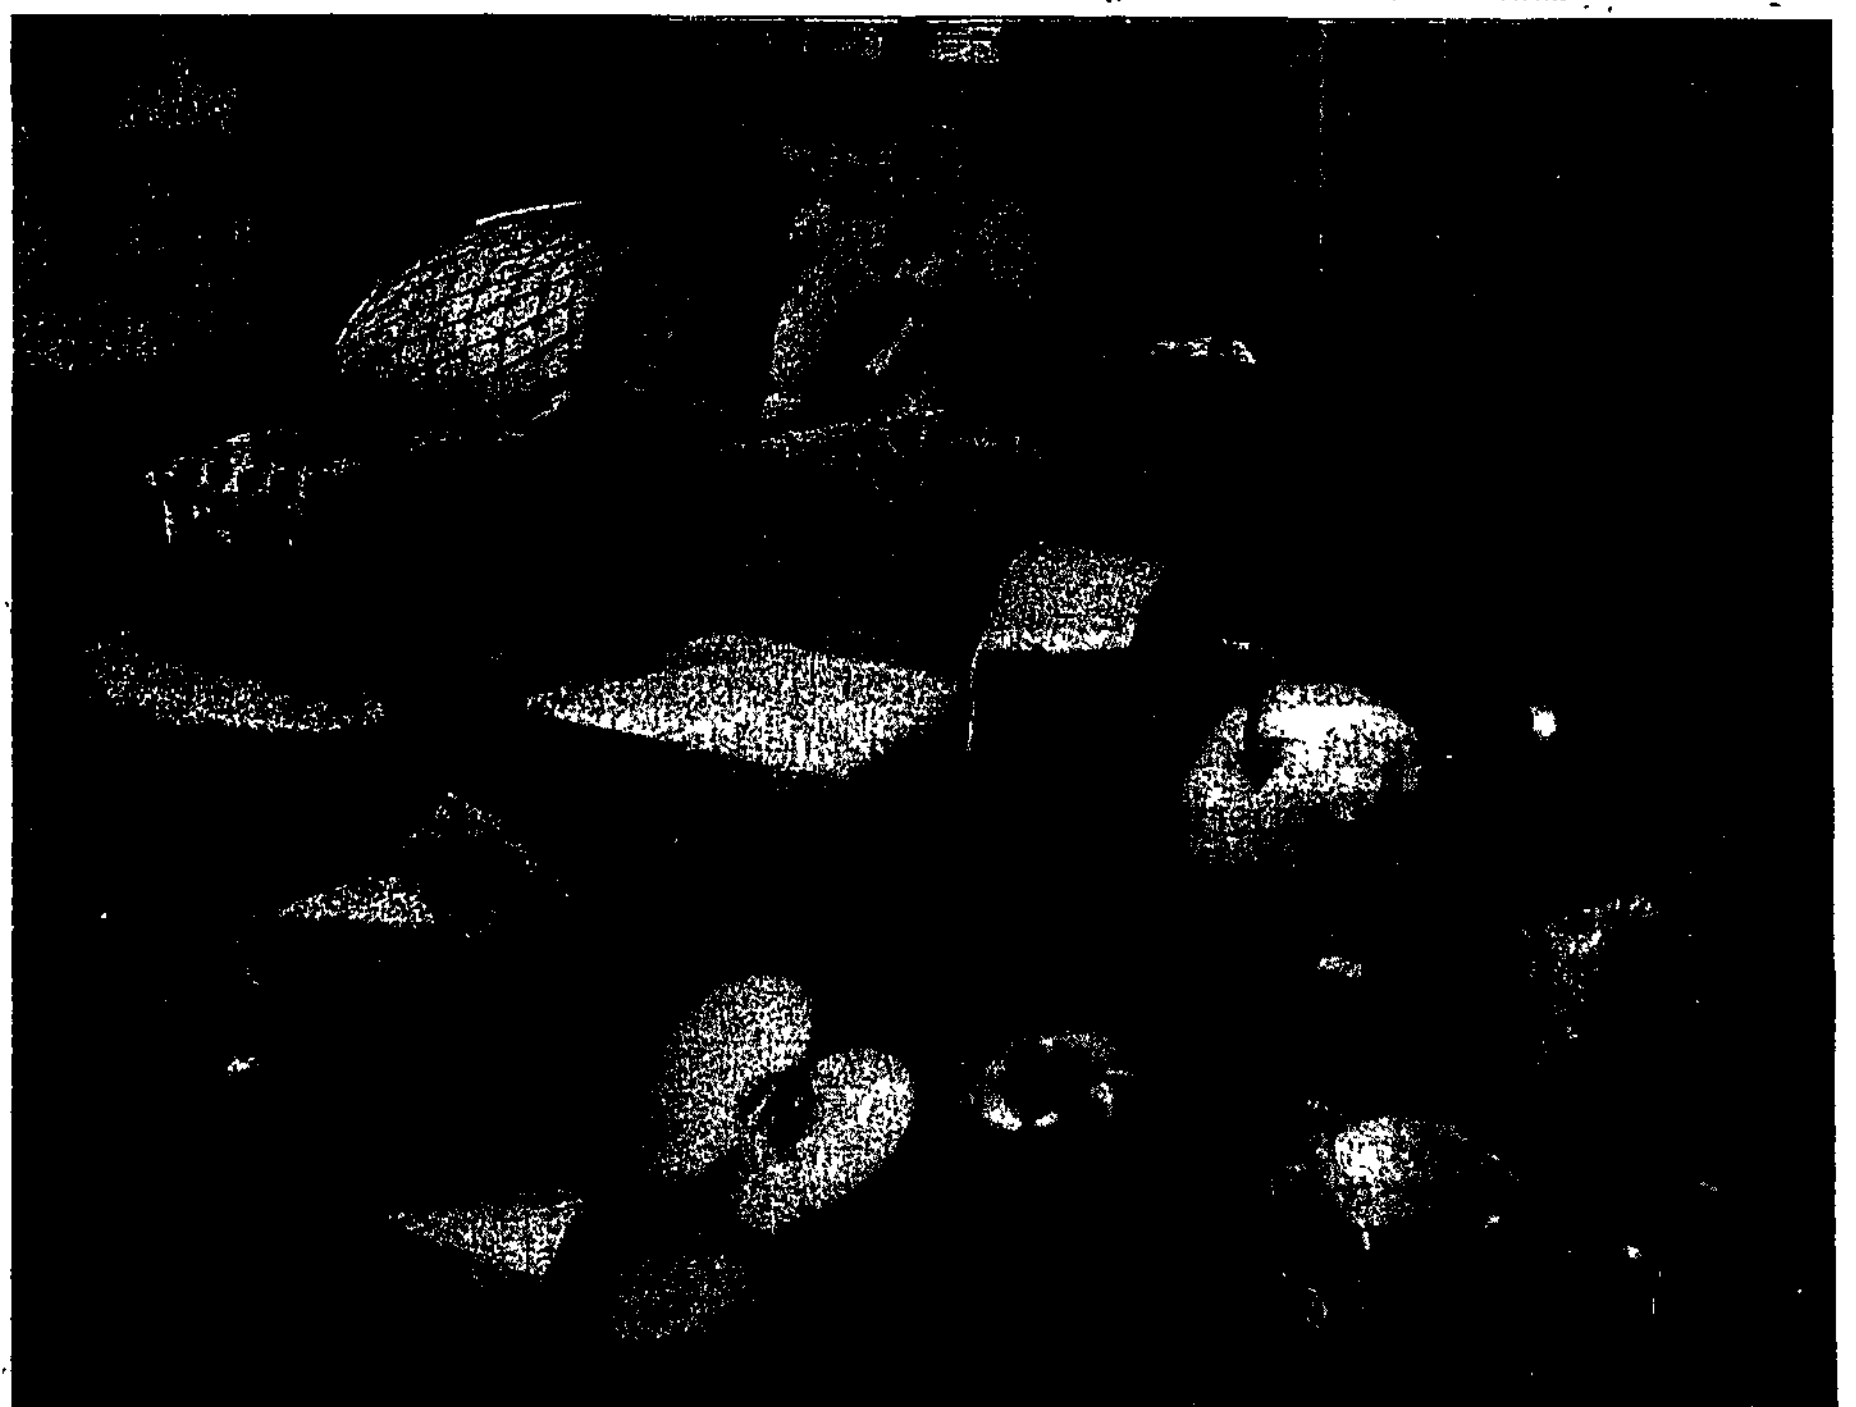

One of the best ways to serve apples for dessert is also one of the simplest — based on the continental tradition of serving fruit and cheese at the end of a meal. Apples, above all fruits, are the perfect affinity for cheese. Their tart-sweet flavor and crisp texture complement the mellow taste and smooth consistency of cheese.

Keep the apples in the refrigerator until serving time, then polish them to a glowing sheen. Provide each person with a dessert plate and a sharp fruit knife. Cut the cheese into serving size pieces unless it is purchased in individual portions. If the cheese is a soft variety, provide a butter knife to spread it on the apple slices.

Combinations are unlimited, but as a starter here are several combinations that are especially appealing:

Apples	Cheese
McIntosh	Sharp Cheddar
Red Delicious	Provalone
Golden Delicious	Camembert or Brie
Stayman	Blue or Roquefort
Jonathan	Gruyere
Northern Spy	Cream or Old English Cheese Spread
Winesap	Muenster
*Yellow Newtown	Swiss
*Gravenstein	Gouda
*York Imperial	Brick
*Rome Beauty	Cottage cheese with chives

*While these varieties are primarily used for cooking, many people enjoy their tart flavor when they are served with cheese.

Mrs. Greg Insolia

From Gadgets To International Cuisine

by LOIS SEILER

Kitchen gadgetry captivated the fancy of Lynn Insolia and was responsible for stimulating her interest in international cuisine.

Upon graduation from college, Lynn moved into an apartment in Evanston where she worked and began to frequent a fascinating shop featuring all types of gourmet cookware. The unique utensils aroused her curiosity and she began to investigate what could be made in them and with them. Before long she had acquired an impressive array of cookware and an equally interesting assortment of recipes.

Since her marriage, Lynn has concentrated on gourmet dishes which her husband, Greg, appreciates as much as she.

One of Lynn's specialties is an elegant Italian dish called Cannelloni. Her method of preparing this is a compilation of several recipes — from a friend, a cookbook and Greg's Italian grandmother. The real test came when she served it to Greg's grandmother and it met with her hearty approval.

Cannelloni consists basically of pasta tubes which are filled with a flavorful meat and spinach mixture and baked in a savory tomato and cream sauce.

Lynn prefers making her own pasta because she feels it is more tender and thinner than the commercial variety. However, if time doesn't permit, manicolli-cannelloni tubes may be purchased.

"The main difference is that the home-made pasta is paper thin and easier to work with, while the cannelloni tubes tend to fall apart if they are the least bit overcooked, or to taste like rubber if they are undercooked," Lynn explained.

The dish is time consuming to prepare, but has the appealing feature that it can be made a day ahead.

"In fact, it is best made the day before for the flavors to meld and for the cook to be able to relax and appreciate her own efforts," Lynn said. However, she has become so adept in its preparation that she no longer considers the process lengthy.

"The recipe looks long and complicated," she remarked, "and the first time is the hardest. But each successive time you make it, it's easier. And once you taste it, you'll be rewarded for your effort."

A FEW COOKING tips from Lynn: she usually chops her vegetables in a blender with a little water, then drains them; this saves time. She likes to use a French rolling pin for the pasta because it is easier to control, and she prefers enamel-coated cast iron cookware because it heats evenly and all sauces turn out better.

Because the cannelloni is rich and hearty, Lynn recommends simple accompaniments: a green salad with sliced raw zucchini and tomatoes tossed with a vinegar and oil dressing seasoned with basil and oregano, and French bread with butter. For dessert she suggests sherbet or spumoni or fresh fruit, such as apples and grapes.

Another of this competent cook's specialties is a French recipe for filled crepes (pancakes.) The batter is easily made in a blender and after the crepes are cooked, they are filled with delicious mushroom, smoked ham and cheese mixture, and covered with a rich cream sauce.

Baked for a mere 15 minutes, the Crepes Fourrees Gratinées are impressive fare for a Sunday brunch. Lynn accompanies this dish with an easily-made broccoli casserole.

SHE COOKS A package of frozen chopped broccoli, drains it well, sprinkles on lemon juice and combines it with a can of mushroom soup mixed with about 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. French fried onion rings or Parmesan cheese can be used as a topping, and the casserole is heated in the oven along with the crepes. A bowl of fresh fruit tops off the menu.

Artistic by nature, Lynn's culinary masterpieces always look as appealing as they taste, and she is adept in the use of garnishes to dress up a dish.

Having majored in art at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Lynn paints with oils and watercolors, does sculpturing and designs and sews her own clothes.

She and Greg and their baby son Chet, 6 months old, recently moved into an old farmhouse in Des Plaines which they remodeled. Here, too, Lynn put her talent to work, decorating their home and painting murals on the dining room walls.

CANNELLONI

Pasta dough:

1½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 egg
1 egg white
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
Few drops water

Put the flour into a large bowl or heap on a pastry board. Make a well in the center and add remaining ingredients. Mix together with a fork or your fingers until the dough can be gathered into a rough ball.

Knead dough on a floured board, working in a little extra flour if dough is too sticky. Wait ten minutes; the dough should be smooth, shiny and elastic. Wrap in waxed paper and wait at least ten minutes before rolling.

Divide dough into two balls, rolling them out, one at a time. Place one on floured board or pastry cloth and flatten with palm of your hand into an oblong about one inch thick. Dust top lightly with flour. Using a heavy rolling pin, start at one end of the oblong and roll it out lengthwise away from you to within an inch or so of the farthest edge of dough. Turn dough crosswise and roll across its width. Repeat, turning and rolling the dough, until it is paper thin. If at any point the dough becomes sticky, lift it carefully and dash with more flour.

Cut pasta into about 36 rectangles of 2 by 3-inches. Bring 6 to 8 quarts of water, 1 tablespoon salt and 1 tablespoon cooking oil to a boil. Use a large soup kettle over high heat to keep water boiling continuously. Drop pasta into boiling water, stirring gently with a wooden spoon. Return water to a boil, stirring occasionally, for five minutes or until pasta is tender but not soft. Drain, cool slightly, then spread pasta pieces side by side on a paper towel to dry.

(If you don't have time to make your own pasta, manicolli-cannelloni tubes can be purchased in boxes at most grocery stores. Cook according to package directions.)

Tomato Sauce:

4 tablespoons olive oil
1½ cups finely-chopped sweet onions (purple onions are great)
4 cups fresh, peeled tomatoes (or 1 lb. can tomatoes)
8 tablespoons tomato paste
2½ tablespoons finely cut fresh basil or 1¼ tablespoons dried basil
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Heat oil; cook onions until they are soft. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer over low heat, stirring occasionally. Add a little water if too thick. Press sauce through a fine sieve into a bowl. Makes 3 cups.

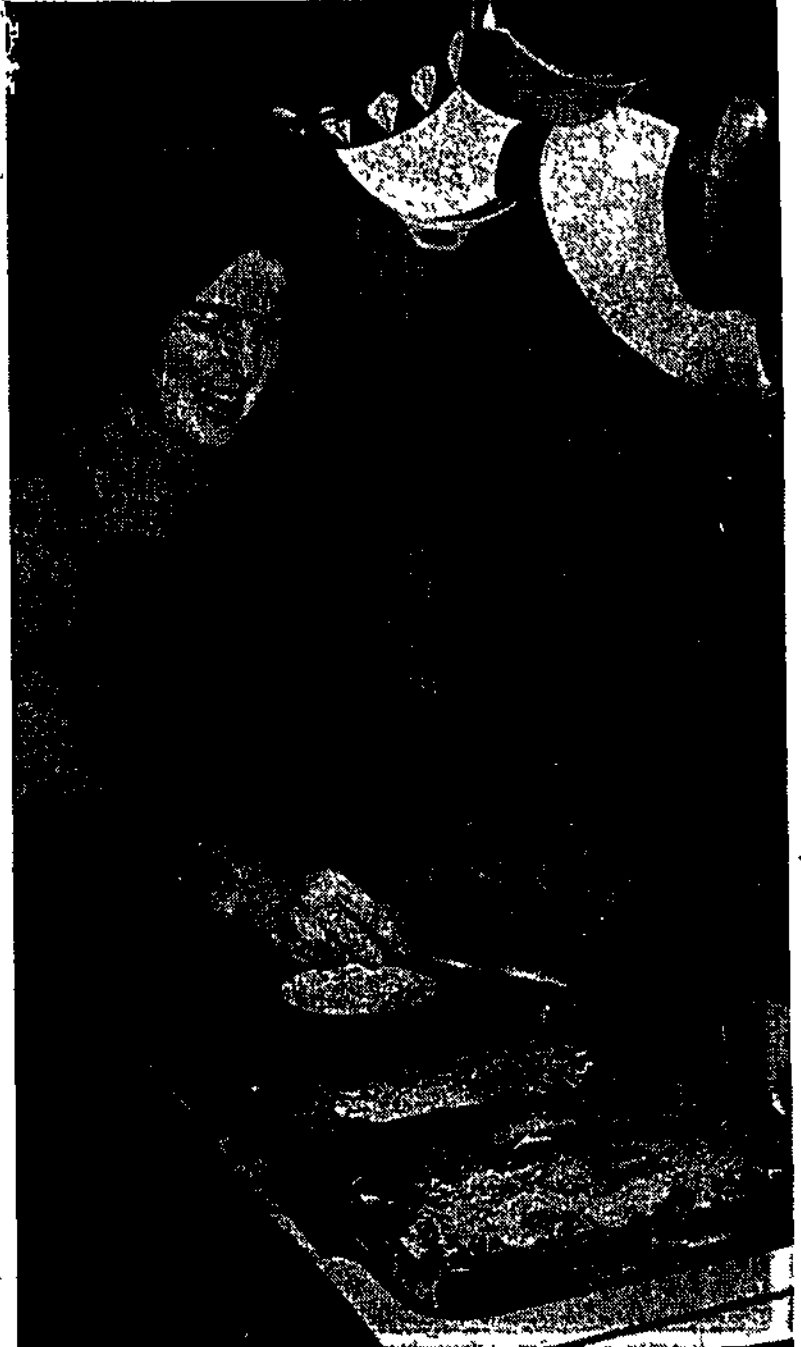

Filling:

2 tablespoons olive oil
½ cup finely-chopped onion
1 teaspoon chopped garlic
4 tablespoons butter
1 10-ounce package frozen chopped spinach, defrosted 1½ pounds ground round steak or 1½ cups ground leftover beef
6 chicken livers
½ cup freshly-grated imported Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons heavy cream
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 teaspoon dried oregano
Salt and freshly-ground pepper

Heat olive oil in a small skillet. Add onions and garlic and cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until they are soft but not brown, about 5 to 7 minutes.

Squeeze spinach completely dry and chop again. Stir into onions and garlic, stirring continually with a wooden spoon until spinach begins to lightly stick to pan and all the moisture is cooked away. Transfer to a large mixing bowl.

Add 3 tablespoons butter to same pan

A FASCINATION for kitchen gadgets sparked Mrs. Greg Insolia's interest in the culinary arts. One of her specialties is an Italian dish called Cannelloni. Mrs. Insolia begins by making her own pasta tubes. She then prepares a meat and spinach mixture for filling tube. The pasta is then baked in a savory tomato sauce and topped with cheese.

and melt; add meat, stirring and breaking any lumps so that it has a fine consistency. When cooked, add to onion and spinach mixture.

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in pan and brown livers until they become firm but still lightly pink inside. Chop coarsely, remove from pan and add to mixture in bowl. Add 5 tablespoons cheese, eggs, oregano and seasonings; stir to blend ingredients together. Set aside.

Besciamella (white sauce):

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Melt butter in a saucepan; remove from heat and stir in flour. Add milk and cream and whisk constantly with a wire whisk over high heat until sauce comes

Assembling and baking the Cannelloni:

Place 1½ tablespoons of meat filling on the bottom third of pasta rectangles along 3-inch side. (If you are using commercially-made pasta tubes, stuff each tube with this amount.) Roll up each rectangle.

Pour a thin film of the tomato sauce on the bottom of two 10 by 14-inch baking dishes. Lay the cannelloni side by side in the sauce.

Pour the besciamella (white sauce) over the cannelloni making a thick ribbon from one end to the other. Spoon the remaining tomato sauce on top. Sprinkle with remaining 3 tablespoons Parmesan

It's helpful to have a few quantity recipes in the file for occasions when you have a large number of guests. Better yet, these allow advance preparation and turning over of final cooking to someone while you greet.

Chick'n'Cheese will meet the foregoing requirements.

Cut 3 frying chickens into serving pieces — you'll get 27, saving necks and giblets for another purpose. Wash, pat dry and refrigerate. Preparatory to cooking, mix together ¼ cup (about 4 large) eggs, slightly beaten, 1 pint milk and 1½ teaspoons Tabasco.

In another bowl blend together 1½ cups flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup of grated Parmesan cheese, 1½ tablespoons parsley flakes, 1½ tablespoons oregano, and 1 tablespoon monosodium glutamate.

When ready, heat oil or shortening in deep fryer to 385 degrees. Dip chicken pieces in milk mixture then roll in the dry mixture until thoroughly coated. Allow coating to set a few minutes before frying 11 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. You'll find it best not to crowd the deep fryer because of the variation in temperature of the oil. Good french frying depends on oven heat. Pieces which have been fried can be held in a warm oven.

INCIDENTALLY, I learned from Canadian fishing guides a method which helps prevent greasiness in deep-fried foods. When frying is completed, place the product on slices of bread to drain and keep hot.

A colorful accompaniment for the chicken would be this garden fresh salad, a winner in a national pasta recipe contest. Adapted to serve 25, it is prepared this way.

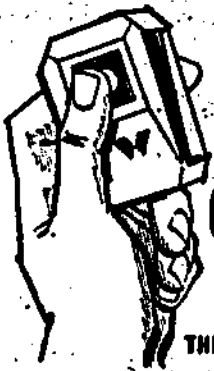

In a large kettle bring about 1 gallon water mixed with 2 tablespoons salt to a boil and cook 1½ pounds durum macaroni rings until tender but still firm (about 5 minutes). Rinse with cold water and drain.

Cook 2½ pounds (4 packages of 12 ounces) of frozen mixed vegetables according to package directions, rinse with cold water and drain. Blend together 1½ pounds diced Cheddar cheese, 1 quart mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon onion salt, 1½ teaspoons freshly ground black pepper. Gently but thoroughly mix with the vegetables and the pasta. Chill well before serving on a bed of lettuce on large salad trays.

Artichokes Bring Winter's Kiss

California is famous for sun-kissed fruits and vegetables, but the state also produces a fine "winter-kissed" vegetable... the artichoke.

"Winter-kissed" artichokes are easily identified by light brown markings on the outer leaves. This is caused by cooler weather conditions in the fertile fields of California's Monterey Peninsula, where most of the nation's artichokes are grown.

The frost matures the artichoke slowly, and enhances the delicate flavor. Gourmets consider "winter-kissed" artichokes to be premium fare.

When buying fresh artichokes, pick firm, solid heads, with compact leaves. To store, put them, unwashed, in a plastic bag and refrigerate. They will keep from two to three weeks.

An interesting but easy recipe is this one for Artichokes with California Vegetable Chop. The artichokes are cooked, and then stuffed with a pleasing combination of chopped green peppers, carrots, celery, mushrooms and onions.

ARTICHOKES WITH CALIFORNIA VEGETABLE CHOP

- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 2 carrots, finely chopped
- 2 ribs of celery, finely chopped
- 1 pound mushrooms, chopped
- 2 large onions, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 cup fresh bread crumbs

- 4 eggs, beaten
- Salt and pepper
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 8 medium artichokes, prepared as directed for stuffing

Combine all ingredients except artichokes. Mix well. Spoon into prepared artichokes. Stand in shallow casserole and pour in boiling water to a depth of 1 inch. Cover tightly and bake in 350 degrees oven 30 minutes or until vegetables are done. Makes 8 servings.

SEASONED LEMON BUTTER SAUCE FOR ARTICHOKES

Melt 1/2 cup (8 ounces) butter or margarine in saucepan over low heat; add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt, dash pepper and 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Stir mixture constantly for several minutes until hot and blended. Serve immediately with 8 hot artichokes, prepared as directed. Makes 8 servings.

BASIC DIRECTIONS FOR COOKING ARTICHOKES

To prepare artichokes: Wash artichokes. Cut off stems at base and remove small bottom leaves. If desired, trim tips of leaves and cut off about 1 inch from top of artichokes. Stand artichokes upright in deep saucepan large enough to hold snugly. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt for each artichoke and 2 to 3 inches boiling water. Cover and boil gently 35 to 45 minutes or until base can be pierced easily with fork. (Add a little more boiling water if needed.) Turn artichokes upside down to drain. If artichokes are to be stuffed, gently spread leaves and remove choke (this is portion) from center of artichokes with metal spoon.

cheese. Dot with a few pats of butter. Bake, uncovered, in a 375 degree oven for 20 minutes or until sauce is bubbling and cheese is melted. Then place under hot broiler for a half-minute to brown top. Serve directly from baking dish. Serves 6 to 8.

Note: the pasta can be pre-cooked and stored in the refrigerator between layers of waxed paper. Or you can prepare the dish the day before and store in the refrigerator covered with foil.

CREPES FOURREES GRATINEES (Filled French Pancakes)

Crepes:

- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted and cooled

3 tablespoons melted butter combined with 1 tablespoon vegetable oil

Combine flour, eggs, milk, water, salt and butter in a blender or electric mixer. Blend or beat at high speed for a few seconds. Scrape down sides and blend again. The batter should be the consistency of heavy cream. If too thick, dilute with a little water. Refrigerate batter for an hour.

Heat a 6-inch crepe pan or skillet over high heat. With a pastry brush, lightly grease pan with butter-oil combination. Using a small ladle, pour 2 tablespoons of batter into pan. Tip pan so batter quickly covers the bottom; pour off excess. The finished crepe should be paper thin.

Cook crepe for one minute; flip over and cook other side for one minute, until edges are brown. Remove from pan to a plate and repeat process until all the batter is used. If batter becomes thick, dilute with cold water.

Mushroom Duxelles

- 1 pound fresh mushrooms, finely chopped (about 3 cups)
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 4 tablespoons finely-chopped onions
- 1 cup diced smoked ham
- 1 teaspoon finely-chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon cut chives
- Dash of lemon juice
- Salt and pepper
- 1 cup grated Swiss cheese
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Squeeze chopped mushrooms in paper towel until all excess moisture is removed.

In a heavy skillet, melt 4 tablespoons butter and cook onions until soft. Stir in mushrooms. Cook until mushrooms are browned and all moisture is gone. Turn into a bowl.

Heat diced ham in 2 tablespoons butter with parsley and chives. Add to bowl. Add lemon juice, seasonings and half of the cheeses. Mix all together.

Veloute sauce:

- 6 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 1/2 cups hot chicken stock (fresh or canned)
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper

Melt butter in saucepan; stir in flour. Cook over medium heat. Remove from heat; cool, then add chicken stock, beating with whisk. Return to heat, bring to a boil and stir for one minute. Remove from heat.

In a bowl, blend egg yolks and 1/4 cup cream together. Whisk hot chicken sauce into egg-cream mixture two tablespoons at a time until 1/2 cup chicken sauce is left. Reverse process, returning mixture from bowl to pan. Whisk all ingredients together until smooth.

Bring to a boil and stir over heat for a few seconds. Remove from heat and season with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Makes about 3 1/2 cups very thick sauce.

Stir 1/4 cup Veloute sauce into mushroom-ham mixture. Mix.

Spoon two tablespoons filling onto the lower third of each crepe and roll up. Place rolled crepes in a buttered baking-serving dish.

Thin remainder of the veloute sauce with the remainder of cream until sauce rolls slowly off a spoon. Pour the sauce around the rolled crepes in baking dish. Sprinkle top with the remainder of cheese, dot with butter and bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes, until top is lightly browned. Serve at once. Yield: 16 filled crepes.

How To Buy Pork

Pay close attention to the pork you buy at the meat counter. The most important thing to look for is a high proportion of lean. Choose pieces with as little fat as possible. Pork should, however, have at least a little marbling (flecks of fat in the lean). For best eating, choose fresh pork that is firm and grayish pink in color.

Fresh pork should be stored uncovered or loosely covered in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Prepackaged pork should have the wrapper loosened unless the meat is to be used within a day or two. Cured and smoked pork should be stored in its original wrapper in the refrigerator, not to exceed one or two weeks. Cooked pork should be cooled then tightly covered for refrigerator storage.

For longer storage, freeze pork at 0 degrees Fahrenheit or lower. Recommended storage time for home-frozen cured pork:

Bacon, less than one month; ham, one to two months; chops, three to four months; roasts, four to eight months; sausage, one to two months.

Pork should be cooked "well done." For roasts, this means that your meat thermometer should read 170 degrees. Here are methods for cooking some pork cuts:

Roast: Fresh smoked loin roasts, fresh and smoked hams, fresh and smoked picnic shoulders, pork shoulder butts (Boston butts), whole tenderloin, and spare ribs. Oven temperature for roasting should be 325 degrees.

Broil or Fry: Chops, ham slices, shoulder steaks, bacon, Canadian-style bacon, sausage and salt pork.

Braise: Chops, tenderloin (fillet), shoulder steaks, diced pork meat, spare ribs, and back ribs.

Cook in liquid: Hocks, pigs' feet, smoked picnic shoulder, and fresh spare ribs.

New Egg Beaters

Cholesterol-Free Egg Substitute

Fleischmann's has introduced new Egg Beaters, the first frozen cholesterol-free egg substitute. They cracked farm-fresh eggs, replaced the yolk with new yolk-like ingredients that are cholesterol-free, then homogenized and pasteurized the mixture. Fresh frozen, it is packed in two 8 ounce containers per package. The 16 ounce package is the equivalent of eight eggs and sells for about 75 cents; 1/2 cup Egg Beaters equals one large egg without the cholesterol. Frozen, it will keep indefinitely; defrosted and stored in the refrigerator, Egg Beaters will last seven days — just enough time to use the eight egg equivalent.

Many heart specialists feel that cholesterol in eggs leads to cholesterol build-up in the body. For this reason, the American Heart Association recommends limiting dietary cholesterol to less than 300 mg. per day — and an average large egg contains 275 mg. of cholesterol. Egg Beaters contain only a trace of cholesterol — 0.6 mg. per 1/2 cup.

Egg Beaters cooks just like eggs. Scramble Egg Beaters, bake with Egg Beaters, or make "egg" nog with Egg Beaters. Just use them as you use fresh eggs. For example, Caesar Salad can be made with Egg Beaters.

Apple Coffee Cake, made with Egg Beaters, is an excellent way to start the day. Serve it to your family for breakfast or offer it to your guests with coffee.

These, and other recipes, are included in the free illustrated 30-page booklet "Cooking With Egg Beaters." To receive a copy, send request to Fleischmann's Nutrition Department, P.O. Box 301, Madison Square Station, New York, New York 10010.

Combine romaine and lettuce in a large salad bowl. Pour on Garlic French Dressing. Add Egg Beaters, Worcestershire sauce, anchovies and bread cubes. Toss lightly until well mixed.

Garlic French Dressing: To make 2/3 cup, combine 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon sugar, 1/16 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/16 teaspoon pepper, 1 crushed garlic clove, 1 tablespoon water, 3 tablespoons white vinegar and 1/2 cup corn oil. Cover and shake vigorously until thoroughly blended.

Makes 11 servings.

4 cups torn Boston lettuce
2/3 cup Garlic French Dressing

Autumn Squash All Dressed Up In Dessert Style

Squash is a pleasing variation in a menu because it is a vegetable with a dessert air. Squash may be baked with no seasoning and be perfectly delicious. For some dressing up, try a Golden Squash Bake which combines apple slices and your favorite preserves. This is especially good with pork, chicken or turkey.

GOLDEN SQUASH BAKE

1 Small butternut squash (about 2 pounds)
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mace
2 medium apples
1/2 cup apricot, peach or pineapple preserves
2 tablespoons butter

Cut squash lengthwise into halves. Remove seeds and fibers. Pare squash and cut into 1/2-inch slices. Place squash in shallow baking dish (about 11x7x1 1/2 inches). Mix together flour, salt and mace; sprinkle over squash. Core apples and cut into 1/2-inch slices; do not remove peel. Place apple slices on squash. Heat preserves with butter until blended; pour over squash and apples. Cover with foil. Bake in a 350-degree oven 50 to 60 minutes or until squash is tender. Makes 8 servings.

Boiling Vegetables Is Culinary Murder

Boiling vegetables is culinary murder, say home economists at United States Stamping Co. According to their studies, vitamin C and many B vitamins quickly dissolve in water. When whole vegetables are soaked or boiled for only a few minutes, a quarter to half of their minerals are lost.

Not only is there a loss of food values when vegetables are immersed, they stale, but they lose flavor.

Many food specialists recommend that a small amount of water — up to an inch deep — be brought to a boil. Only then should the vegetables, preferably uncut and unpeeled, be placed on a perforated rack or tray above it, making sure that the water does not touch the food. Then cover and steam over low heat until the vegetables are tender (in most instances 20 to 30 minutes).

Even in steaming, some food values are lost, but the loss is sharply reduced compared to soaking or boiling. Many home economists urge that the steaming water, which contains the lost vitamins and minerals, be reduced and served with the vegetables or used as a base for stock.

Fresh vegetables should be kept refrigerated in darkness. In only a few hours, say home economists, most vegetables kept at room temperature in daylight lose much folic acid, vitamin B2 and vitamin C.

They also urge that frozen vegetables be steamed to retain maximum food value.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is proposing a change in its quality grade standards for butter to allow a "very slight whey flavor" in U.S. Grade A butter.

A whey flavor can result when whey cream is used in making butter. Whey cream is butterfat which is separated from whey — a product which in turn has been separated from milk during cheesemaking.

Changes in cheesemaking technology and production practices have made it possible to produce high quality whey cream. This quality of whey cream, when blended with sufficient quantity of high quality sweet cream, produces a butter flavor as good as other butter flavors that are presently acceptable for Grade A butter, according to USDA standardization specialists.

Use of this quality of whey cream in butter would not lower the general quality of U.S. Grade A butter, specialists said. Any butter containing more than the very slight whey flavor would continue to be graded U.S. Grade B or C, as it is now. U.S. Grade AA requirements for butter would not be changed.

Use of USDA quality standards and grading services is voluntary and paid for by the user.

The proposed amendments appeared in the Oct. 7 Federal Register. Anyone wishing to comment should send written views and comments in duplicate to the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, by Nov. 8. All comments will be available for public inspection.

EVERY NOW AND then, one of those giant manufacturing companies develops a program which restores my faith in big business and its relationship to the "little man." Thus, I offer support to a program, initiated by Hunt-Wesson Foods, to create the First National Children's Eagle Nesting Area. The company's recently announced campaign is designed to help save the American Bald eagle, which has now been declared an endangered species.

Illegal shootings, pesticides that pollute their food, and noise have made vast marks in the decreased eagle population. Outside of Alaska, fewer than 800 nesting pairs exist in the United States today.

Hunt's total program is being accomplished in cooperation with the U.S. Forest Service and a number of private wildlife conservation groups. Ecology and Environmental concerns are high priority in the minds of many consumers and only concentrated effort can combat widespread ecological pollution.

This is evidenced by Hunt's overwhelmingly successful Forest Building Program launched in cooperation with the U.S. Forest Service in 1970 and still continuing at present. As of this day, over 1,600,000 trees have been purchased for planting in fire-ravaged national forests as a result of consumers caring enough to get involved. The Forest Building Program was a unique alternative to the usual cash refund premium or sweepstakes that are usually associated with product promotion. The "Help Save The Eagle" program is also new and very unique. It allows Hunt's to sell products but at the same time to do something which benefits the whole country.

In the Eagle Program, for each Big John's or Snack Pack label sent in, Hunt's will purchase approximately 15 square feet of peeded eagle nesting land in your name. The land is next to the Chippewa National Forest in Minn., where two pairs of nesting eagles have been found. The land will be turned over to the U.S. Forest Service for the protection of the bald eagle. If more labels are sent than needed to purchase land, then money will be donated for needed eagle study, which is considered a critical project by the U.S. Forest Service.

Labels — either from Hunt's Big John's Beans 'n Fixin's or Big John's Chili 'n Fixin's or Hunt's Snack Pack Puddings and fruits (must be 4-pack ingredient line panels from cardboard jacket) — should be sent to the following address: Help Save The Eagle, P.O. Box 879, Fullerton, Calif. 92633.

Club groups, individuals can participate for there is no limit on the number of labels that can be sent. For participating in the program, Hunt's will send you an eagle conservation wall poster and a Help Save The American Eagle decal. Names of participants will be placed in a vault near a marker at the Chippewa National Forest Headquarters.

The program expires Feb. 28, 1973.

Harvest Offers Colorful Eating

Each region has its own harvest colors, aromas and special dishes enjoyed most because fruits and vegetables are tastiest right out of the fields. For many, autumn means fresh fresh squash, pumpkins, rutabagas, turnips, yams, apples, cranberries, pears and persimmons. Most of these we can eat year-round "store-bought," in cans, dehydrated or frozen. But fall fruits and vegetables remain best when seen, cooked and eaten in season.

As James Whitcomb Riley wrote: "A picture that no painter has the color in to mock — When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the sheck." Here are some recipes just right for harvest-time:

SAUSAGE-STUFFED BAKED ACORN SQUASH

3 medium acorn squash
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
2 cups crumbled cooked sausage or chopped cooked ham

Extra Set Of Lids

An extra set of lids made of plastic convert new saucepan and casserole sets into freezer containers. The pots are ceramic-coated steel, with stainless steel rims. They have regular covers with oven-proof knobs and removable chrome handles, and are decorated with a flower pattern on white background. Available in 1, 1½ and 2-quart saucepans, 2, 2½ and 3-quart casseroles.

1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ cup hot water or beef broth

Cut squash in half lengthwise; remove seeds and stringy portion. Arrange in a shallow baking pan, cut side down. Pour ¼-inch boiling water into the pan. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven 25 minutes or until squash is almost tender. Turn cut side up and brush with melted butter. Sprinkle lightly with salt and black pepper if desired. Combine sausage, bread crumbs, onion, salt, garlic powder, black pepper and hot water. Fill squash cavities lightly with stuffing. Bake 20 minutes or until stuffing is hot and browned. Makes 6 portions.

SPICED PUMPKIN SEEDS

Remove netting from pumpkin seeds. Spread seeds out, 1 layer thick, on a large cookie pan or jelly roll sheet. Place in a preheated 400-degree oven and toast 10 minutes. Shake pan to turn seeds. Toast 10 minutes longer. Sprinkle with one of the following seasonings: ground nutmeg, pumpkin pie spice, apple pie spice, ground cinnamon, onion salt, garlic salt, chili powder, ground cinnamon, onion salt, white pepper.

YELLOW SQUASH PUFF

3 cups cooked, mashed, yellow winter squash
¼ cup milk
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons cooking sherry, or cider
2 eggs, beaten

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Turn into a buttered 1-quart casserole. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 35 minutes or until top is well-flecked with brown. Makes 6 portions.

Stir-Frying May Challenge The Barbecue

Barbecuing is getting a challenge from Chinese foods among the male chefs. Chopping the vegetables, meats or seafoods appears to give the average man a sense of accomplishment. He especially is proud of his sleight-of-hand that stir-fried cooking the Oriental way highlights. A Stir-fried South African Rock Lobster dish is one the family will enjoy and it also makes an excellent buffet dish.

STIR-FRIED SOUTH AFRICAN ROCK LOBSTERS

3 pkgs. (8 oz. each)

South African rock lobster tails
¼ cup oil
2 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup fresh peas
1 cup sliced cooked carrots
1 bunch scallions, sliced
½ inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken broth
1 tablespoon cornstarch

With kitchen shears cut away underside membrane from rock lobster tails. Carefully pull out meat in one piece and slice. Heat oil in wok or heavy aluminum fry pan. Add cabbage, celery, peas, carrots and scallions. Stir over high heat until vegetables are tender crisp, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle with salt, sugar and soy sauce. Add rock lobster pieces and saute until meat is opaque. Mix chicken broth and cornstarch and stir into mixture. Cook, while stirring, until slightly thickened. Serve hot, spooned over rice. Makes 6 servings.

The Turnip: A Nippy Veg

In ancient times turnips appeared regularly on the tables of the emperors and great men, especially during the Roman Republic. Rutabagas often are called "swedes" or Swedish turnips and were well-known in Sweden, Russia and Siberia. In the United States, rutabagas primarily grow north of the Mason-Dixon line and turnips south. No matter their origins, once in the kitchen cook these welcome nippy vegetables identically.

RUTABAGA-APPLE WHIP

4 cups (2 pounds) peeled diced rutabagas
1 inch boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
2 medium-sized apples
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons sugar
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper

Place rutabagas, water and salt in a saucepan. Bring to boiling point and cook, uncovered, 5 minutes. Cover and continue cooking 20 minutes or until tender. Peel, quarter and core apples. Add to rutabagas 10 minutes before cooking time is up. Drain if necessary. Mash and add butter or margarine, sugar and black pepper. Whip until fluffy. Serve with pork, ham or poultry. Makes 6 servings.

BROWNED SLICED TURNIPS

1½ pounds (5 medium) turnips
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
1 inch boiling water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
Wash and peel turnips. Cut into cross-wise slices ¼ inch thick. Place in a saucepan with the 1 teaspoon salt, sugar and boiling water. Bring to boiling point and cook, uncovered, 5 minutes or until turnips are partially cooked. Drain off water if necessary. Brown on both sides in butter or margarine, adding it as needed. Sprinkle with additional salt if needed and ground black pepper. Serve with roast pork or duck. Makes 6 servings.

Two Winning Ways With Plentiful Apples

Europeans brought the apple to America, and it spread westward more rapidly than the settlers themselves. Early explorers found some Indian tribes with apple orchards already flourishing near their villages. The apple is as much a part of fall as is the tart cranberry.

CLOVE 'N' CIDER SIMMERED APPLES

4 apples, pared, cored and quartered
10 cloves
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
Juice of one orange
1 orange, thinly sliced
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice

Insert one clove in each apple quarter. Combine sugar, water, orange juice, thinly sliced orange and lemon juice; bring to a boil. Boil one minute and lift out orange slices. Simmer apple quarters in this syrup until translucent and tender but not mushy, about 5 to 10 minutes. Chill in syrup. Add orange slices to apples and serve as dessert, salad or meat accompaniment. Makes 4 servings.

(*Preferred varieties: Jonathans, Newtowns, Golden Delicious, Winesaps)

CHIFFON OF APPLES AND CRANBERRIES

2 apples
1 pound cranberries
4 tablespoons water
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla

Peel, core and dice apples. Combine with cranberries and water in a saucepan. Cover and cook for 10 minutes, adding a little water if necessary. Press through sieve or food mill. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler; add sieved fruit, butter, 2/3-cup of the sugar and salt. Cook over hot water, stirring, until slightly thickened. Remove from heat and let cool. Beat egg whites until stiff; add remaining 1/3-cup sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue to beat until sugar is completely dissolved. Fold lightly into fruit mixture along with the vanilla. Pipe lightly into footed glasses.

Add Variety And Color To A Classic Salad

An economical salad or calorie-counting one-dish meal is a Jellied Orange Chicken Salad. A variation on the classic molded salad, it blends the tart flavor of undiluted orange juice concentrate and tarragon vinegar with cooked or canned chicken. It makes a colorful dish on a buffet table when served on salad greens and garnished with fresh orange sections.

JELLIED ORANGE CHICKEN SALAD

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 1/2 cups cold water, divided
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 can (8 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1/2 cup tarragon vinegar
1 cup diced cooked chicken or 1 can (5 ounces) chicken, diced
1/2 cup chopped celery

Sprinkle gelatin over 1 cup cold water in saucepan. Place over low heat. Stir constantly until gelatin dissolves, 4 or 5 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in sugar and salt. Stir in remaining 1 1/2 cups water, undiluted orange juice concentrate and tarragon vinegar. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in chicken and celery and turn into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold; garnish with salad greens and orange sections, if desired and serve with mayonnaise thinned with orange juice. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Growing Garbage

Complaining may help American women to fight the growing garbage problem. Michael Pope, who says so, is head of a consulting engineering firm that specializes in federal, state and municipal studies on pollution abatement.

"Just by registering their distaste for overpackaging, the housewife can help alleviate the nation's growing garbage problem," Pope said.

One Hundred Years Of Home Economics

Somewhere about a cake, for this is the 100th anniversary of an important event in the development of home economics.

The first formal instruction in home economics at the college level was given at Iowa State University in 1872.

There now are more than 400 institutions granting degrees in home economics.

Of Home Economics

In 1821, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, Emma Willard began the teaching of "household arts" in the Troy Female Seminary, Troy, N.Y.

This was one of the first steps in the then-revolutionary concept of classroom instruction in one of mankind's most basic activities — management of a home.

Beef Consumption

In 1971, the average American ate 50 more pounds of meat a year than did his parents a generation ago, says the American Meat Institute. The Institute also reports per capita consumption of beef in the United States has doubled since 1940 to 113.3 pounds per year.

Molded Meat Salad Offers Change Of Pace

Orange Ham Ring Salad

Orange Ham Ring Salad as a main course for lunch or dinner is sure to be a favorite with all. It's a molded dish made with ground ham and veal and requires only three simple steps — mix, bake and chill.

The meat is combined with eggs, bread crumbs and seasonings, and a 6 ounce can of undiluted orange juice concentrate is added for luscious, fresh-tasting flavor. The orange juice does so much for ham and veal, giving the meat a tart sweetness and moistness.

After cooking the mixture in a ring mold, turn it onto a serving platter and chill. When you're ready to serve Orange Ham Ring Salad as an entree, garnish the center with lettuce leaves, bacon and carrot curls, radish roses and orange slices. You'll have a very colorful and lovely main dish.

2 eggs

1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups dry bread crumbs
1 pound (2 1/2 cups) ground cooked ham
1 pound (2 1/2 cups) ground cooked veal
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1/2 cup water
Lettuce leaves
Raw vegetables and bacon curls to garnish

Beat eggs in large bowl. Stir in Tabasco and dry mustard. Add bread crumbs, ground ham, veal, undiluted concentrate and water; mix well. Press meat mixture into 8-cup ring mold. Bake in 350 degrees oven 1 hour. Turn out onto serving platter. Cool. Garnish center with lettuce leaves, bacon curls, carrot curls, radish roses and orange slices. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Serve A Spicy Main Dish

Short Ribs Budapest

When the leaves begin to fall and there's a nip of fall in the air, it's time to think about hearty, spicy main dishes for dinner. Paprika is the colorful, subtle flavoring in Short Ribs Budapest. The addition of cling peach halves during the last part of the cooking enriches the flavor and color as well. Give the fall season a gala send-off with this new twist to an old favorite.

SHORT RIBS BUDAPEST

1 can (16 ounces) cling peach halves
1/4 cup dry vermouth
2 pounds beef short ribs, cracked
1 tablespoon shortening
1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons paprika
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 cup diced onion
1/2 cup water
Drain peaches, reserving syrup. Combine 1/2 cup reserved peach syrup with 1/4 cup dry vermouth and bring to boil. Remove from heat. Add peach halves and cool.
Cut ribs into serving pieces. Melt shortening. Brown ribs in Dutch oven on all sides. Season with salt, pepper, paprika and celery seed. Add onion, remaining vermouth and water. Simmer, covered, for 1 hour on top of stove. Ten minutes before serving, drain peaches and add to short ribs. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Homemade Bread

Fall is here and your family is going to be coming home from school, from football games, and from raking a summer's worth of kaleidoscopic leaves off the lawn. Be prepared. That family is going to be chilled to the bone by Midwest harvest moon weather and they are going to be hungry.

What better way to warm that family up than with thick slices of hot-from-the-oven cheese bread?

CHEESE BREAD

Mix two cups unsifted flour with 1/4 cup sugar, 1 package yeast, 2 teaspoons salt, and 1 teaspoon dry mustard. Warm 2 cups milk and 1/4 cup shortening together over low heat. Stir into flour mixture. Mix 2 cups (8 ounces) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese with 3 to 3 1/2 cups flour; gradually stir into the mixture to make a soft dough that leaves the sides of the bowl. With some flours it may be necessary to add a little extra flour to make a soft dough.

Knead on a lightly floured surface until dough is smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes.

Place in a greased bowl and turn over once to grease upper side of dough. Let rise in a warm place until double in size. Grease two 8x5x2 1/2 inch loaf pans.

Punch down dough. Divide in half. Shape into loaves. Place in loaf pans. Let rise in warm place until double in size.

Bake 30 to 35 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove bread from pan and cool on rack. Each loaf makes 16 slices, 130 calories each.

Produce Adds Variety To Autumn Meals

Autumn harvests from coast-to-coast offer a profuse variety of fruits and vegetables. Too few cooks take advantage of the colorful and tasty offerings in the market at this time. Others tend to stick to one or two tried recipes for apples, cabbage, pumpkin, carrots, cauliflower or celery. Here are some recipes to add variety to fall meals when all ages respond with heartier appetites whetted by the season's change:

CARROT VICHYSSOISE

- 3 cups pared, sliced potatoes
- 2 cups pared, sliced carrots
- 2 leeks, thinly sliced (white part)
- 3 cups boiling water
- 4 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup heavy or light cream
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper sauce

In a large heavy saucepan, combine potatoes, carrots, leeks, boiling water, bouillon cubes and salt. Cook, covered, until very tender, about 40-45 minutes. Put mixture through strainer, sieve or food mill. Add butter, cream, milk and pepper sauce. Mix well. Chill and serve cold or reheat in double boiler over hot water. Top with grated carrot or parsley. Makes 6 servings.

CAULIFLOWER-BEEF CASSEROLE

- 1 medium head of cauliflower
- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco, divided
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/2 pound cheese, grated (2 cups)
- 1 cup seasoned bread cubes

Separate cauliflower buds. Cook in salted water until partially tender. Sauté beef with onion, salt and 1/4-teaspoon Tabasco. Melt butter in a saucepan; blend in flour. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add remaining 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco and cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Put meat into 2-quart casserole; cover with layer of bread cubes. Add cauliflower buds; pour cheese sauce over all. Place in 375-degree oven for 30 minutes, until heated through. Makes 6 servings.

AVERY ISLAND CELERY

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 4 cups diagonally cut celery

1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, thawed
Melt butter in large skillet; add onion and cook until tender. Drain tomatoes; reserve solids. Add tomato liquid, pepper sauce, salt, sugar and thyme to skillet; bring to a boil. Stir in celery and peas. Cover and cook 10 minutes or until barely tender. Add tomatoes; heat to serving temperature and turn onto serving dish. Makes 6 servings.

APPLE-BANANA SCALLOP

- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 bananas, diced

4 Washington Jonathan apples, peeled, cored and diced
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/3 cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Blend together graham cracker crumbs, melted butter or margarine and salt. Sprinkle bananas and apples with lemon juice and brown sugar. Add to crumb mixture; toss gently. Spoon into buttered ramekins and bake in a 350-degree oven 25-30 minutes, or until apples are tender. Makes 6 servings.

SOUR CREAM CABBAGE

- 1 small red cabbage
- 1 small green cabbage
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup bouillon
2 cups sour cream
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

Cut cabbage into wedges. Place in large kettle with salted water to cover. Add lemon juice. Cook until cabbage is tender but crisp, about 20 minutes. Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour. Add bouillon and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Reduce heat to very low. Add sour cream, vinegar, salt and Tabasco. Stir until smooth and thick. Do not boil. Place cabbage in serving dish and pour sour cream sauce over all. Makes 8 servings.

COCKTAIL PUMPKIN CHIPS

1 small pumpkin
Deep fat
Salt
Ground ginger
Pell and seed pumpkin. Slice tissue-paper thin with vegetable parer, as for potato chips. Soak in ice water for 1 hour. Drain and pat dry. Fry in deep fat. Heat to 380 degrees until brown. Drain on paper and sprinkle with salt and ginger. Makes 4 portions.

Tuna Sandwich In Deli Style

The word "delicatessen" actually means table delicacy. And the tuna sandwich — one of America's top favorites — is as popular with the deli "take-out" and counter crowd as it is with the lunch-eon box set.

Anytime a quick bite — or a non-fuss meal — or a super snack — is requested, fill the bill delicatessen style with this Tuna "Deli" Sandwich.

TUNA "DELI" SANDWICH

- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
- 3 tablespoons pickle relish
- 12 thin slices rye bread, crusts removed
- Mayonnaise
- Lettuce leaves
- 3 slices tomato
- 3 thin slices mild onion
- 1 can (8 1/4 or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup minced celery
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 9 stuffed olives
- 3 sweet pickles, sliced the long way in thirds
- 3 radish roses
- 18 dill pickle chips
- 6 ripe olives

Combine cream cheese and pickle relish; spread mixture on three slices of bread. Top with second slices of bread; spread with mayonnaise, and top with lettuce, tomato, and onion. Combine tuna, celery, salt, and mayonnaise. Place third slices of bread on sandwiches; spread with tuna mixture and cover with last slices of bread. Cut each sandwich in 3 triangles; secure with frilled wooden picks topped with stuffed olive. On three platters, arrange the triangles of each sandwich star-fashion, add sweet pickles, and a radish rose. Arrange 3 dill pickle chips, and a ripe olive at each end of each platter. Yield: 3 hearty sandwiches.

A Corny History

Nobody knows when native Americans began using corn, but there is a precise date and place of its introduction to Europeans.

The modern history of corn, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, began Nov. 6, 1492, when two Spaniards whom Christopher Columbus had delegated to explore the interior of Cuba returned with a report of a grain which was "well tasted."

Later explorers of the New World found corn being grown by Indians in all parts of America where agriculture was practiced, from Canada to Chile. Eventually scientists established that corn was growing in North America at least 80,000 years ago, long before the arrival of the first man.

Easy Chiffon Pie With Lemon And Orange Flavors

It takes practice to make perfect pie crust, but you can make a prize-winning pie on the first try with a crushed cereal crust. No special talent needed — just a box of sweet orange cereal nuggets and a proven chiffon pie filling.

When making a pie crust from cereal, use a rolling pin to crush the nuggets between layers of waxed paper. This captures all the crumbs and makes them easy to transfer to the mixing bowl. Blend the crushed cereal with brown sugar and butter or margarine, press into a pie pan, and bake it briefly. When cool it is ready for the filling.

Sunshine Chiffon Pie combines the flavors of lemon and orange in a breeze-light filling that is perfectly complemented by its crunchy orange crust.

SUNSHINE CHIFFON PIE

Crust:
1 cup crushed, sweet orange cereal nuggets
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/4 cup cold water
4 egg yolks, beaten
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2/3 cup lemon juice
4 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
2/3 cup whipping cream

Filling:
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
reset recipe for filling...
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
4 egg yolks, beaten
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2/3 cup lemon juice
4 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
2/3 cup whipping cream

Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees). For crust, blend together crushed cereal, sugar and butter. Evenly press mixture into bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees) 5 minutes. Cool.

For filling, soften gelatin in cold water. Combine egg yolks, sugar, lemon peel, lemon juice and softened gelatin in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Cook until slightly thickened and glossy, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Cool until partially set.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add 1/4 cup sugar, a little at a time, beating well after each addition; beat until stiff and glossy. Whip cream until frothy. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until stiff. Fold gelatin mixture into egg whites; then fold in whipped cream. Pour into crust. Chill several hours. Makes 8 servings.

Almond Meringue Ring Is Elegant Dessert Fare

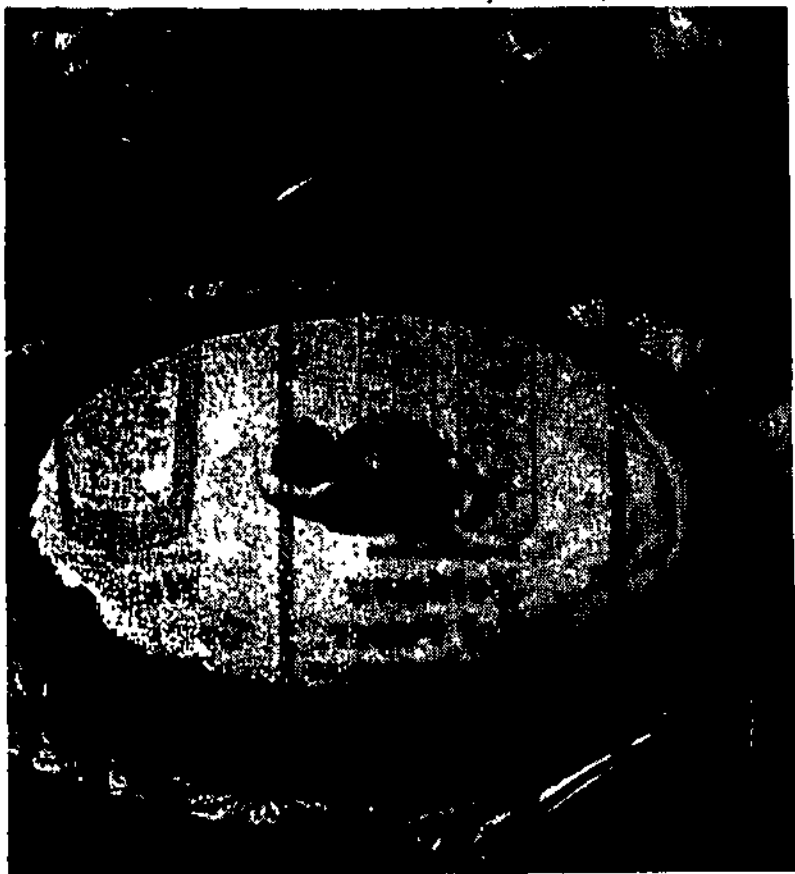

A striking addition to anyone's kitchen tricks is a good meringue recipe. An Almond Meringue Ring with Strawberries makes a handsome dessert, one that is almost too pretty to eat. Since fresh or frozen strawberries may be used, this special treat graces the table in all seasons.

ALMOND MERINGUE RING WITH STRAWBERRIES

1 cup sliced natural almonds
4 egg whites, at room temperature
1/2 teaspoon vinegar or cream of tartar
1 1/3 cups sugar
1 pint strawberries, hulled, halved or 1 package (10 oz.) frozen strawberries, thawed
Sugar (for fresh strawberries)

Spread almonds in shallow pan and toast in 350-degree oven for 5 minutes or until light brown. Cool oven to 275 degrees. Place pan of toasted almonds in refrigerator to cool them quickly. Beat egg whites with vinegar until foamy. Gradually sprinkle in sugar, beating all the time until very stiff peaks form. (This will take about 15 minutes.) Fold in all but 2 tablespoons almonds. Shape this meringue into an 8-inch ring or greased and floured cookie sheet. Pipe meringue up high. Sprinkle reserved almonds on outside of meringue. Bake at 275 degrees for about 1 hour or until meringue is lightly browned, slightly cracked and a pick inserted into center comes out dry. Let ring cool in oven with door open. Wrap loosely in wax paper until ready to use. (It will keep overnight.) Sprinkle fresh strawberries with a little sugar to bring out the juice; chill a few hours or overnight. Spoon strawberries over ring when ready to serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Dishwasher Booklet

Little wonder dishwashers are gaining in sales faster than any other major appliance.

A new booklet published by the Maytag Home Service Department points out a homemaker can spend as many as $3 eight-hour days a year washing dishes by hand. Because of this, and other reasons, a lot of women are buying dishwashers at an unprecedented rate.

One thing keeping sales from gaining even faster than they are is a lack of knowledge about the appliances. To help fill this information gap, the new booklet, "A Dishwasher Makes a Difference," explains various aspects of purchasing and using a dishwasher.

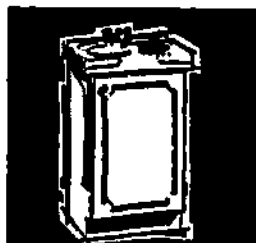

Commonly asked questions, such as what can and what cannot be washed in a dishwasher, are answered. There's a checklist of the features to look for when buying a built-in, convertible or portable dishwasher; there's a discussion about pre-rinsing dishes, and the kind of detergents to use.

There's a lot more information packed into the eight-page booklet — all aimed at helping the first-time dishwasher buyer make a wise purchase.

Tasty Seeds Offer Snack Appeal

"More snacks... fewer meals."

To many mothers this trend signals the return of school activities.

To many nutritionists, however, over-snacking on "junk foods" creates a crisis in student nutrition and learning.

Doctors, seeking clues to explain increased student illness, failure, and misbehavior, have recently begun peering into the lunch box and the kitchen. In their recent U.S. Public Health Service study on malnutrition, doctors found that diets deficient in nutrients lower students' performance and behavior in school.

What causes the malnutrition that is a fact of life for students from all income brackets? One-fourth of students were missing two or more meals when surveyed. Thus, snacks become the mainstay of the youngsters' diets.

Teenagers are most caught in the nutrition squeeze. Six out of ten teenage girls and four out of ten boys have diets rated poor.

Dr. Evelyn Spindler, nutritionist for the Department of Agriculture, blames inadequate teenage diets on the poor choice of food for snacks. Snack foods, she points out, are often "empty calorie foods made chiefly of fat, sugar, and starches," woefully lacking in vitamins and minerals.

Many mothers now say, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." If children won't take time for meals, they should be provided with more healthful snacks. New on the nutrition scene are sunflower seeds. They offer good taste, low price, great convenience... and (surprise) the kids love them!

Sunflower seeds contain the whole range of nutrients vital to the health of all age groups — but especially for the young. They provide as many as 12 minerals, 17 vitamins, and even more beneficial protein than found in meat.

Because they are so rich in the nutrients commonly lacking in the average student's diet, they make an ideal snack food.

For instance, "Sunshine" Vitamin D and the mineral calcium — both abundant in sunflower seeds — are essentials for the formation of healthy bones and teeth. Sunflower seeds also have plenty of blood-building iron, as well as vitamin A for better looking skin.

Their high content of protein makes sunflower seed kernels an ideal protective food. Protein is needed for healthy muscles, brains, skin, and blood. Without protein, there can be no building of new tissues or repairing of old tissues.

Best of all... sunflower seeds are delicious! Although new to Americans, they have been enjoyed as a delicacy by ethnic groups all over the world.

Their nut-like sweetness and texture prove a great hit with almost all youngsters who try them. Also, to many students the seed's naturalness is part of "their ecology movement."

Sunflower seeds are sometimes called "Russian peanuts," because Russians crunch the seeds as we do gum or candy. For snacks at home, why not try the Russian custom — put out a bowl of shelled, ready-to-eat sunflower seeds instead of the candy dish with its excess calories!

It may be difficult to find the ready-to-eat, shelled (hulled) sunflower seeds in the average supermarket. But if you visit one of the many health food stores, you'll have no problem buying these "nuggets of nutrition."

For the ideal school snack — (whether your child carries lunch to school or not) — include a small handful of sunflower seeds. And for a change, mix them with raisins. Or, add them to the cookies and treats you make at home.

Upgrading student nutrition brings its just rewards, as in the case of one high school which promoted sunflower seeds and other healthful foods for its students. The local Youth Authority applauded the results: improved dental and emotional health, better citizenship and higher grades.

They are as popular with adults as they are with children. This makes them a tremendous boon for mothers preparing meals for diverse family tastes. Add sunflower seeds to salads, omelets, and cereals for a nutritional boost. Mix them in the meat loaf for a bit of mystery. Or, use them to top off baked goods and desserts.

The two recipes below, from "Cook Right, Live Longer," by Lelord Kordel (Award Books, $1.50), should be useful in helping you get started with sunflower seeds in your kitchen:

SUNSHINE MUFFINS
1½ cups sifted flour
1½ cup sunflower seed kernels (chopped very fine)
3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 honey
3 tablespoons shortening oil
1 beaten egg
½ teaspoon salt
¾ to 1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder

Combine oil, egg, milk, sugar or honey, sunflower seed kernels (chopped very fine or purchase ready-ground meal in health food stores). Sift flour with salt and baking powder. Combine with liquid mixture, stirring only enough to hold ingredients together. (Over mixing causes "tunnels" and an uneven grain, tends to toughen muffins.) Fill 12 greased-and-floured muffin wells. Bake for 15-20 minutes at 400 degrees.

Variations: Use whole wheat flour instead of white for added nutrition. Or, omit ½ cup flour and add ½ cup wheat germ. (Use the raw variety available in health food stores.) Add 2 or 3 tablespoons raisins that were allowed to soak overnight in water or juice.

SUNSHINE BURGER

1 cup sunflower seed kernels (chopped very fine)
½ cup chopped celery
3 carrots (finely grated)
1 tablespoon cooking oil
¼ cup milk or yogurt

2 tablespoons chopped onion
Salt, pepper to taste
Combine ingredients with enough of the milk (or yogurt) so they may be molded into patties about ½-inch thick. Place on oiled baking pan. Bake until brown on both sides.

These patties are very good hot or cold, and can make a welcome change in the lunch box. While hot they may be served with butter sauce. For variety add 2 tablespoons chopped black olives and/or 1 tablespoon grated Italian cheese.

Merrymaker Party Sandwiches

Children love parties and professional party planners pass along a few tips to cut down on wear-and-tear on adults. Since a child's concentration span usually is brief, plan short games. Provide a prize for every child and serve plenty of snacks using disposable paper plates and cups. Both boys and girls will enjoy Merrymaker Sandwiches filled with corned beef, sweet pickle relish and American cheese. Serve with cider or a fruit punch.

1 4½-ounce can corned beef spread
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish, drained
4 frankfurters
½ cup grated process American cheese

Combine corned beef spread and relish; fill frankfurters with corned beef mixture. Top with grated cheese. Chill and serve. Makes four sandwiches.

5-Story Condominium Revived; Seek Village OK

Plans for building a five-story condominium at Elk Grove Boulevard and Ridge Avenue in Elk Grove Village have been revived, and developers now say they will proceed to gain approval for the project from the village.

Last July A. J. Delbianco, architect for developer Bernard Wolf, said the housing project was being dropped after a dinner meeting with the village trustees. However on Tuesday, Bob Schwartz, architect with the same firm, appeared at a village board meeting to present revised plans for the project.

At the dinner this summer, trustees said some of their objections to the project were the number of units on the four-acre site and the close proximity of the building to Elk Grove Boulevard.

Schwartz said Tuesday the original 67-unit proposal had been changed to 62 units to allow the building to be moved back from the boulevard. He said the two accesses on Elk Grove Boulevard had been altered to one entrance on the boulevard and an entrance and exit on Ridge Avenue.

The condominium structure still would keep the same L-shape it had in the original plan with a deck and swimming pool on the inside curve on the southwest side. Schwartz said the new plan does allow for a fire lane for the building on three sides.

PARKING SPACES for 60 cars would be provided in an underground parking garage and there would be another 60 spaces on the grounds, Schwartz said.

Schwartz told the trustees the building would have 10 three-bedroom apartments, 47 two-bedroom units and 5 one-bedroom units. Delbianco had said earlier the condominiums would be in the $40,000 range.

At the meeting Tuesday Village Pres. Charles Zettek said the trustees never objected to having condominiums built on the site. "We would rather see condominiums there as opposed to apartments because of pride of ownership," he said.

Zettek noted the developers would have to provide for water retention and drainage on property.

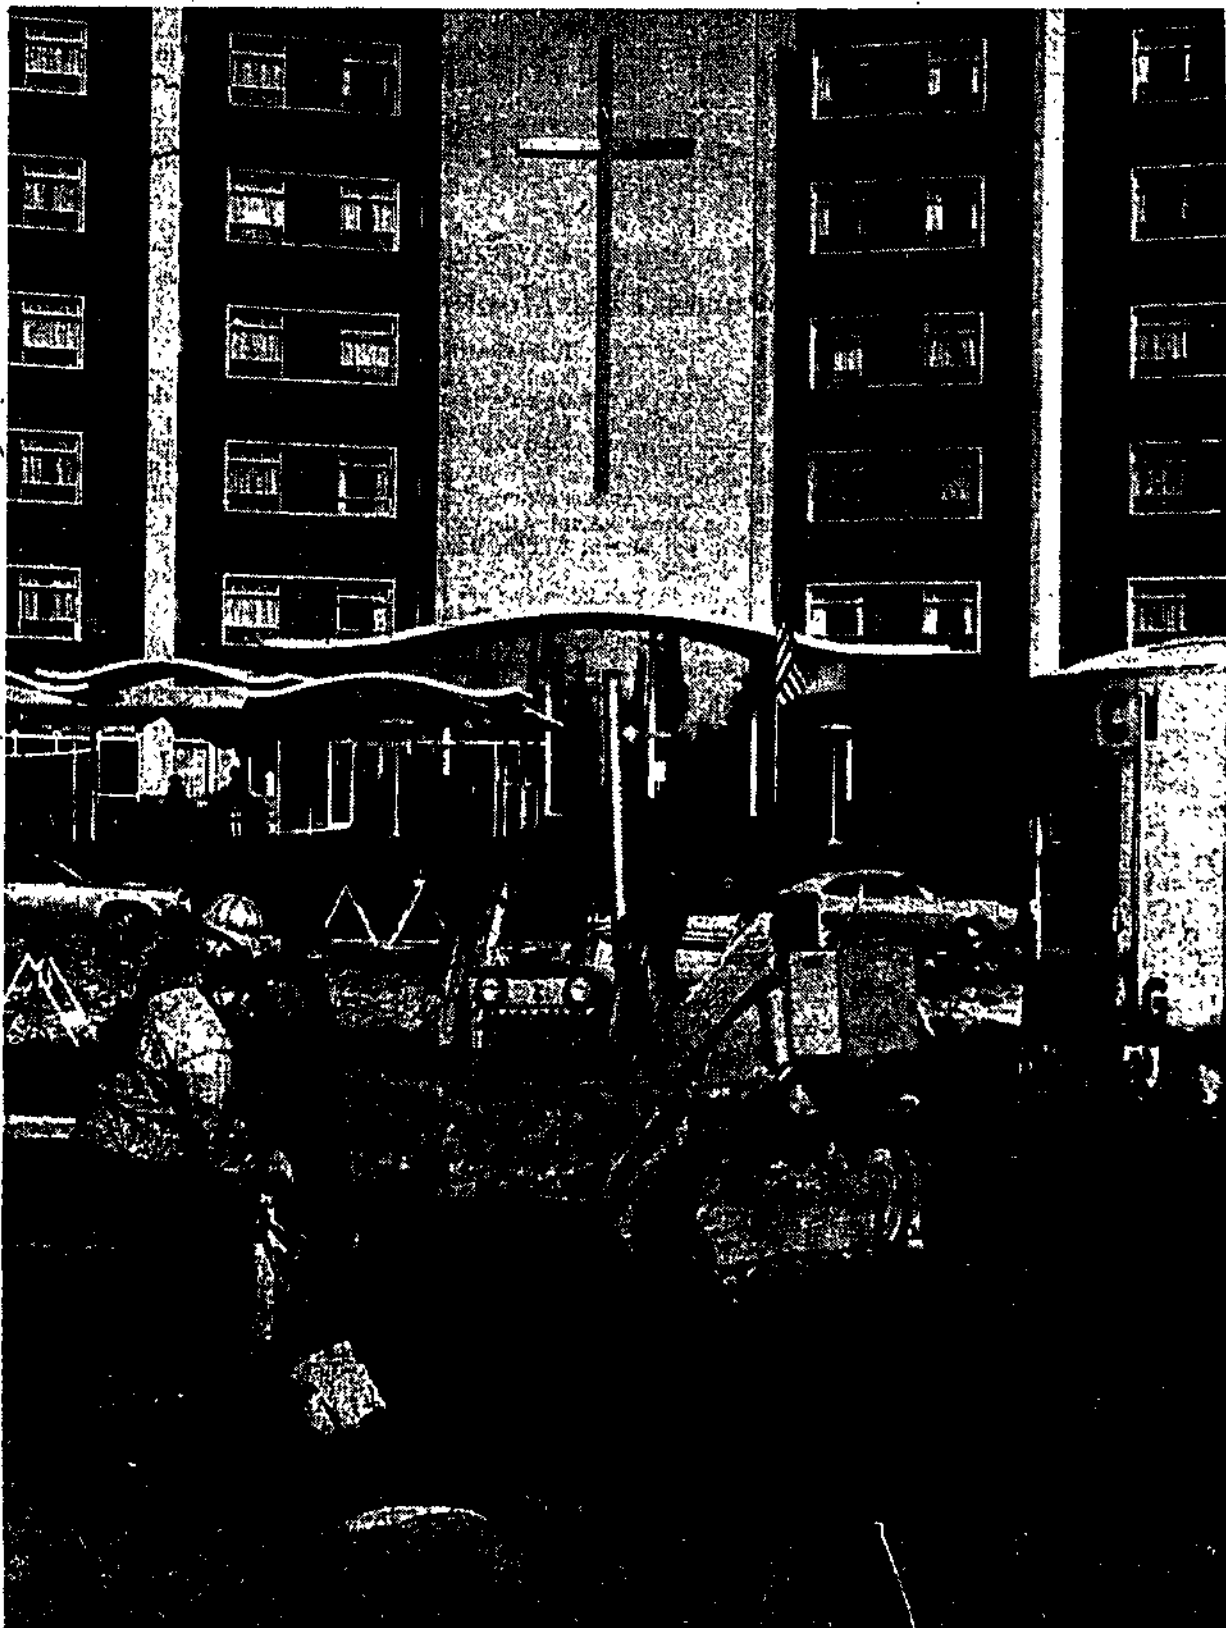

He added that one problem that bothered him was the height of the building so close to Elk Grove Boulevard.

SCHWARTZ SAID with relationship to the adjacent Terrace Apartment the five-story condominiums would be only seven feet higher than the apartments because of the slope of the land.

He noted that the proposed condominium was not near any single-family homes and was an ideal location for such a project.

"We feel the site would be a good location for the project," Schwartz said.

"The condominium industry is really skyrocketing, and we feel there is a need for this type of housing here."

BULLDOZERS ARE busy moving earth at Alexian Brothers $9 million expansion program. The project includes a community health building and ambulatory care center.

Elderly May Get Rental Supplement

Housing projects for the elderly are being proposed for many parts of the Northwest suburbs, and in Elk Grove Village a $4.5 million development planned for senior citizens may include a rental supplement to help the elderly meet the costs of today's rents.

The proposed development calls for a cluster of some 300 one-bedroom and efficiency townhouse apartments to be built on a site immediately south of the Grove Shopping Center and off Wellington Avenue. Persons must be at least 62-years-old to be eligible to live in the development.

Marvin Myers, president of Meyers Associates, told village plan commission members recently that upward mobility in income was something rare for senior citizens even though inflation continues to push prices higher.

He said through a federal rental supplement program, to be incorporated in the development his company is proposing, persons who move into the project would be able to continue to afford to live there even if rents are raised.

"It (the program) would allow for people who have a certain income to be able to pay 25 per cent of their income for the rental," Myers said in describing the program. He said the one-bedroom apartments would rent for approximately $195 per month, and the efficiency apartment rentals would be about $165 per month.

Myers said under the program a couple with a total income of $320 per month under Social Security could live in a one-bedroom apartment for $80 per month, and a couple whose total monthly income was $500 would rent the same apartment for $135.

He said persons who receive more than a minimum income could live in the project but still would pay only 25 per cent of that income for rent until they reach the market or maximum rent for the dwelling.

"The general rule would be 25 per cent of the income for rent until you reach the $195 monthly charge (for a one-bedroom apartment) and then your rent will never exceed that rate (unless rents are raised)," he said.

Myers added that a credit check would be performed on all applicants to live in the apartment complex before acceptance. When asked if residents of the village or parents of village residents would be given preference in living in the project, Myers said he felt that could be accomplished if there were sufficient persons around eligible as renters.

"We could do it (renting apartments) in such a way that only people in this area would hear about it (the project), and, further, I am sure that there is nothing wrong with our doing it that way," he said.

Myers said there were no racial requirements or quotas connected with the project. "It is no different than any other housing being built today under the civil rights statutes."

He said there would be a restriction of one person in an efficiency apartment and of more than two persons in a one-bedroom unit.

Currently the rezoning of the project is before the village plan commission which is expected to discuss the proposal at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the municipal building, 901 Wellington Ave.

Commissioner Leah Cummins said right now the rezoning of the land from B-1 (business) to multi-family special use is being considered. She said if the land is rezoned for a senior citizens housing project, then the details of the finished project will be considered.

Soda Pop Drinkers

Nixon Leads In Theaters' 'Straw' Poll

the Randhurst Cinema and the Mount Prospect Cinema.

These Mount Prospect movie houses, along with almost 400 others in the nation-wide General Cinema Corp. chain, are conducting a "Straw '72 Presidential Preference Poll."

The poll structure is simple. You buy a drink at the candy counter and then indicate your choice of whether you would like a Nixon or a George McGovern straw with your drink. They even have a neutral straw for the uncommitted.

WHEN YOU MIX politics and movies like this, you come up with a lot of Nixon supporters (not California gubernatorial candidates as one might expect). Maybe the fact that Nixon likes John Wayne movies is getting the wide-screen addicts' votes.

At the Randhurst Cinema, Nixon leads McGovern 78.7 per cent to 21.3 per cent, according to theater manager Ray Helon. John Misavice, manager at Mount Prospect Cinema, reports percentages of 70 per cent for Nixon and 30 per cent for McGovern.

Nation-wide, the poll, about a month old, shows Nixon with a slim 54.3 per cent to 45.7 per cent lead over McGovern, according to Helon at Randhurst.

A similar poll was conducted in 1968 when Nixon won over Hubert Humphrey by a 20 per cent margin.

New Dispatch System Starts

Police cars from Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village and Arlington Heights will be dispatched from the same location starting at 11 p.m. today.

Acting Mount Prospect Police Chief John Savage said the date had been moved up from midnight Saturday, however, a new radio frequency for the system will not be used by the three communities for "another two to three weeks."

"They are still testing encoders, satellites and other equipment," Savage said. He added that the frequency that will be used is an ultra-high one as used for television stations. As to whether television viewers may be able to pick up the police signals, Savage said, "That's one of the things they're checking."

The program, partially funded with a federal grant, is designed to increase the speed with which policemen can answer emergency calls. Only the three communities will use the radio frequency. Also, policemen will use portable radios which can be carried on their person.

In Elk Grove Village the emergency police phone number will remain 437-2131.

Truck Stopped; Seize 4 Aliens

Four illegal aliens from Mexico were arrested by Elk Grove Village police Tuesday when the truck they were riding in was stopped near the corner of Lam Avenue and Elmhurst Road on suspicion of being overweight.

Police said arrested were Francisco Sanchez, 27, driver of the truck; Benjamin Kasike, 39; Juan Montolia, 17, and Fabian Hernandez, 23, No. home addresses were given.

All four worked at Mornino Nursery in Wheeling. They were turned over to agents of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Police said the truck displayed plates for a 20,000 pound load, but the vehicle allegedly weighed 26,250 pounds.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Congress junked President Nixon's federal spending ceiling, overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill, and prepared to adjourn for a campaign battle already focused on charges of fiscal recklessness.

The Soviet Union apparently has finished testing an improved SS-11 intercontinental ballistic missile and its triple warhead and now may be ready to deploy the new weapon, the Pentagon said.

Democratic candidate George McGovern challenged President Nixon to meet him in at least two nationally televised debates and offered to pay for the network time out of his own campaign funds.

The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement which includes settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $800 million.

The World

The North Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris said secret talks held by White House adviser Henry Kissinger have failed to break the negotiating deadlock because of President Nixon's intransigence on both military and political questions. In Saigon, Kissinger arrived under heavy security for a new round of secret Vietnam talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

A second consecutive night of violence in which two civilians were killed brought about a meeting between militant Protestants and British military authorities seeking to avert a confrontation between the two groups.

The State

James Gallagher, 12-year-old son of a wealthy Barrington executive, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his 19-year-old sister, Eileen.

Orlando Wilson, former superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, died in California.

The U.S. Labor Department announced it has devised new "Chicago Plan" aimed at employing some 10,000 blacks and Spanish-speaking workers in the construction industry by September of 1976.

Jane Fonda in Chicago said she finds it difficult to convince Americans that it is not unpatriotic to be against the war in Indochina. She and other antiwar activists are making headway to make certain that the war remains the primary issue in the presidential campaign.

The War

Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam even as White House adviser Henry Kissinger flew in from Paris to discuss peace. War communiques reported Communist units launched 96 shelling and ground attacks in a 24-hour period. Fighting was reported 13 miles from Saigon.

THE DRIVER OF A tractor-trailer unit was given three traffic citations after his truck went out of control, struck two automobiles and jack-knifed. The collision occurred Wednesday morning at the intersection of Algonquin and Arlington Heights roads.

Mount Prospect Schools Asked To Teach Chinese

The state office of public instruction has asked Mount Prospect Dist. 57 to establish a pilot project for a Chinese language education program that will be used on a statewide basis in the future.

The district was forced to establish a limited program of education in Mandarin Chinese this year when a family from Taiwan moved into the district. The administration was able to contact a French teacher in Dist. 15 in Palatine who spoke Mandarin Chinese to tutor the three children.

THE STATE bilingual education service center at Busse School, where two of the Chinese children attend class, was able to locate educational materials from its curriculum library.

At present, the three children attend classes in English with the other students, then are tutored for an hour each afternoon in their course subjects in Chinese, as well as English. According to Adrian DuPont, the students' tutor, the children should be able to catch up to the rest of their classes by Christmas.

According to Percy, the program has included many advantages for the district. "Teachers are developing new teaching techniques. There is an exchange of culture. So we're getting a lot of good things out of the program," Percy said.

Burglars Damage Altra Plastics Firm

Elk Grove Village police said burglars gained entrance to Altra Plastics, 1520 Pratt Ave., Tuesday and did $4,400 damage to some aluminum cast molds, an electric welder and other tools.

Police said plant officials said it appeared as if the persons involved in the incident were very selective in the damage done and nothing seemed to be missing.

A plant official said currently some workers at the plant were on strike because of labor problems.

Arrested For Marijuana Possession

Rickey Briskman, 24, of 901 Cottonwood Ln., Mount Prospect, was charged with possession of dangerous drugs after he was arrested at a record shop in the Grove shopping mall Monday, Elk Grove Village police said.

He was scheduled to appear in Elk Grove Village circuit court Nov. 8 and released on $1,000 bond.

Football Concession Stand Will Be Moved

The concession stand on the Elk Grove Boys Football field is going to be moved. The stand is now on the west end of the field located behind the village municipal building.

A committee meeting of the village board of trustees decided Tuesday night the present location is too close to Wellington Avenue. The committee members felt there was a potential safety hazard if children gathered around the stand were to step into the street.

Norm Jones, Boys Football president, said the stand was placed on the west side of the field because it would be closer to an electrical power connection. He said the stand would be moved to the east side of the field.

The move will cause no serious problems, Jones said.

Board Supports Mass Transit

The Schaumburg Village Board acted Tuesday to support formation of a six-county mass transportation district excluding the City of Chicago and the Chicago Transit Authority.

The board voted to endorse pending state legislation to form the district, and also passed a resolution opposing another pending state bill which would include the CTA.

Action was taken after trustees heard a presentation by Mayor Howell Hollomann of Lombard. Schaumburg Mayor Robert O. Atcher urged the resolutions be approved last week, but the board deferred until members had a time to study the measures and talk to Hollomann.

Hollomann is chairman of the Six-County Mass Transportation Study committee, of which Atcher is a member. The committee developed the bill which would exclude the CTA.

COUNTIES REPRESENTED are suburban Cook, DuPage, Kane, McHenry and Will. Hollomann said the "entire committee worked together" to achieve a mutually desirable measure.

"Three bills are pending," said Hollomann, "but one is not supported by the City of Chicago." Mayor Atcher described the Chicago Metropolitan Area Transportation System (CMATS) as "dead."

Of the two remaining bills, Chicago is supporting one and the six-county committee the other. "There will probably be a compromise bill come out," said Hollomann.

The one favored by the CTA, House Bill 4313 or the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA), would extend the CTA to include the six counties. It is objectionable, said Hollomann, because the CTA "doesn't serve all the communities" in the counties, and because areas outside Chicago would not be represented on the governing board. The three-man board would have one member appointed by Gov. Richard Ogilvie, one by Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, and one mutually agreeable to the two of them.

"THERE IS absolutely no consideration of the suburban area," Hollomann said.

The bill supported by the committee, House Bill 4362, would provide a Suburban Area Transportation System, with a nine member governing board. Hollomann termed it wise "from the standpoint of the fear of individual municipalities" that they would have no voice or control in determining routes or operations.

"A major concern of the committee," Hollomann said, "is that thus far all public transportation routes have been into or out of the City of Chicago, and provide nothing for persons going from one suburb to another. To accomplish a trip between suburbs, a person must go into the city on one route and come out on another. A suburban system would promote north-south transportation."

"We were in general agreement, but we really don't know if the municipalities agree with us or not," Hollomann said in reference to the committee members. "We will have to testify in favor of this in the next few weeks before the governor's Task Force," he said.

"UP TO THIS point, no one would listen to us. Right or wrong, they are listening now," he noted.

Commenting the population of suburban areas now exceeds the Chicago population, Trustee Raymond Kessell said "we now in no way, shape or form have an equal voice."

ONE LITTLE pipesqueak sends Ken Shirey into the organ's core to pin-point the culprit.

A Love Affair With A Pipe Organ

by JULIA BAUER

Once a month, people up and down the quiet residential street of Carmel Drive in Palatine hear the sounds of a fullpiece orchestra come floating out of the basement of Ken and Karol Shirey's home.

That "complete orchestra" is actually a massive theatrical pipe organ which the Shireys have managed to restore to working condition over the past 10 years. The Shirey basement is literally full of organ. The huge 1920's Wurlitzer theatrical organ once provided the rumbling, wheezing, hair-raising background music for the popular silent movies in the days before the "talkies."

Today it sits in splendor in a Palatine basement.

WITH A SHIPPING date of March 26, 1928, the musical masterpiece found its first home in the Orpheum Theater, an elegant feature at Main and Market streets in Akron, Ohio. Since that time, it has become what the Shireys call "one of the most moved theater organs in history."

When silent movies lost public favor, the organ was given to an Akron Catholic Church, where it stayed from the early 1930s to 1960 until the church gave in to progress and ordered the electronic grandson of the old pipe organ.

A friend of the Shireys in Akron bought the organ with no place to put it, so it was moved three times in the following three years without being rejuvenated.

"The Wurlitzer picked up a few mouse nests, a little dirt, many nuts stored by squirrels, and some dents in the pipes, but other than that, nothing was done to it," the Shireys said.

So the Shireys bought the organ and moved it to their two-bedroom home in Akron. They moved it to their new house in Bath, Ohio, five years later, where it sat in a cathedral-ceilinged family room until 1969.

Just when they thought they were settled, Ken's company, International Business Machines, transferred him to the O'Hare office. So it was time to pack up the complex set-up for the eighth time in the history of the organ.

The Shireys aren't keeping their hobby to themselves. On the last Friday of every month, Mrs. Shirey holds open house for anyone interested in listening to or participating in the theatrical-organ era. Their basement, at least the part that isn't usurped by organ pipes, has been decorated as an old English pub, complete with checkered tablecloths.

The organ player in the family is Mrs. Shirey but her husband, Ken has been instrumental in the long hours of restoration required to get the organ in top shape.

Communities In Drainage Ditch Watershed

Officials To Discuss Soil Conservation Subdistrict

by LYNN ASINOF

Representatives from the communities in the Buffalo Creek-Wheeling drainage ditch watershed will meet at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 26 at the Buffalo Grove Village Hall to discuss the formation of a special subdistrict of the soil conservation district.

Buffalo Grove Village Mgr. Dan Larson proposed creating the subdistrict to control storm water in Buffalo Creek. The subdistrict would include the entire creek watershed, which runs from Lake Zurich to Wheeling.

Larson presented the idea at a joint meeting of the Wheeling and Buffalo Grove village boards last month. At that time, the trustees from both villages decided to pursue the matter further.

According to Larson, the soil conservation district law allows for the creation of special subdistricts to deal with specific conservation problems. He said that while special districts have been used downstate to combat soil erosion, they have never been used in an urban area for flood control.

THE PROPOSED subdistrict would span the Buffalo Creek watershed in Lake and Cook counties, and would have the power to condemn land and collect taxes. Larson said the subdistrict would also be able to borrow money from a federal agency and then issue bonds to repay the loan.

"It would be at least nine months before we could see a district," Larson said. "And it would be almost a year before we could get funding and really get it off the ground."

Larson said the special subdistrict would have to be created by referendum. He said the organizers of the subdistrict would first have to have the majority of property owners in the watershed sign a petition requesting formation of the subdistrict.

A hearing on the new district would then be held and a report compiled from testimony at the hearing. Finally, the trustees of the Lake and Cook County soil conservation districts would meet on the matter and hopefully vote in its favor.

THE TRUSTEES of the two county districts would also be the governing body of the new subdistrict. Larson said individual communities could hire their own engineers, run their own studies and then give them to the subdistrict's trustees for implementation.

Each community will be represented at the meeting by three persons — the village president, the village manager, and one trustee. Two representatives of the North Cook County Soil and Water Conservation District will also attend.

Storytime Sessions Slated At Library

The Wheeling Public Library will have weekly storytime sessions for preschoolers on Tuesdays and Wednesdays during November.

The sessions, geared for three and four-year-olds, will include stories, picture books, flannel board, movies, finger games and songs. The two children's librarians will run the sessions.

While there is no fee for the five half-hour sessions, registration is required. Librarians are now taking names for either the Tuesday or Wednesday programs.

"Love those sinkers (donuts) on Friday mornings"

He Deserves Some Dog-Gone Publicity

Smokey Is Leading A Sizzling Life

by RICH HONACK

It's been said that newspapermen have the ability to talk to almost anyone about anything at anytime. But it isn't every day a newsman gets a chance to interview an official firehouse Dalmatian.

My opportunity came during lunch one day at the Buffalo Grove fire station, where Smokey is the dog in residence. Conversation wasn't easy, but with a little patience and understanding his ideas came through clearly.

And talk about a life — that's it, being a fire dog.

Smokey didn't wait to get into the interview. "I've been waiting to be heard for awhile now. Everyone thinks the only animal that can talk is that big bear in the forest, but that's wrong. Several of us Dalmatians have been known to express our ideas," he explained.

"I MEAN," he said with a daring look in his eyes, "we are tired of the old joke — that fire dogs are used to find hydrants at fires."

He also said, "I'm in this station 24 hours a day. I know every crack in the wall and every bug within these confines yet no one ever notices me."

A master of wit and charm, Smokey admitted he has the firemen wrapped around his paw. He claims that he can get away with almost anything.

Smokey joined the Buffalo Grove Fire Department a year ago. He was a gift from a Wheeling fireman who could no longer keep him. Since that time he has answered all fire calls made by the department.

"I was planning to make the ambulance runs too, but I made a mistake my first time out," he said dejectedly. "You see, when we got to the house and the firemen began to console the patient, I began to console the patient's dog."

SMOKEY NOT only accompanies the firemen on fire calls, but he also gives them the sign that a call is coming. "I guess people have heard about the sensitive hearing we dogs have. Well, it's true. I can actually hear the click of the call coming in on the emergency phone line and I'm always the first one on the truck," Chief Wayne Winter confirmed Smokey's story.

Smokey claims he is also instrumental in keeping the fire equipment in top condition. "You can bet that as soon as one of the men crawls under a truck I'll be right there with him. I may not help much, but did you ever see a fireman trying to work on a truck's drive shaft with a dog licking his face? It's a riot."

"The Vulture" as he is affectionately called by some of the fire-fighters, doesn't keep his antics confined to the fire house.

That's why they keep me tied up when the doors are open," he said. "I like get out and check the night life in the village. And if I don't find any excitement, I try to create it."

"For instance," he continued, "One night I was looking through the garbage cans at the golf course across the street when a couple came walking out of the club house. I got in my launch position, and as soon as the man opened his side of the car, his wife had 50 pounds of Dalmatian sitting next to her," he confessed shaking his head.

LUCKILY, THE couple had a sense of humor and delivered me back to the fire house," he said.

"Flash," another one of his nicknames, also has been known to steal golf balls from the course while they rest on a green, or he just sits and stares at a golfer teeing off. "That really drives 'em

3 Hurt In Separate Mishaps

Three persons were slightly injured in two separate auto accidents Monday afternoon in Wheeling.

In the first crash, Rita Kott, 1722 Dover Ln., Arlington Heights, was injured. She was treated and released from Holy Family Hospital after her car was involved in a collision at the intersection of Wheeling and Palatine roads.

Edmund Roberts of Chicago was charged by police with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. Aside from Miss Kott's car, Roberts' auto reportedly struck another car and motorcycle. The drivers of those vehicles were not injured, according to police.

TWO PERSONS were injured when the car in which they were driving flipped over near the intersection of Portwine and Dundee roads.

According to Wheeling police, Richard Mason of Riverwoods was driving east on Dundee when his car left the road, traveled almost 90 feet, struck a drain pipe and flipped over.

Police said Mason and his passenger, Betty Hosker of Northbrook, were both taken to Holy Family Hospital, where they were treated and released.

"Oh no — Another bingo night without sleep."

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Congress junked President Nixon's federal spending ceiling, overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill, and prepared to adjourn for a campaign battle already focused on charges of fiscal recklessness.

The Soviet Union apparently has finished testing an improved SS-11 intercontinental ballistic missile and its triple warhead and now may be ready to deploy the new weapon, the Pentagon said.

Democratic candidate George McGovern challenged President Nixon to meet him in at least two nationally televised debates and offered to pay for the network time out of his own campaign funds.

The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement which includes settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $800 million.

The World

The North Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris said secret talks held by White House adviser Henry Kissinger have failed to break the negotiating deadlock because of President Nixon's intransigence on both military and political questions. In Saigon, Kissinger arrived under heavy security for a new round of secret Vietnam talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

A second consecutive night of violence in which two civilians were killed brought about a meeting between militant Protestants and British military authorities seeking to avert a confrontation between the two groups.

The State

James Gallagher, 12-year-old son of a wealthy Barrington executive, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his 19-year-old sister, Eileen.

Orlando Wilson, former superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, died in California.

The U.S. Labor Department announced it has devised new "Chicago Plan" aimed at employing some 10,000 blacks and Spanish-speaking workers in the construction industry by September of 1978.

Jane Fonda in Chicago said she finds it difficult to convince Americans that it is not unpatriotic to be against the war in Indochina. She and other antiwar activists are making headway to make certain that the war remains the primary issue in the presidential campaign.

The War

Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam even as White House adviser Henry Kissinger flew in from Paris to discuss peace. War communiques reported Communist units launched 96 shelling and ground attacks in a 24-hour period. Fighting was reported 13 miles from Saigon.

"If only I could find a way to get free!"

He's Top Dog In Station— A Fire-Eatin' Dalmatian

crazy. Get it?"

As for being a vicious dog, Smokey claims he has never bitten anyone, even though he has thought about it.

Sometimes I just tease people. I give them my vulture look (top of his head, even with his back) and just stare at them as they walk in the door."

"ONCE, THE GUY who delivers our telephones when we need them, walked into the station. He took one look at me in my attack position, dropped the phones and ran to his truck. Now, he just opens the door and slides the phones into the station, while I lay in my bunk trying to hold back the laughter."

Smokey's bunk is a large piece of mattress-type of material, covered with a leopard skin print fabric. It is under a table in the squad room, directly across from the television set.

To demonstrate Smokey's possessiveness of that area of the station chief Winter throw a dog biscuit on the bunk. Smokey immediately picked it up and dropped it on his favorite rug near the door.

"He (Winter) is always doing that to me. I mean putting a dog biscuit on a dog's bed is like putting crackers in your bed. It's not funny," he said.

"SNOOPY," as he is also known, usually retires for the day around 6 p.m. if he's not on call, or unless it's Thursday night. "That's bingo night and I'm lucky if I'm asleep by 1 a.m.," he added.

When asked how that affects him on Friday morning he answered, "Have you ever had a hangover?"

However, there is one cure for this Friday morning reaction the unusual canine claims — "Sinkers."

What's a sinker?

That's what Buffalo Grove firemen call the donuts they have left over from Thursday night's bingo game, and Smokey loves them. "All you have to do is mention the word and I am immediately at the refrigerator waiting in line," he said licking his chops.

CHIEF WINTER, since Smokey was too embarrassed, related an incident of one Friday morning when the firemen were sitting down to "sinkers and coffee" and had an ambulance call.

"We left everything on the table and took off on the call. When we returned we found Smokey standing by the table with his stomach almost touching the ground. He had polished off 18 sinkers and couldn't move," said the chief.

The young, spotted thief admitted that was the first and last time he ever took something from the table.

That is however, until he found out that because of my appearance at lunch the day of this interview he wasn't going to get any left over chili — his favorite dish.

Chief Winter said they still haven't found my notebook, and Smokey is still snickerin'.

Harhan Rapped For Delay In Street Topcoating

Wheeling village officials expressed dissatisfaction Monday night with Preference Homes builder George Harhan for his slowness in putting down the asphalt topcoat on Mockingbird Lane and Berkshire Drive.

At the village board meeting Larry Oppenheimer, director of public works, said Harhan has a contract with Rock Road Construction Co. to do the final paving. He added that he knew of no reason why Harhan had not yet finished the road work.

ACCORDING TO Oppenheimer, the roads should be topcoated when heavy equipment is no longer needed at the construction sites. He said that construction on Preference Homes has progressed to the point where there is no longer a need for the kind of equipment that would damage paving.

HOWEVER, HARHAN said he is still using cement trucks and tractors for final grading at two home sites. He said he does not want to pave the streets until all the heavy equipment is finished because the village might not accept maintenance of the streets if they were damaged.

The builder said he could not give a date for the final road work because he was not sure when building would be complete. He added, however, that the road base has been in since 1964 and is not causing area residents any inconvenience.

To back up his point, Harhan said that he has been living in the area for five years himself.

Oppenheimer said that while the lack of paving has not been causing any special inconvenience, "It makes a lousy-looking road."

Village Board Rebuffs Commission

Plea To Cut Plan Panel Is Denied

by JILL BETTNER

A request to reduce the size of the Buffalo Grove Plan Commission from 11 members to 9 was denied Monday night by the village board.

The recommendation was made by the majority of plan commission members following a vote taken at the Sept. 20 meeting. Carl Genrich, plan commission chairman, voted no on the question, commissioner Stan Haar abstained and commissioner John Yost was absent.

Outlining the reasons behind the request for reducing the size of the agency, commissioner Burt Harris told the village board he felt nine people could do the job more efficiently.

"IT'S TRUE THAT OUR apparent workload seems high," Harris said, "but nine people are sufficient to examine the plans for the developments before us."

Harris added that while he felt member attendance at plan commission meetings was generally good, it would be better if the agency were smaller.

"There's a tendency for people in a large group like this to feel that if they're not there, 10 others can take over for them," he said.

Countering Genrich's earlier argument that the larger commission would provide more opportunities for "new blood," Harris noted three of the current commissioners have served less than one year.

"We have new blood and we have people who are experienced," Harris said. "I think we have a pretty good cross-section."

GENRICH FELT so strongly that the commission should be kept at 11 members he submitted a report to the board prior to consideration of the request to reduce the size of the body.

"I'm not the kind of person who would go to the board and try to overturn a majority decision of the commission," Genrich said later, "but I felt this was a big enough issue to take my viewpoint to the trustees."

"I think the broader base we have, the better the quality of the commission," Genrich said. "The board has always expressed the desire to involve as many residents as possible in village government." I personally can't see a better way to involve citizens than the plan commission."

GENRICH ADDED that he felt there were other unspoken reasons for the request to reduce the commission, but he declined to elaborate.

Trustee Tom Mahoney expressed concern at the sequence of events at the Sept. 20 meeting that led to the request.

Five residents appeared before the commission asking to be considered for appointments to fill the two vacancies that now exist.

The commission adjourned to executive session to discuss the appointments and returned several minutes later to recommend Clarice Rech and Mel Kandel for membership.

It was then moved to ask the village board to cut the number of commissioners to nine.

"HAVING TOLD two people they would be recommended for appointment, and since it's a close argument, I think it would be better to leave the commission at 11 for now," Mahoney said.

Harris said the idea of reducing the size of the commission was not a new one and had been discussed several other times before the Sept. 20 meeting.

"We felt that if we hadn't considered those people that night and you (the board) had said no to our request to reduce the size of the commission, those people would have lost interest and we would have had difficulty filling the vacant positions," Harris said.

Freshmen Sex Education Is Approved

A new sex education course for freshmen was approved by the Adlai Stevenson High School Board of Education on Monday night.

In other action, the board considered a proposal to send the Stevenson concert band to Europe, approved a feasibility study for an area vocational high school and encouraged the athletic booster club to work with the Student Council in developing a new school park.

In approving the sex education program, the board asked that all material be made available to parents for examination and that parental approval be required of all students who wish to enroll in the course.

Principal Edwi Griffith has been developing the material with the help of Stevenson parents and members of his freshman staff. Griffith explained that the material would be presented as part of the freshman unit on "The Family," which is scheduled to begin in mid-November if the necessary preliminary paper work can be completed by that time. He further indicated that a physician, pharmacist and a nurse will be asked to examine the material before it is used in the classroom.

IN OTHER business, board members listened to a proposal by Band Director Dave Habley to take the Stevenson concert band to Copenhagen early in May, 1973, for a seven-day playing tour. Habley explained that he was developing a new honor band of 50 students who would form the core of the concert group. Each student would have to pay his own way, but he hoped that some of the cost would be handled by fund-raising projects. Round trip fare was set at $378. The board agreed to investigate the school's liability and legal position in such a project before granting approval.

A motion to participate in a feasibility study for an area vocational and technical high school was approved. A resolution authorizing the study will be considered at a later meeting.

A recent proposal by the Student Council to construct a small park in front of the school got further encouragement from board members who suggested that the council work with members of the Sentry Club in seeking funds for the project.

The graduating classes of 1971 and 1972 left sizable balances in their activity accounts but both are earmarked for use in constructing a large school sign near the entrance. The athletic booster club was asked to oversee the project. The funds total $1,575.65, according to the business office. The council wants to begin some landscape work immediately, including the planting of a few trees and shrubs, but has less than $75 in funds.

SUPT. HAROLD Banser presented a faculty profile study to the board which revealed that 65 per cent of the certified staff members have master's degrees or better. The average teacher has nearly 12 years of experience and has at least six years in Stevenson high school, according to the study, and the average salary is $13,257. There are 125 students per teacher and each student takes 6.2 courses, the superintendent told the board.

The board adjourned until 8 p.m. next Monday, when it is expected to name a new board member to replace William Tobin, a resident of an unincorporated area who resigned on Sept. 30. A delegate to the November meeting of the Illinois School Boards Association also will be selected.

Officials To Attend Area Meeting To Eye Flooding

Buffalo Grove village officials plan to attend a meeting of the Northgate Civic Association Saturday in Arlington Heights to discuss flooding problems in that area.

Some Northgate homeowners suspect part of the reason for flooding problems in their subdivision is the adjacent Mill Creek development. Both were built by Miller Builders.

Arlington Heights officials have refused to issue any new building permits for the Northgate subdivision until alleged defects in the development are investigated.

This will be the second meeting to discuss Northgate flooding problems. An estimated 200 persons attended the first meeting last Friday night. Representatives of Miller Builders were not present.

According to George Winandy, spokesman for the Northgate homeowners, some 125 persons have reported defects in their homes, or have drainage problems.

"Some things have been done already, but not enough," Winandy said.

School News Notes

Booth Tarkington School awarded its first "School Citizen Honors" of the new school year last week.

A committee of students, one from each class at the fifth and sixth grade level, met with principal Paul McKown to vote on nominations presented by fellow classmates.

The fifth grade citizen of the month was Mark Jaster, and the sixth grade winner was David Nellesen. They were awarded tickets to the Community Concert presented at Wheeling High School and will have silk "Honored Citizen Flags" in their respective classrooms for the month.

After a peppy political campaign climaxed by a school assembly filled with speeches, students at James Whitcomb Riley school voted for the candidates of their choice for the student council.

Elected to the council were Jay Blechman, president; Tony Scaletta, vice president; and Debbie Forslev, secretary. Members-at-large are sixth graders Al Acaletta and John Benoit; fifth graders Shuchi Uchikoga, Tom Johnson and Paul Burch and fourth graders Tom Ness and Andy Lund. The reason there were three fifth graders is because of a tie vote.

"TEAM THREE" at Eugene Field school will be featuring special activities every Friday throughout the school year. The students will be making applesauce, learning folk songs, presenting puppet shows and many other features.

Even though the events were chosen because they are fun, they involve a combination of math, science, social studies, music and language skills.

Intramural competition for boys began the second week of September at Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High school. Any boy in the seventh or eighth grade may participate in the program.

Sports included in the intramural agenda include: flag football, basketball, floor hockey, volleyball, and softball. All the sports scheduled are tentative.

Also included in a special seven-week season is bowling.

Seventh and eighth grade chorus members from Jack London Junior High School will take part in the Wheeling Choral Festival on Nov. 4 at Wheeling High School.

ALL PARENTS AND friends are invited to attend the concert, which will be conducted by Richard Whitecotton of Proviso East High School.

The Holmes Junior High school cheerleaders have been chosen for the 1972-73 school year.

Seventh grade cheerleaders are: Neysa Kehl, Charmaine Klein, Rose Abraham, Alyssa Cole, Chris Dahn, Alicia Welsensce, Denise Donsmore and Jeri Wallace.

The eighth grade yell leaders will be: Annette Bauer, Kathy Hogan, Pam Jaszurski, Tammi Miller, Betty Proszek, Lisa Sears, Debbie Krejcek and Connie Rohloff.

A cast has been chosen for the Christmas play at Jack London Junior High. It will be presented by the London Drama Club. The title of the play is "Be Deckin' the halls."

THE STUDENTS INCLUDE: Cathy Julison, Ellen Hayley, Mike Clancy, Danny Carpenter, Karen Anderson, Pat Bricksos, Jean Margalski, Tom Borchart, Cheryl Mitchell, Donna Wolff, Vince Azzano, Butch Koating, Scott Henricks, JoAnne Kozlmar, and Ben Thomas.

The students will also be making a field trip together with the Creative Writing Club to see "No No Nanette" in Chicago.

The Drama Club will be holding auditions Oct. 18 for the spring production of "Up the Down Staircase."

Man Charged On Drug Count

An Arlington Heights youth, 18, was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance Tuesday afternoon, one hour after he was involved in a two-car accident in Prospect Heights.

Cook County Sheriff's Police said Michael Williams, 25 E. Palatine Rd., was arrested for possession of a bag possibly containing LSD. He was arrested at Palatine and Schoenbeck roads, scene of an earlier accident in which Williams was involved, police said.

Police were not sure if Williams had thrown the bag from the car immediately after the accident and returned for it.

Williams was also charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. Police said the Williams car struck the rear of an auto driven by Lynette Valenza, 20, of 238 E. Jeffrey Dr., Wheeling who was stopped for a stoplight.

Williams is scheduled to appear in Niles Court Nov. 14 on the drug charge. His court date on the traffic charge is Dec. 4.

Soda Pop Drinkers

Nixon Leads In Theaters' 'Straw' Poll

Richard Nixon is the presidential choice of over 70 per cent of soda pop drinkers — at least at those attending the Randhurst Cinema and the Mount Prospect Cinema.

These Mount Prospect movie houses, along with almost 400 others in the nation-wide General Cinema Corp. chain, are conducting a "Straw '72 Presidential Preference Poll."

The poll structure is simple. You buy a drink at the candy counter and then indicate your choice of whether you would like a Nixon or a George McGovern straw with your drink. They even have a neutral straw for the uncommitted.

WHEN YOU MIX politics and movies like this, you come up with a lot of Nixon supporters (not California gubernatorial candidates as one might expect). Maybe the fact that Nixon likes John Wayne movies is getting the wide-screen addicts' votes.

At the Randhurst Cinema, Nixon leads

McGovern 78.7 per cent to 24.3 per cent, according to theater manager Ray Helon. John Misavice, manager at Mount Prospect Cinema, reports percentages of 70 per cent for Nixon and 30 per cent for McGovern.

Nation-wide, the poll, about a month old, shows Nixon with a slim 54.3 per cent to 45.7 per cent lead over McGovern, according to Helon at Randhurst.

A similar poll was conducted in 1968 when Nixon won over Hubert Humphrey by a 20 per cent margin.

Food Stamp Center Reopened

The food stamp application and distribution center will be reestablished at the Northwest Opportunity Center, 3411 Kirchhoff Rd., Rolling Meadows today.

The Cook County Department of Public Assistance will send two food stamp agents to the Northwest Opportunity Center every Tuesday and Thursday. They will be able to see 15 persons between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Appointments to see a food stamp agent may be made by calling Mrs. Sylvia Talamantes at 258-3464. Persons should bring rent receipts, utility bills, medical bills from within the last 30 days and proof of their income when applying for food stamps.

The food stamp center had been located at the Northwest Opportunity Center until last April when it was closed and all food stamp applications were handled through the Chicago office.

Jeannie Christopher, acting director of the Northwest Opportunity Center, said the food stamp center was being reopened on a permanent basis. She added the number of food stamp agents or number of days they are at the center may be increased to handle more people in the future if the traffic warrants it.

Communities In Drainage Ditch Watershed

by LYNN ASINOF

Representatives from the communities in the Buffalo Creek-Wheeling drainage ditch watershed will meet at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 26 at the Buffalo Grove Village Hall to discuss the formation of a special subdistrict of the soil conservation district.

Buffalo Grove Village Mgr. Dan Larson proposed creating the subdistrict to control storm water in Buffalo Creek. The subdistrict would include the entire creek watershed, which runs from Lake Zurich to Wheeling.

Larson presented the idea at a joint meeting of the Wheeling and Buffalo Grove village boards last month. At that time, the trustees from both villages decided to pursue the matter further.

According to Larson, the soil conservation district law allows for the creation of special subdistricts to deal with specific conservation problems. He said that while special districts have been used downstate to combat soil erosion, they have never been used in an urban area for flood control.

THE PROPOSED subdistrict would span the Buffalo Creek watershed in Lake and Cook counties, and would have the power to condemn land and collect taxes. Larson said the subdistrict would also be able to borrow money from a federal agency and then issue bonds to repay the loan.

"It would be at least nine months before we could see a district," Larson said. "And it would be almost a year before we could get funding and really get it off the ground."

Larson said the special subdistrict would have to be created by referendum. He said the organizers of the subdistrict would first have to have the majority of property owners in the watershed sign a petition requesting formation of the subdistrict.

A hearing on the new district would then be held, and a report compiled from testimony at the hearing. Finally, the trustees of the Lake and Cook County soil conservation districts would meet on the matter and hopefully vote in its favor.

THE TRUSTEES of the two county districts would also be the governing body of the new subdistrict. Larson said individual communities could hire their own engineers, run their own studies and then give them to the subdistrict's trustees for implementation.

Each community will be represented at the meeting by three persons — the village president, the village manager, and one trustee. Two representatives of the North Cook County Soil and Water Conservation District will also attend.

Storytime Sessions Slated At Library

The Wheeling Public Library will have weekly storytime sessions for preschoolers on Tuesdays and Wednesdays during November.

The sessions, geared for three and four-year-olds, will include stories, picture books, flannel board, movies, finger games and songs. The two children's librarians will run the sessions.

While there is no fee for the five half-hour sessions, registration is required. Librarians are now taking names for either the Tuesday or Wednesday programs.

He Deserves Some Dog-Gone Publicity

Smokey Is Leading A Sizzling Life

by RICH HONACK

It's been said that newspapermen have the ability to talk to almost anyone about anything at anytime. But it isn't every day a newsman gets a chance to interview an official firehouse Dalmatian.

My opportunity came during lunch one day at the Buffalo Grove fire station, where Smokey is the dog in residence. Conversation wasn't easy, but with a little patience and understanding his ideas came through clearly.

And talk about a life — that's it, being a fire dog.

Smokey didn't wait to get into the interview. "I've been waiting to be heard for awhile now. Everyone thinks the only animal that can talk is that big bear in the forest, but that's wrong. Several of us Dalmatians have been known to express our ideas," he explained.

"I MEAN," he said with a daring look in his eyes, "we are tired of the old joke — that fire dogs are used to find hydrants at fires."

He also said, "I'm in this station 24 hours a day. I know every crack in the wall and every bug within these confines yet no one ever questions me."

A master of wit and charm, Smokey admitted he has the firemen wrapped around his paw. He claims that he can get away with almost anything.

Smokey joined the Buffalo Grove Fire Department a year ago. He was a gift from a Wheeling fireman who could no longer keep him. Since that time he has answered all fire calls made by the department.

"I was planning to make the ambulance runs too, but I made a mistake my first time out," he said dejectedly. "You see, when we got to the house and the firemen began to console the patient, I began to console the patient's dog."

SMOKEY NOT only accompanies the firemen on fire calls, but he also gives them the sign that a call is coming. "I guess people have heard about the sensitive hearing we dogs have. Well, it's true. I can actually hear the click of the call coming in on the emergency phone line and I'm always the first one on the truck," Chief Wayne Winter confirmed Smokey's story.

Smokey claims he is also instrumental in keeping the fire equipment in top condition. "You can bet that as soon as one of the men crawls under a truck I'll be right there with him. I may not help much, but did you ever see a fireman trying to work on a truck's drive shaft with a dog licking his face? It's a riot."

"The Vulture" as he is affectionately called by some of the fire-fighters, doesn't keep his antics confined to the fire house.

That's why they keep me tied up when the doors are open," he said. "I like get out and check the night life in the village. And if I don't find any excitement, I try to create it."

"For instance," he continued, "One night I was looking through the garbage cans at the golf course across the street when a couple came walking out of the club house. I got in my launch position, and as soon as the man opened his side of the car, his wife had 50 pounds of Dalmatian sitting next to her," he confessed shaking his head.

LUCKILY, THE couple had a sense of humor and delivered me back to the fire house," he said.

"Flash," another one of his nicknames, also has been known to steal golf balls from the course while they rest on a green, or he just sits and stares at a golfer teeing off. "That really drives 'em

'Brain Research Week' Declared

Village Pres. Gary Armstrong Monday night declared the week of Oct. 15-21 as Brain Research Week in Buffalo Grove.

Armstrong made the proclamation at the request of the Buffalo Grove Junior Woman's Club. Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has declared this week as Brain Research Week in Illinois at the request of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs.

The Junior Woman's Club will be selling Tootsie Roll banks this week to aid in the fight against brain related diseases. Sixty cents of the $1 cost of each bank will be used to help support the Brain Research Foundation and the $3.5 million Brain Research Institute to be built at the University of Chicago's Midway campus.

The Brain Research Foundation is an Illinois non-profit corporation supported by gifts and donations from its members and others.

The foundation is affiliated with the University of Chicago and has mobilized more than $1,900,000 for its chartered purposes since its beginning in late 1953.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Congress junked President Nixon's federal spending ceiling, overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill, and prepared to adjourn for a campaign battle already focused on charges of fiscal recklessness.

The Soviet Union apparently has finished testing an improved SS-11 intercontinental ballistic missile and its triple warhead and now may be ready to deploy the new weapon, the Pentagon said.

Democratic candidate George McGovern challenged President Nixon to meet him in at least two nationally televised debates and offered to pay for the network time out of his own campaign funds.

The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement which includes settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $600 million.

The World

The North Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris said secret talks held by White House adviser Henry Kissinger have failed to break the negotiating deadlock because of President Nixon's intransigence on both military and political questions. In Saigon, Kissinger arrived under heavy security for a new round of secret Vietnam talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

A second consecutive night of violence

The State

James Gallagher, 12-year-old son of a wealthy Barrington executive, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his 18-year-old sister, Eileen.

Orlando Wilson, former superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, died in California.

The U.S. Labor Department announced it has devised new "Chicago Plan" aimed at employing some 10,000 blacks and Spanish-speaking workers in the construction industry by September of 1973.

Jane Fonda in Chicago said she finds it difficult to convince Americans that it is not unpatriotic to be against the war in Indochina. She and other antiwar activists are making headway to make certain that the war remains the primary issue in the presidential campaign.

The War

Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam even as White House adviser Henry Kissinger flew in from Paris to discuss peace. War communiques reported Communist units launched 96 shelling and ground attacks in a 24-hour period. Fighting was reported 13 miles from Saigon.

Trend For Jobs Is To Suburbs, Study Reveals

More Palatine residents are working in suburban Cook County than ever before.

That is the conclusion of the latest study prepared by sociologist Pierre de Vise, project director of the Chicago Regional Hospital Study.

De Vise based his findings on a comparison of figures in the 1970 and 1960 censuses.

The study focused on where people work and how they get to where they work. On the whole, de Vise found that industry relocating in the suburbs is creating a large market for employees in the suburbs, and at the same time fewer jobs in the city of Chicago.

De Vise provided the Herald with a breakdown of figures for Palatine, which substantiate the Chicago area trend.

Fully 72 per cent of the 9,400-person work force is employed in Cook County suburbs, 7 per cent more than in 1960.

Twenty-three per cent of the workers hold jobs in Chicago, down eight per cent from 1960. The remainder of the workers are employed in Lake and DuPage counties.

DE VISE ALSO noted that 81 per cent of the employed population drives to work, 12 per cent more than in 1960.

Some 13 per cent now take the train, and 6 per cent walk. In 1960, 23 per cent commuted by train, and 8 per cent walked.

De Vise attributed the increase in the number of persons driving to work to the corresponding increase in the number of jobs in the suburbs, and the limited amount of public transportation which is available.

His figures also revealed that two-car families are now in the majority in Palatine. Some 3,500 families have two or more cars, and 2,900 have one. Some 220 families do not have any autos.

De Vise said some 340,000 jobs were created in the suburbs between 1960 and 1970, accounting for a greater number of persons employed outside Chicago than in the city for the first time.

He indicated, however, that he could not say for sure whether the people came to the suburbs, followed by the jobs, or whether the jobs preceded the suburban population boom.

"DO JOBS FOLLOW people to the suburbs or vice versa?" he asked. "Is the demand for housing in the suburbs the cause of suburban housing construction or does the supply of housing create the demand?"

De Vise suggested that industries are moving from the city to the suburbs to provide safe working environments for their employees ("the Northwest suburbs are about the farthest industries can get from the black population"), and because they need more space for their plants.

He said he expects the trend of business moving from the city to the suburbs to continue "until the suburbs are saturated and no one is left in the city except the very rich and the very poor."

SUFFERING THROUGH the season's first hard freeze last night, these birds are out on a limb without the protective shelter of leaves to blunt the sharp chill of winds blowing across the area. Most other birds have gotten wise and flown for the sunny south, but these hard-core northerners seem determined to stick it out for a few more days. At least the competition is thinned a bit now.

Grand Opening Today At Palatine Mall

The Palatine Mall, featuring a K-Mart discount store and 12 other stores, will hold its grand opening today.

The complex is at Hicks and Baldwin roads in Palatine.

Besides the K-Mart, the development includes a Walgreen Drug Store, Elm Farm Foods, Sno-Fro Fabrics, Twillib's (men's wear and unisex clothes), Libby's (cards and gifts), Kinney Shoes, Junior Sophisticates (women's wear), Eleanor Stevens Figure Salon, Winters Hair Salon, Marie's Plaza, Household Finance Corp. and a currency exchange.

An estimated 300 to 400 persons from the Palatine area are to be employed at the various stores.

Some 804 parking spaces will be provided. Entrances to the parking lot will be on both Hicks and Baldwin.

Plan Commission Votes No

Animal Clinic Rezoning Is Denied

The Palatine Plan Commission has turned thumbs down on a petition to rezone property near Harper College for an animal clinic.

Plan commissioners contended a clinic on Algonquin Road northwest of Roselle Road would not constitute the best use of the land.

Commission chairman Thomas A. Moody Jr. said the property should be developed in such a way as to be more compatible with the nearby junior college.

"It's a prime corner, with awfully nice uses around it — the college, a cemetery and a forest preserve," he said.

The land should be developed as a whole, rather than fragmented into an animal clinic and a Taste-Freez, Moody suggested. The Taste-Freez petition was denied recently by the village board after the developer failed to submit data for several weeks after the public hearing.

THE REQUEST to rezone the property for the animal clinic was submitted by Dr. David Aul, who operates the Care Animal Hospital near Arlington Heights. He indicated the Palatine clinic would provide only outpatient care, with no boarding facilities.

No one had objected to the proposal at the Sept. 19 public hearing.

The plan commission's recommendation now goes to the village board for final action.

Band To Visit Mt. Rushmore

The Palatine High School Symphonic Band is planning a Fourth of July trip to Mount Rushmore National Monument next year.

The 65-member band and director Tom Trimborn discussed plans for the trip at a meeting last week. The group plans to fly to Rapid City, S. D. and will present a concert the evening of July 4 during the ceremony lighting the monument.

Trimborn said he got the idea for the trip during his vacation last year when he visited Mount Rushmore. Each night, he explained, a ceremony precedes the turning on of the lights on the monument.

In addition to the concert, the band will take a bus trip through the Badlands and return to Chicago July 5.

Students will have to pay their own air fare to Rapid City, Trimborn said, and some seats on the Boeing 727 jet will be available for parents.

Linda Murrans

Palatine Girl Homecoming Queen At Western Illinois

A Palatine resident reigned as homecoming queen last weekend at Western Illinois University at Macomb.

Linda Murrans, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Murrans, 939 Ventura Dr., is a junior at WIU majoring in speech pathology.

A 1970 graduate of Palatine High School, she transferred to Western from Auburn University, Auburn, Ala.

At WIU, Miss Murrans has been awarded a communication arts and sciences departmental scholarship and is on the dean's list. She also is a resident assistant.

Miss Murrans plans to work for a master's degree while practicing speech therapy in public schools.

TV Fire In Home

A small television set caught fire early yesterday morning, causing smoke damage to a home at 158 N. Babcock Dr., Palatine.

The Palatine Fire Department responded to the fire at 7:51 a.m. yesterday. Plastic from the television case created heavy smoke and the TV, a dresser and the wall behind the dresser sustained damage. Firemen were at the scene for approximately 20 minutes.

Short Circuit Blamed As Cause Of Blaze

A short circuit was blamed by Palatine fire officials as the cause of a small fire yesterday morning at the Ken Kiehl home, 186 N. Babcock Dr.

Fireman William DePus said the electrical short occurred either in the wiring of a television set in an upstairs bedroom or in the entire upstairs electrical circuit.

No one was injured in the small fire, which broke out at 7:57 a.m. Damage was limited to the television, a bedroom dresser and smoke damage to clothing and bedding.

The Little Sisters of the Poor of St. Joseph's Home for the Elderly in Palatine this week received a citation for their work on behalf of the elderly.

The award was presented by the American Association of Homes for the Aging during a convention in Kansas City.

Sister Gemma, director of nurses at St. Joseph's accepted the citation. Sister Gemma also was elected to the association's board of directors.

Rotary Seeks Names Of Elderly In Area

Names of elderly residents in the community are being sought by the Palatine Rotary Club, which is organizing a service project to help senior citizens.

Tickets Available For Library Films

Free tickets for the Palatine Public Library film series should be picked up at the library before the Friday evening showings.

The tickets are necessary "due to the popularity of our film program and the shortage of space for viewing," a library employee said. Tickets may be obtained at the circulation desk during regular library hours, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The library is located at 149 N. Brockway St., Palatine. "Dracula" and "Frankenstein" are the movies scheduled for tomorrow night's showing, starting at 8 p.m.

Planners Drown Out Car Wash Plan

The Palatine Plan Commission has sided with residents of Fairgrounds Park in objecting to construction of an automatic car wash on Northwest Highway in Palatine.

The plan commission voted Tuesday night to recommend the village board deny the request for a special use on the property, next to the Clark service station, for a MacClean's franchise car wash.

Auto Recovered, Driver Charged

A stolen auto was recovered and the driver arrested after Palatine police officer Howard Wurster spotted the vehicle pulling into a restaurant parking lot on Northwest Highway in Palatine Tuesday.

Harold Ray Hackney, 20, a native of West Virginia currently stationed with the Navy at Great Lakes Naval Air Station, was arrested on auto theft charges Tuesday. The arrest was made when the license number on the car matched the one reported stolen from Roselle, earlier in the day.

Hackney is set for a 9 a.m. trial Friday in the Arlington Heights branch of the Cook County Circuit Court. He is being held in the Arlington Heights jail until Friday because he was unable to post bond.

The plan commission's decision was based mainly on traffic congestion that the commissioners contended would be caused by cars entering and leaving the car wash.

ABOUT A dozen residents of Fairgrounds Park, homes just east of the proposed car wash site, attended the meeting. Thirty-one residents earlier had signed petitions objecting to the car wash.

Spokesman Eric Jones, 262 N. Linden Ave., cited among the objections, in addition to traffic congestion, the lack of storm water detention, the amount of noise, the lowering of property values and the shortage of space for cars awaiting their turn in the wash.

Jones said after the meeting the Fairgrounds Park homeowners would be prepared to go to court if the village trustees do not uphold the plan commission's recommendation.

Auto-Bike Collision Injures Man, 63

An auto-bicycle accident late Tuesday night resulted in the hospitalization of 63-year-old Mercurio Martorano, rider of the bicycle.

Martorano, of 1164 Paddock Dr., was reportedly on his way to work when he was struck while riding east-bound on Hellen Rd. Geraldine L. Swensen, 21, was making a left turn into the driveway of her home, 303 W. Hellen Rd., when the accident occurred. She was charged with failure to yield the right of way turning left into a private driveway.

Martorano is in satisfactory condition at Northwest Community Hospital.

Park District Office Closed Monday

The administrative offices for the Palatine Park District will be closed Monday in observance of Veteran's Day. Regular office hours will resume Tuesday morning at the Community Park building, 262 E. Palatine Rd.

Village Hall will be open on Monday but will be closed Nov. 10, the day before the original Veteran's Day. The village board will meet Tuesday night next week because public notices had already been issued before the decision was made to observe the holiday in November.

Zone Unit Eyes Apartments

Proposed apartment complexes in two areas of Palatine Township will be the subjects for the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals hearing set for Monday in the Palatine Village Hall.

One of the properties is a 40.5-acre plot on the northwest corner of Quentin Road and Poplar Street, which was originally chosen as the site of a northwest suburban drivers training center. That location was dropped by the state earlier this year.

The second zoning request is for 28 acres of land on the northeast corner of Hicks Road and Nicholas Road. Both zoning changes involve planned unit developments, which is a more strict zoning agreement between the county and the developer. Details of the developments will be described to the board Monday.

An application for a proposed Midas Muffler shop training center southwest of the intersection of Dundee Road and Rand Road was submitted to the Cook County board on Monday. The one-acre site is currently zoned for single-family residential development, and the Midas Realty Corp. is requesting B-4 zoning for a general service district. The Midas training site will not be part of Monday's zoning hearing, but will be included in another hearing later this fall.

A $4.5 MILLION senior citizens housing project may be built in a cluster of townhouses south of the Grove Shopping Center in Elk Grove Village. Shown here is one section of some 300 one-bedroom and efficiency apartments that would be built in the proposed federally subsidized housing development.

Elderly May Get Rental Supplement

Housing projects for the elderly are being proposed for many parts of the Northwest suburbs, and in Elk Grove Village a $4.5 million development planned for senior citizens may include a rental supplement to help the elderly meet the costs of today's rents.

The proposed development calls for a cluster of some 300 one-bedroom and efficiency townhouse apartments to be built on a site immediately south of the Grove Shopping Center and off Wellington Avenue. Persons must be at least 62-years-old to be eligible to live in the development.

Marvin Myers, president of Myers Associates, told village plan commission members recently that upward mobility in income was something rare for senior citizens even though inflation continues to push prices higher.

He said through a federal rent supplement program, to be incorporated in the development his company is proposing, persons who move into the project would be able to continue to afford to live there even if rents are raised.

"It (the program) would allow for people who have a certain income to be able to pay 25 per cent of their income for the rental," Myers said in describing the program. He said the one-bedroom apartments would rent for approximately $195 per month, and the efficiency apartment rentals would be about $165 per month.

Myers said under the program a couple with a total income of $320 per month under Social Security could live in a one-bedroom apartment for $80 per month, and a couple whose total monthly income was $600 would rent the same apartment for $135.

He said persons who receive more than a minimum income could live in the project but still would pay only 25 per cent of that income for rent until they reach the market or maximum rent for the dwelling.

"The general rule would be 25 per cent of the income for rent until you reach the $195 monthly charge (for a one-bedroom apartment) and then your rent will never exceed that rate (unless rents are raised)," he said.

Myers added that a credit check would be performed on all applicants to live in the apartment complex before acceptance.

Food Stamp Center Reopened

The food stamp application and distribution center will be reestablished at the Northwest Opportunity Center, 3411 Kirchhoff Rd., Rolling Meadows today.

The Cook County Department of Public Assistance will send two food stamp agents to the Northwest Opportunity Center every Tuesday and Thursday. They will be able to see 15 persons between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Appointments to see a food stamp agent may be made by calling Mrs. Sylvia Talamantes at 258-3456. Persons should bring rent receipts, utility bills, medical bills from within the last 30 days and proof of their income when applying for food stamps.

The food stamp center had been located at the Northwest Opportunity Center until last April when it was closed and all food stamp applications were handled through the Chicago office.

Time Running Out To Get City Name On Map

Time is apparently running out in the campaign to get Rolling Meadows on the official 1973 Illinois highway map.

"In my opinion, it's before election or never," Rolling Meadows Rotary Club Pres. Billy McMinn said yesterday. McMinn is the unofficial chairman of a local campaign that is trying, after years of namelessness, to get the city inscribed on the complete map of the state.

"If we don't get it before the election, it's all over," McMinn said. If McMinn is right, it means the city has exactly 20 days to convince Illinois Department of Transportation Director William F. Cellini and other state officials that Rolling Meadows merits mention on the chart, the same as Palatine, Arlington Heights and Inverness (population: 1,700).

If past efforts are any indication of the chances for success, however, it would appear the outlook is bleak for the city. So far a chamber of commerce sponsored letter-writing campaign, a city council resolution, and direct personal appeals from local state senators and representatives have failed to swing Springfield from its opinion that the map is just too crowded to include the city's extra 14 letters.

THE POWERS THAT be in the state capital say they can't accommodate every community's request to be placed on the map for obvious reasons of space. They have told city officials that the map, after all, is a road guide, not a city listing. They have indicated the best they can do for the city is keep it shown on the reverse side of the full map as part of the enlarged picture of the Chicago area.

McMinn refuses to accept these arguments, and to back him up he has produced a sample of the map which includes the city. McMinn has requested a meeting with Tom Corcoran, assistant to the governor, to try to present the city's side — and the map if necessary — and to try to enlist Gov. Richard Ogilvie's support in the city's behalf.

McMinn suggested the meeting to Corcoran two weeks ago when the two met at a Palatine Chamber of Commerce function. In a letter to Corcoran last week, McMinn said "having Rolling Meadows on the map is very important to us . . . we would like to have the support of Gov. Ogilvie and will appreciate anything that can be done to help get our city on the map."

As of yesterday, McMinn reported no word has been received from Corcoran's office on the proposed meeting.

STATE OFFICIALS have indicated publicly that no decision has been made on the Rolling Meadows request, and that the final map proof will not be submitted for approval until January or February.

But in a letter dated Sept. 26 from Helen Hyndman, assistant to the secretary of state, State Rep. Eugene Schickman (R-3rd) was told that "because of space and cartographic problems, the city will not be listed on the full 1973 map."

Rolling Meadows, however, may have its own exit sign off the Northwest Tollway (a recognition which happens to be one a number of other towns fight for years to get), but it seems that getting named on the state map is, as the song says, "like trying to get whiskey from a bottle of wine."

To Be Instituted In 4 To 5 Weeks

Police Park Patrol To Begin

A plan that would have city police assume complete patrolling of city parks should be instituted in four to five weeks, according to Robert Struggles, park board vice president.

Struggles said yesterday the plan was reviewed briefly at the board's policy committee meeting Tuesday. "We discussed it, but it's still open at this point. Everyone is definitely in favor of it, but it's just a matter of finalizing the plan."

He said the plan will probably be accepted within four to five weeks "because we're coming into our peak season."

The plan is especially designed to enhance security at the sports complex and parks during the hockey season. When approved, the arrangement will grant full policing authorities within the parks to the city police, who currently act only as ex-officio park patrolmen.

Under present terms of the proposal, the program would be funded on a shared cost basis with the city. The park district would pay 60 per cent.

In the past, the park district has hired a private firm to handle park security. The proposed arrangement, it is felt, would augment security at the parks at a lesser cost to the park district.

The plan is also being reviewed by City Atty. Donald Rose to assure the legal feasibility of the arrangement.

Church Donates $300 To Opportunity Center

Southminster United Presbyterian Church in Arlington Heights is making a $300 contribution to the Northwest Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows.

The contribution is being made in response to a Herald article about the emergency housing fund of the center. The money is from the church's profits from its newspaper collection bin.

A spokesman for the church said the parish became interested in the Northwest Opportunity Center because of involvement of its youth group in a tutoring program with the center.

At Central School Site

Plan To House Elderly To Be Given To Village

A plan to build low or moderate-income housing for the elderly on the Central School site in downtown Mount Prospect will be presented to the village board Oct. 30.

Plans are now in the preliminary stage.

Mayor Robert D. Telchert said he has called a committee-of-the-whole meeting of the village board for that night to hear the plans of Kenroy, Inc. for developing the property for elderly housing. Ownership of the land is held in a secret land trust (of which Kenroy, Inc. is not a beneficiary).

Roy Gottlieb, of Kenroy said the purpose of the Oct. 30 meeting is to "find out the climate of the village" with regard to the possibility of high-rise elderly housing at the school site, the southeast corner of Main Street and Central Road.

LAST JULY THE Herald reported that Kenroy was attempting to purchase the land for such a development, but Gottlieb yesterday said his firm will not buy the land. "We will be the developers," he said. Gottlieb said he hopes to have representatives of the Illinois Housing Development Authority at the Oct. 30 meeting, as one possibility is to build the housing under an IHDA funding plan.

Also invited to the meeting are representatives of the Cook County Housing Authority. One of the concerns of both Kenroy and the village board is how the private development would fit in with current village attempts to get federally funded elderly housing in the village.

Last July the village board agreed to work with the CCHA to request U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development funds for 250 units of low-income elderly housing. That request is now being processed by HUD officials.

"We don't know if one plan would kill the other or if both could be developed," Telchert said. "This is one purpose of the upcoming meeting."

"Elderly housing on that site would require variations as our present (building) code exists. The owner has a right to get a sounding on the feasibility of such a project."

IN ANNOUNCING THE special meeting, Telchert also told board members that although the question of price had not yet been settled, the village would be getting two seven-foot strips to use for the street-widening along Main Street.

"It is my understanding, after talks with representatives of the owners, we will have in our hands by the end of the week the necessary right of way," Telchert said.

A contract is being drawn up, he said, whereby the village will have the right of way and the price will be determined later. Telchert said the village has offered $18,500 for the strips based on an appraisal but the owners are asking for about "twice as much."

"Obviously the condemnation (which the village is still threatening to begin) would be successful and the only thing we are talking about is price," Telchert said. He stressed that no bargaining on zoning or building variations was made to obtain the right of way. "Development of the land must remain separate from the right of way question."

The village by this week's end must submit all the necessary documentation to receive the federal funds for the street improvement. The project is scheduled to be included in the federal government's Dec. 18 bid letting. The work will upgrade Main Street intersections from Evergreen Avenue to Central Road.

"THE LITTLE FOXES," a play dealing with the attempts of the Hubbard family to bring a cotton mill to the South, will be presented tonight and Saturday at Forest View High School. Here Mike Flickinger, left, Sherry Rakyla, and Steve Lampredi toast their plans in this scene. Curtain time is 8 p.m. both Thursday and Saturday.

Teacher And Board Contract Mediation To Begin Nov. 18

Mediation over a 1972-73 contract dispute in Prospect Heights Dist. 23 will begin Nov. 18.

Both teacher and school board negotiation teams have agreed to hire David Dolnick of the American Arbitration Association (AAA) as mediator. Dolnick's fee of $150 a day will be paid by the board and the Prospect Heights Education Association (PHEA).

Bob Atterbury, head of the PHEA bargaining team, said Friday he is unsure if mediation will settle the dispute. "It's really hard to say because we have never been through mediation before," he said. "But I would like to be optimistic that we can settle on Nov. 18."

ITEMS TO BE mediated include salary and extra-duty pay. The two teams agreed to mediation last month after they failed to reach an agreement during their thirteenth bargaining session. Last May both sides agreed to seek mediation but changed their minds because of the cost involved.

If mediation fails, the next step is fact-finding in which each side files a brief supporting their stand. The fact-finder then investigates the facts in the case, including the district's budget, and makes a recommendation. In Dist. 23, the recommendation is not binding.

"In the end, it's still up to the school board," Atterbury said.

The board's latest contract offer includes a total merit pay fund of $16,725, the same as granted teachers last year, and $14,438 in extra-duty pay funds. The board has also offered teachers a 2.5 per cent cost-of-living salary increase, which would cost the district $19,238 more than last year.

The PHEA has requested $47,000 in merit funds and have indicated teachers would agree to the 2.5 per cent salary increase if they received their merit pay request.

Police Vote Oct. 27 On Representation

Oct. 27 has been picked as the day when Mount Prospect Policemen will decide whether they will have the Combined Counties Police Association (CCPA) represent them as their bargaining agent.

Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppeley said yesterday he has received a letter of confirmation from the Illinois Department of Labor's Conciliation and Mediation Service for that date. Patrolmen will be able to vote 7:30 a.m.-8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.-4:30 p.m. in the village hall.

At least 19 favorable votes for the CCPA are needed for a majority of the 36 patrolmen. However, Patrolman Warren Fischer, CCPA local chapter president, has said that 21 patrolmen already belong to the chapter formed last May.

Hersey Homecoming Election Is Today

Voting begins at 8:45 a.m. today at Hersey High School in Arlington Heights for selection of the homecoming queen and king. The voting will take place immediately following the court presentation assembly.

Queen candidates for 1972 are Chris Wendall, Nancy Gallagher, Sara Kauli, Patti Jacoby and Bobbi Finch. Candidates for homecoming king include Pat Hart, Scott Robinson, Mary Friel, Dennis Fitzpatrick and Jeff Samaris.

Actual crowning of the queen and king will take place at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the gym. Attendees for the homecoming court are junior, Sus Burns; sophomore, Mary LaPlante; and freshman, Barb Buck. A mixer in the fieldhouse will conclude the evening.

Friday begins early with a breakfast for the varsity football team at 7:30 a.m. in the cafeteria. The pep assembly and a car rally through the surrounding neighborhood begins immediately after school. The homecoming game against Wheeling High School is scheduled at 6 p.m. for the junior varsity and 8 p.m. for the senior varsity. The king and queen will be presented just before the game.

Car Wash To Aid Cardiac Unit Fund

The Mount Prospect Jaycees will hold a car wash from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday at the Jiffy Car Wash, 99 Rand Rd., Des Plaines. Proceeds are to be donated to "Operation Cardiac Unit."

"Operation Cardiac Unit" is a program initiated by the Jaycees to help pay for cardiac treatment units installed in two Mount Prospect Fire Department ambulances. The units are tied by radio to Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. The device transmits vital signs of a cardiac patient to the hospital where a doctor in turn relays information on treatment back to the ambulance crews.

"The theme of the car wash is 'Happiness is a clean car,'" Kurt Carlisle, chairman of Operation Cardiac, said. "We are hopeful that all Mount Prospect residents will participate and enjoy the happiness of a clean car as well as the happiness of participating in a most worthwhile cause," he said.

The village purchased the two cardiac units at the end of the summer for $11,394. The Jaycees started "Operation Cardiac Unit" because, "We are concerned that if we don't have the money donated the village may have to cut back on service programs or else increase taxes," Carlisle said.

Carlisle indicated that the Jaycees are continuing to request the support of other service organizations in the area to help in the project. Any organization interested in additional information should call Carlisle at 392-7625.

Junior High Completion Date: Nov. 25

The River Trails Junior High School addition should be "substantially complete by Nov. 25," Wayne Fritch of K. E. Untied & Associates reported to the Dist. 28 board Tuesday.

On this date, Fritch said he will issue a certificate of substantial certification so students can occupy the new addition. The contractor has 30 days after this date to complete any unfinished work, Fritch said.

FRITCH REPORTED the science pod is already substantially complete. Students began using it Monday. In the rest of the building, the choral room ceiling work has been started and will be followed by ceiling work in the band room, Fritch said. According to Fritch, work in both these rooms should be completed in about a week.

Site work, including paving of the area behind the junior high, began on Wednesday. The only delay right now, Fritch said, involves the new school lockers which should be delivered on Oct. 30. He said it would take about a week to install these in the new addition.

Board Pres. Lloyd Demel said he had visited the school Tuesday and found the progress "heartening."

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Congress junked President Nixon's federal spending ceiling, overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill, and prepared to adjourn for a campaign battle already focused on charges of fiscal recklessness.

The Soviet Union apparently has finished testing an improved SS-11 intercontinental ballistic missile and its triple warhead and now may be ready to deploy the new weapon, the Pentagon said.

Democratic candidate George McGovern challenged President Nixon to meet him in at least two nationally televised debates and offered to pay for the network time out of his own campaign funds.

The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement which includes settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $800 million.

The World

The North Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris said secret talks held by White House adviser Henry Kissinger have failed to break the negotiating deadlock because of President Nixon's intransigence on both military and political questions. In Saigon, Kissinger arrived under heavy security for a new round of secret Vietnam talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

A second consecutive night of violence in which two civilians were killed brought about a meeting between militant Protestants and British military authorities seeking to avert a confrontation between the two groups.

The State

James Gallagher, 12-year-old son of a wealthy Barrington executive, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his 19-year-old sister, Eileen.

Orlando Wilson, former superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, died in California.

The U.S. Labor Department announced it has devised new "Chicago Plan" aimed at employing some 10,000 blacks and Spanish-speaking workers in the construction industry by September of 1976.

Jane Fonda in Chicago said she finds it difficult to convince Americans that it is not unpatriotic to be against the war in Indochina.

The War

Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam even as White House adviser Henry Kissinger flew in from Paris to discuss peace. War communiques reported Communist units launched 96 shelling and ground attacks in a 24-hour period. Fighting was reported 13 miles from Saigon.

WILLIAM WATSON looks at home in the Prospect Heights Post Office where he's spent 18 years as postmaster. Now retired, Watson plans to move to California after a vacation.

Postman Watson To Leave Area

William Watson thumbed through the scrapbook he's kept since he became Prospect Heights postmaster in 1954.

"As Prospect Heights goes so goes the post office — that's a quote I used many times over the years," smiled the white-haired Watson, who served for 18 years at the Prospect Heights Post Office.

Watson, almost 65, retired last month. A sign in front of his two-story brick home at 302 N. Elmhurst Rd. reads "SOLD." And he and his wife have passports ready for the trip they plan to take to Florida and the West Indies before settling in California.

The veteran postman likes to reminisce and can remember when the post office was just a collection of boxes in the drug store at Camp McDonald and Elmhurst roads. He recalls when the post office made the move to its own building, still at the same corner. And he talks about the time in 1956 when the mail was first home-delivered.

"WE HAD SOME problems with the switch, but nothing insurmountable," said Watson, whose glasses look as though they're about to slip off his nose any minute.

He started to laugh. "We had this carrier then who never carried mail before. I'm sure many people can remember how far at least a week he and I drove around after dark, still delivering the mail."

Still laughing, Watson told the story of one resident who always demanded he get his mail early in the morning, before the usual delivery.

"He used to chase the carrier down the street," Watson said. "Once he claimed the carrier tried to run over him."

Watson, now a grandfather, moved to Prospect Heights 20 years ago when you could look out the window and see cows roaming in a nearby farmer's field. "The main shopping area was then downtown Des Plaines," he said. "Randhurst" was just another field.

NOW THE FIELDS have turned into subdivisions and half-acre lots have replaced most of the farmhouses. Watson likes the change.

"I'm in favor of continued growth," he said. "But I don't think 'old town' Prospect Heights should be annexed. I hope we can now incorporate. The defeat in 1958 of the proposal for Prospect Heights to become a city was the worst thing that ever happened to this area," contends Watson, who in the past has been active in the Prospect Heights Improvement Association (PHIA).

Watson is excited about the future, but he says he'll miss Prospect Heights and its residents. "After all they're the cream of the crop."

Schools Asked To Teach Chinese

The state office of public instruction has asked Mount Prospect Dist. 57 to establish a pilot project for a Chinese language education program that will be used on a statewide basis in the future.

The district was forced to establish a limited program of education in Mandarin Chinese this year when a family from Taiwan moved into the district. The administration was able to contact a French teacher in Dist. 15 in Palatine who speaks Mandarin Chinese to tutor the three children.

THE STATE bilingual education service center at Busse School, where two of the Chinese children attend class, was able to locate educational materials from its curriculum library.

At present, the three children attend classes in English with the other students, then are tutored for an hour each afternoon in their course subjects in Chinese, as well as English. According to Adrian DuPont, the students' tutor, the children should be able to catch up to the rest of their classes by Christmas.

According to Percy, the program has included many advantages for the district. "Teachers are developing new teaching techniques. There is an exchange of culture. So we're getting a lot of good things out of the program," Percy said.

Blank Narcotics Forms Are Stolen

A book of blank narcotics prescription forms were stolen late Monday afternoon from the office of Dr. Vetol J. Jacey, 221 W. Prospect Ave., Mount Prospect.

Police said that the prescription forms are valuable and cannot be used to purchase drugs because the numbers have been circulated to all area drug stores. The door handle to Dr. Jacey's office was broken during the burglary, police said. They believe the burglary took place between 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m.

From The Library

by LAURIE ROSSI

One of the fastest growing hobbies in America is collecting antiques.

The Mount Prospect library receives two periodicals especially helpful to the antique collector. One of these is "The Antique Trader Weekly," published in Dubuque, Iowa. It contains articles and book reviews, as well as personal want ads and dealers' ads to help you locate just what you need and want. The back of the paper informs you of antique shows and auctions all over the U.S.

"The Antique Trader Price Guide" to antiques lists complete prices of all antiques, and is revised four times a year. Not only handy for looking up items you own, it also keeps you up on current trends in collecting. I found several plates I own listed, and was quite interested in seeing their value listed for the first time since I've had them.

The library has a 12-page brochure, available upon request, called "Your Key to Antique Collecting," which contains listings, by general subjects, of the books we have in the library for antique collectors. The first section lists books acquired this fall.

We now have "The Antique Buyer's Directory of Names," a directory of antique restoration (found in the reference section), a book on refurbishing antiques, and "Adopting American Antiques." There are also copies of "Antique Silver: A Guide for Would-be Connoisseurs," "American Silver Flatware, 1837-1910," and "The Collector's Book of Bottles." Women will enjoy "A Source Book of Antique and Jewelry Designs," and you can learn all you need to know about Baker furniture in "The Baker Book." We also now have books specifically on Queen Anne, early Georgian, and Chippendale furniture, and an informative book on recognizing, evaluating, buying, and caring for Early American furniture. If you have antique trunks to be restored, Dorothy Groves' book will take you through the steps to renovate their interiors and exteriors.

The rest of this handy book contains the entire library collection of antique books, classified in sections where you'd expect to find them: collecting and repair, crafts of the past, especially for men "antiquers," especially for women, antique furniture and decorating with antiques.

The library is open weekdays 9-5, Saturdays 9-5, and now 2-5 on Sundays. The Sunday hours begin in the fall to accommodate the school students.

Deadline To Appeal Tax Assessment Nears

Homeowners in Wheeling Township have only until Monday to appeal property tax assessments to the Cook County Board of Appeals.

The township books were received Friday by the board of appeals, which allows 10 days for appeals to be made. If there is any reason to believe that the county assessor's decision on value of your property was in error, now is the time to appeal "or forever hold your peace," said Marshall Theroux, Wheeling Township assessor.

Theroux suggests that the best evidence in making an appeal is to learn the assessments of comparable property in your neighborhood. He said his office is prepared to help residents get this information. The township office is located at 1818 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

A new assessment procedure went into effect this year. Assessors no longer figure an automatic depreciation factor in determining assessments, but base assessments on "fair market value," or what the house would bring if sold.

Theroux said that in most cases this will mean an increase in taxes for older homes, because past tax bills have been based on a figure that was less than what the home actually was worth. New homes, on the other hand, probably have seen a reduction in assessed valuation, he said.

THE INCREASE in taxes for older homes could mean savings that would have been realized under the old assessment system by elderly homeowners using the Homestead Exemption "come close to being wiped out." But, he added that the Homestead Exemption is still valuable in that elderly persons' taxes would be even higher than they are now had they not applied for the exemption.

Residents who have made certain improvements to their homes during the past year may also notice an increase in their tax bills, Theroux said. Some improvements do not increase the assessed valuation of a home, but others will increase taxes as the value of the home is increased. This has been true in the past, and is not an effect of the new assessment procedures.

Century Tile Ruling Nov. 8

A formal copy of a proposed consent decree which would allow Century Tile Co. to build a new store on residentially-zoned land in Mount Prospect will be voted on Nov. 8 by the village board.

In a closed executive session Tuesday board members agreed to have the tile company's attorneys draw up the decree so they could formally vote on the matter. Another executive session will be held before the Nov. 8 meeting.

Should the consent decree not be approved by the village board, Century Tile officials will probably bring the matter to court, according to Mayor Robert D.

Teichert.

A suit was filed in February 1970 by company owners Paul Spliwak and Frank Parks in which they have asked the court to force the village into permitting them to build a larger store on Rand Rd., just north of Mufich Buick. However, since this property is zoned residential, the village board has twice turned down attempts to build the building.

Only four trustees were present during Tuesday's executive session and Teichert said there was evidence that "the vote would be close" on the consent decree.

Man, 23, Stabbed; Treated And Released

A 23-year-old Prospect Heights man was treated and released at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines Tuesday after he was stabbed Monday night.

Cook County Sheriff's police said Thomas Wittmann, 870 Old Willow Rd., was stabbed at his home about 9:30 p.m. Police would not release further details of the case because it is under investigation. They would not say if they were still looking for a suspect in connection with the stabbing.

Mount Prospect Police said they were asked to search the area Monday night and to look for "any suspicious persons" who may have been connected to the crime.

Building Needs To Be Studied

The River Trails Dist. 26 School Board has ordered Architect Wayne Fritch of K. E. Unteud & Associates in Palestine to make a review of building needs at schools in Dist. 26. The board took the action in order to determine priorities for dealing with building needs in the future.

"Many situations have existed for several years and can be lived with," Asst. Supt. James Retzlaff said. "Others become increasingly worse as time goes on. Right now we find ourselves dealing with problems as they crop up instead of making solutions that will be good for years to come," he said.

"The money has never been available to provide refinements in the building program that you would like and are frankly necessary," Fritch explained.

Parents at the board meeting Tuesday questioned why bids were not let for the review work. Board Member William Haase replied that in a case like this, "you go by reputation, integrity and competence and in this case, familiarity with the district. When dealing with a professional like this, you don't go looking for who gives you the cheapest rate. You look for it on the same basis as you do a physician," Haase said.

Music For Youth Enrollment Down; Financial Crisis

A drop in enrollment has created a financial crisis for Music for Youth, Inc., the parents' group that runs the instrumental music program in Arlington Heights School Dist. 25.

At the Oct. 26 Dist. 25 Board of Education meeting the non-profit organization will probably ask for assistance in the form of some type of financial support.

At the present time there are about 550 students in the program, last year at this time there were about 800 students enrolled. Both the band program and the string program, which have about 270 students each, have dropped off considerably this year.

"It's very difficult to speculate about reasons for the drop in enrollment — there are probably lots of reasons," said Michael Fogel, president of Music for Youth.

FOGEL SAID REASONS probably include fewer new recruits to the program and some parent dissatisfaction with the band program last year.

"The program has a donation of $30. It's not free. The students who were in the old Dist. 25 band program graduated and new students don't fill their place," said Fogel. "It was easy for a parent to say yes to a child who wanted to try an instrument under the district program, but now if it may cost money, there may be second thoughts."

The program, which is going into its second year of operation, asks for a donation of $30 per student per semester. About 90 per cent of the students pay the donation fee.

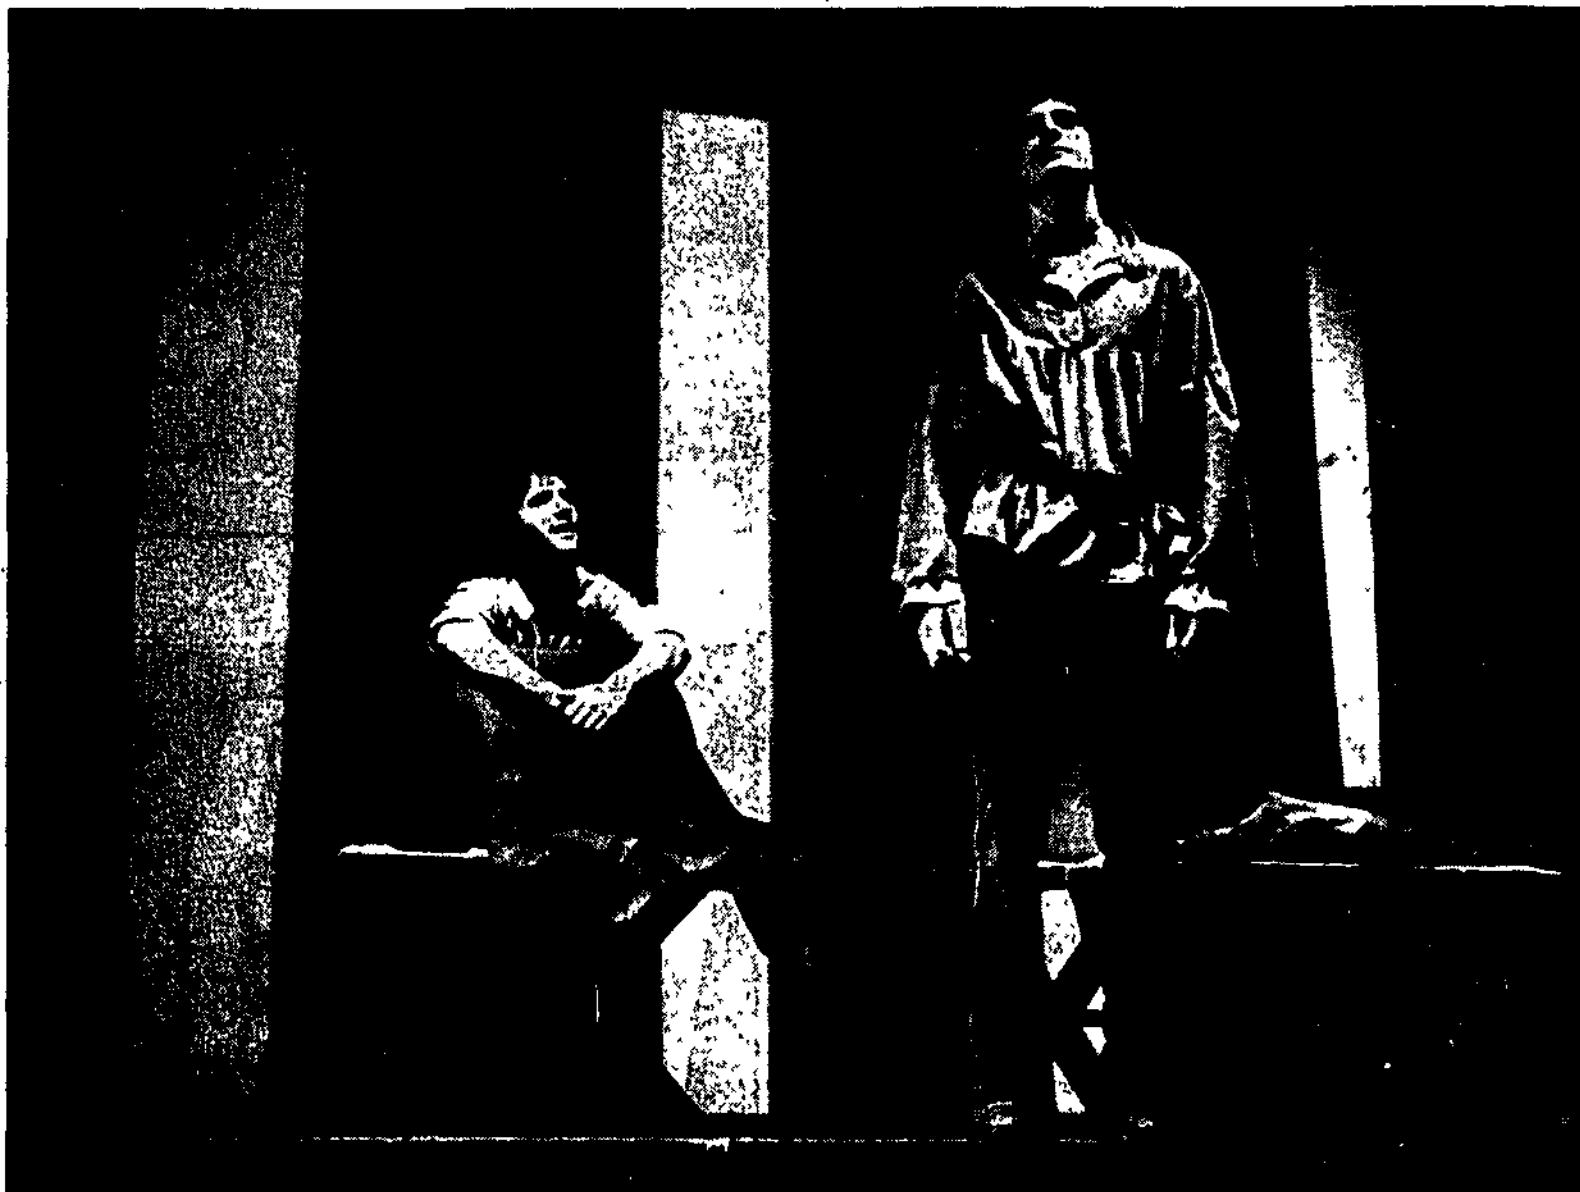

"ANOTHER POSSIBLE problem is that there was some dissatisfaction with the band last year as there was little co-operation between the classes and the band," said Fogel.

"This year we've improved the program, but it's possible that some parents kept their children out because of last year."

This year, Music for Youth has hired its own music teachers instead of hiring a music school to direct the program and the school district has provided a teacher to coordinate bands.

According to Fogel, if the school board can't help, the alternatives will be very

With Sanitary Landfill Nix

Village Forest Preserve 'Closer'

A private forest preserve for Arlington Heights residents came closer to reality yesterday when village officials said they no longer plan to use the site as a sanitary landfill.

Long-range park district plans call for the creation of a 23-acre park along Buffalo Creek, in 1973-75.

The village, however, had also considered using the same land for expansion of its landfill which borders the proposed site on the east. Yesterday Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said he has abandoned plans to buy the property.

The district's land acquisition committee recently recommended that money to buy the property be made part of a Dec. 2 referendum.

"AT LEAST 30 per cent of the land couldn't be used for landfilling because it's in the flood plain. And the cost of relocating Buffalo Creek would be high," Hanson said, adding that the village's land acquisition efforts are now being directed further north.

Both Hanson and Claude Daley, chairman of the park district's land purchase committee, say they think the Buffalo Creek property could be purchased for about $12,000 per acre.

The park district's referendum committee has recommended including $275,000 in the Dec. 2 referendum for purchase of the property.

That referendum is now expected to total $3 million. A final decision on which recommendations will be included on the Dec. 2 ballot will be made by the park board within the next week.

Tom Thornton, director of parks and recreation, said the land acquisition portion of the referendum will have to be studied further.

"I DON'T KNOW if the 23 acres near the landfill should take priority over land in the McDonald Creek flood plain," he said.

Village Planner Joe Keeler said he thinks both the McDonald and Buffalo Creek lands should be put in public hands and preserved as open space.

"I feel very strongly that these areas should be developed as park rather than residential or commercial uses," he said.

According to Daley, the 23-acre site adjacent to the landfill was recommended for inclusion in the referendum because it was the only tract of land in the park district master plan for purchase.

"ALL THE OTHER areas planned for future parks are planned as dedicated areas," said Daley. "We can't do anything about land planned for dedication except wait for a developer to give it to the district."

Park district plans for the 23-acre area include a lake and marina. Daley says he sees the area as a large park for Arlington Heights residents only, with a sticker needed for entrance to it.

Eventually the land could be combined with the existing landfill to form a unified recreation area.

Both Thornton and Daley said if the village had wanted to use the Buffalo Creek land for landfill, the park district would have put off its plans to acquire the site.

"If the village wants the land for landfill or anything else, it should have first chance. But we just want to make sure that either the village or park district gets it, not some industry," Daley said.

School District 'Barn Sale' Set

Over 700 used student desks and other miscellaneous items will be sold Saturday in one of the largest "barn sales" ever held in Arlington Heights.

The desks, being discarded by School Dist. 25, will go for $1 and $3 each, depending on the style. The sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the district storage barn located on the Palatine Frontage Road, 1/2 mile west of Arlington Heights Road.

Included in the sale will be about 500 combination desks and chairs for $1 and about 200 two-piece student desks and chairs at $2 each.

Other sale items will include two combination vacuum cleaner-scrubbers, two cafeteria sinks, two automatic potato peelers, a bookkeeping machine, two typewriters and miscellaneous 250-watt light fixtures.

The miscellaneous items will be sold for the best offer — over the junk price.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Congress junked President Nixon's federal spending ceiling, overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill, and prepared to adjourn for a campaign battle already focused on charges of fiscal recklessness.

The Soviet Union apparently has finished testing an improved SS-11 intercontinental ballistic missile and its triple warhead and now may be ready to deploy the new weapon, the Pentagon said.

Democratic candidate George McGovern challenged President Nixon to meet him in at least two nationally televised debates and offered to pay for the network time out of his own campaign funds.

The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement which includes settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $800 million.

The World

The North Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris said secret talks held by White House adviser Henry Kissinger have failed to break the negotiating deadlock because of President Nixon's intransigence on both military and political questions. In Saigon, Kissinger arrived under heavy security for a new round of secret Vietnam talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

A second consecutive night of violence in which two civilians were killed brought about a meeting between militant Protestants and British military authorities seeking to avert a confrontation between the two groups.

The State

James Gallagher, 12-year-old son of a wealthy Barrington executive, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his 19-year-old sister, Eileen.

Orlando Wilson, former superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, died in California.

The U.S. Labor Department announced it has devised new "Chicago Plan" aimed at employing some 10,000 blacks and Spanish-speaking workers in the construction industry by September of 1978.

Jane Fonda in Chicago said she finds it difficult to convince Americans that it is not unpatriotic to be against the war in Indochina.

The War

Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam even as White House adviser Henry Kissinger flew in from Paris to discuss peace. War communiques reported Communist units launched 98 shelling and ground attacks in a 24-hour period. Fighting was reported 13 miles from Saigon.

Truck Goes Out Of Control; Driver Issued Three Tickets

A Chicago man was issued three traffic citations after the tractor-trailer unit he was driving went out of control and collided with two cars Wednesday morning at the intersection of Algonquin and Arlington Heights roads, Arlington Heights.

Albert M. Smith, 37, of Chicago, was cited for defective brakes, damage to village property and driving without a driver's license. Smith was not injured.

Police said Smith was southeast-bound on Algonquin approaching Arlington Heights Road when the two left wheels of his tractor broke their mountings, sending the truck out of control. Smith told police he tried to stop but could not.

The truck collided with the right side of a southbound car on Arlington Heights Road, driven by Francine Schwartz, 34, 3 W. Lillian Ln., Arlington Heights. A wheel of the truck also damaged a car driven by Jose P. Abrens, 36, 1526 S. Princeton Ave., Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Schwartz told police that her car was pushed into a traffic signal on the south median of Arlington Heights Road by Smith's truck.

Mrs. Schwartz was treated at Northwestern Community Hospital for injuries to her right hand and released.

Weight Watching Class To Be Offered

Losing weight through re-educating peoples' eating habits will be the topic of Weight No More classes to be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

Classes will be taught by Linda Kraus, a nutritional expert and founder of Weight No More. Membership to Weight No More is $3, and $1 per weekly session.

THE DRIVER OF A tractor-trailer unit was given three traffic citations after his truck went out of control, struck two automobiles and jack-knifed. A traffic signal was damaged in the collision and an Arlington Heights woman received minor injuries to her right hand. The collision occurred Wednesday morning at the intersection of Algonquin and Arlington Heights roads.

Sociologist Studies Work Patterns

People Work In Suburbs

More Arlington Heights residents are working in suburban Cook County than ever before.

This was among the conclusions of the latest study prepared by sociologist Pierre de Vise, project director of the Chicago Regional Hospital Study.

De Vise based his findings on a comparison of figures in the 1970 and 1960 censuses.

The study focused on where people work and how they get to where they work. On the whole, de Vise found that industry relocating in the suburbs is creating more jobs in the suburbs, and at the same time fewer jobs in the City of Chicago.

De Vise provided The Herald with a breakdown of figures for Arlington Heights which substantiate the Chicago area trend.

FULLY 70 PER cent of the 25,376 work force is employed in suburban Cook County, 23 per cent more than in 1960. Some 27 per cent of the work force holds jobs in the Loop, according to the 1970 census, a drop from the 43 per cent in 1960.

The remainder of the workers are employed in Lake and DuPage counties.

De Vise also noted that 81 per cent of the employed population drives to work, 11 per cent more than in 1960.

Some 15 per cent now takes the train to work, and four per cent walks. In 1960, 23 per cent commuted by train, and seven per cent walked to work.

De Vise attributed the increase in the number of persons driving to work to the corresponding increase in the number of jobs in the suburbs, and the limited amount of public transportation.

1970 FIGURES also revealed that two-car families are now in the majority in Arlington Heights. In 1960, 4,500 families had one auto, and 2,400 families had two.

In 1970, however, 7,500 families had one car, and 9,000 had two. The number of families with no cars, increased from 260 in 1960 to 600 in 1970.

De Vise said some 340,000 jobs were created in the suburbs between 1960 and 1970, accounting for a greater number of persons employed outside Chicago than in the city for the first time.

He indicated, however, that he could not say for sure whether the people came to the suburbs, followed by the jobs, or whether the jobs preceded the suburban population increase.

"DO JOBS FOLLOW people to the suburbs or vice versa?" he said. "Is the demand for housing in the suburbs the cause of suburban housing construction or does the supply of housing create the demand?"

He suggested that industries are moving from the city to the suburbs to provide safe working environments for their employees ("the Northwest suburbs are about the farthest industries can get from the black population") and because they need more space for their plants.

De Vise added he expects the trend of businesses moving to the suburbs to continue "until the suburbs are saturated and Chicago consists of nothing but the very rich and the very poor."

Board OKs Purchase Of 400 Trees

The Arlington Heights Village Board has approved spending $2,174.25 for the purchase of 400 trees from the Charles Klehm & Son nursery in Arlington Heights.

The trees, which will be planted throughout the village probably beginning next month, are of five main varieties.

Residents who are scheduled to have a tree planted in the parkway in front of their house this year will have the option of paying an additional sum to have a slightly larger tree planted, according to Asst. Village Mgr. Darryl Kenning.

Most of the standard trees are between two and three inches in diameter.

By paying an additional fee, residents will be able to order a slightly larger diameter tree and specify certain particular species, Kenning said.

The precise cost of the bigger trees has not been figured yet, although it probably will be about $25, he said.

HOMEOWNERS scheduled for tree replacement will be sent a letter explaining the tree options and listing the costs, Kenning said.

The trees to be purchased are Marshall Seedless Green Ash, Emerald Queen Norway Maple, Greenspire Linden, Shal-master Honey Locust and Washington Hawthorn.

According to Village Forester Erwin

Page, the trees will be spotted throughout the village, with a slight concentration along south Evergreen, Dunton, and Vall avenues which were hard hit by Dutch Elm disease this year.

In approving the tree bids Monday night, Trustee Alice Harms said she was "concerned over the village's tree trimming policy."

"If you walk down the streets of our subdivisions we have beautiful trees but they're not being taken care of," Mrs. Harms said, charging that before this year, the village had not had a systematic tree trimming for seven years.

Arlington Heights Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson disputed the claim that trees were not being trimmed adequately and said he would prepare a report on the village tree trimming program for consideration at a later board meeting.

This year all the trees in the Scarsdale subdivision were trimmed, he said.

Election Is Today

Voting begins at 8:45 a.m. today at Hersey High School in Arlington Heights for selection of the homecoming queen and king. The voting will take place immediately following the court presentation assembly.

Queen candidates for 1972 are Chris Wendell, Nancy Gallagher, Sara Kaul, Patti Jacoby and Bobbi Finch. Candidates for homecoming king include Pat Hart, Scott Robinson, Mary Friel, Dennis Fitzpatrick and Jeff Samaris.

Actual crowning of the queen and king will take place at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the gym. Attendants for the homecoming court are junior, Sue Burns; sophomore, Mary LaPlante; and freshman, Barb Buck. A mixer in the fieldhouse will conclude the evening.

Friday begins early with a breakfast for the varsity football team at 7:30 a.m. in the cafeteria. The pep assembly and a car rally through the surrounding neighborhood begins immediately after school. The homecoming game against Wheeling High School is scheduled at 6 p.m. for the junior varsity and 8 p.m. for the senior varsity. The king and queen will be presented just before the game.

She's Named Semi-Finalist

A 15-year-old Arlington Heights girl, Mary Geryl Jenkins, has been named a semi-finalist in the Miss Teenage America contest.

Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Jenkins, 607 S. Walnut Ave., and was one of 175 girls from across the country to be named a semi-finalist as a candidate-at-large.

Should she be selected as one of five finalists, Miss Jenkins would be eligible to compete in the Miss Teenage America Pageant which will be broadcast on CBS television on Nov. 25.

Miss Jenkins is a sophomore at Rolling Meadows High School. She has studied piano for 10 years and is a model at the Montgomery Ward store at Randhurst.

Park Referendum OK Cost: About 12.5 Cents Per $100

If the entire Arlington Heights Park District $3 million referendum passes Dec. 2, it would cost taxpayers about 12.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The referendum probably will include a $3 million bond issue for improvements and an increase of .025 in the corporate tax rate to pay for maintenance on new facilities.

The average Arlington Heights taxpayer would pay about $15 more for the first year of the tax. Each year thereafter, the rate would steadily decrease.

"We figure the park district tax rate would go from .375 to .475 for the $3 million bond issue," said Roger Burke, park district treasurer. "This is based on the current total assessed valuation of the district, however, and since that total will probably go up, the rate may go down a little."

The current bonding power of the district is $3.3 million.

RESIDENTS MAY also be asked to approve an increase in the park district's tax rate for the purpose of maintaining the new facilities. The raise would be .025 in the corporate tax rate, or 2.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The added tax rate would raise an estimated $70,000 for maintenance costs. The rate would add about $3 to the average tax bill of Arlington Heights residents.

At the present time, the average resident with an equitized assessed valuation of $12,000 pays a tax bill of about $900. Of that, about $45 goes to the park district.

The Citizens' Referendum Committee will meet Thursday to determine whether to include all $3 million worth of park district improvements in one referendum question. The improvements include an indoor ice rink, a theater, a maintenance garage, the renovation of Recreation Park Swimming Pool, land purchases and general park improvements.

ATA Membership Is Down To 16

Membership in the Arlington Teacher's Association (ATA), is down 16 teachers from last year it was announced at the monthly ATA meeting.

There are 338 teachers in the association, which is 77 per cent of the teachers in Arlington Heights School Dist. 25.

Over $400 has been contributed to the ATA Welfare Fund by teachers of the district, it was announced yesterday. According to ATA officials the fund will be used for any member who has an emergency and needs financial assistance.

The fund was recently depleted recently as over $2,000 has gone to help pay legal

"The welfare fund is also open to public contributions," said Jim Modoc, vice president of the ATA.

ATA members also heard speeches by Eugenia Chapman, Aaron Jaffee, Harold Katz and Anne Matasor all of whom are seeking election to the state legislature in November. All four candidates are endorsed by the Illinois Education Association.

Ward Remap To Cost Village Thousands

City council maneuvering over ward redistricting apparently will cost Des Plaines thousands of dollars because of election preparation delays.

City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach told the Herald yesterday she has hired two part-time employees to complete ward remap clerical work in time for the city's April 1973 election.

Mrs. Rohrbach said she intends to hire a total of at least 10 part-time persons, who will receive $2.50 an hour, and set up remap headquarters in a storefront office near city hall.

The city clerk talked of working between mid-November and late December to complete preparations. Ten 40-hour a week workers for six weeks could cost $6,000, at the $2.50 hourly rate.

TWO COUNCIL members, Ald. Alan Abrams (8th) and Ald. Robert Michaels (8th) blocked consideration of a committee-approved map Monday. A motion by the aldermen deferred consideration of the remap until Nov. 6.

Mrs. Rohrbach told council members last month, after two of her remap proposals were rejected "politically," that the reapportionment, required to meet "one man, one vote" court guidelines, must be completed Oct. 15.

She warned that further delay would force hiring of "20 people and increase my appropriations sky high."

Hiring of the two housewives, who will begin work Nov. 13, will not require an increase in Mrs. Rohrbach's $38,000 budget. As of June 30, the clerk spent $20,000 and "we think there's enough money left to hire these people in my current budget."

"I just don't know how much this will cost. I don't know the speed these people can work at. It's all very complicated and we may need more money," she said.

MRS. ROHRBACH discussed funding of the remap project with Comptroller Duane Blietz and Mayor Herb Behrel yesterday.

"A stroke of good luck" will save some remap cost, Mrs. Rohrbach said. A city-owned store, at 1428 Miner St., will be vacated Nov. 1. The store, next to the clerk's office, will be available for the remap. Mrs. Rohrbach said yesterday that she "already has hired a carpenter to put a door in" between her office and the store.

The three-week delay, after Abrams offered an alternate map more favorable to 8th Ward residents, caused Mrs. Rohrbach Wednesday to delay her election preparation process.

"I had scheduled today to begin," she said. Three current, part-time city employees were available to start the work. "Now I have to wait to at least Nov. 8," she said. "I've lost three weeks."

THE PREPARATION, which includes plotting legal descriptions of wards and precincts, dividing the city into about 40 precincts of less than 800 persons, checking registration cards, locating polling places and legal publications, must be completed by early January, she said.

Jan. 18 is first day for candidates to file nominating petitions. "These people need to know the number of signatures they need. They'll want two, three or four weeks to circulate the petitions," she said.

Mrs. Rohrbach estimates that the city's 30,000 voter registration cards must be handled at least three times to properly sort the cards, determine percentage of people per precinct who voted in the last election and place cards in precinct binders.

"I'm interested in people who can do an accurate job," Mrs. Rohrbach said. "I've already contacted the League of Women Voters who have members interested in this sort of thing."

THE COMMITTEE-APPROVED map, which gerrymanders current aldermen into home wards, will be more difficult to divide. "Thinking of setting up the boardaries... I'm sick already," she said.

The Abrams map, which contains more straight-line, common boundaries would be easier to work with. "Where the building department records don't show house numbers, we'll still have to go out on foot," she said.

Delay in considering the remap since last spring may also cause difficulty in computerizing voter lists, Mrs. Rohrbach said.

The election, in addition to remap costs, will total about $15,000, she estimated.

Police May Have 'Party Line' Radio

by JACK PENCHOFF

The Des Plaines Police Department, which now dispatches emergency calls on its own radio frequency, may be joined by two other area police departments on the network in a countywide effort to eliminate overcrowded police radio channels.

A communications study prepared for the Chicago-Cook County Criminal Justice Commission by the Illinois Institute of Technology (ITT) Research Institute, says Des Plaines, Park Ridge and Rosemont should share a single radio network for police calls.

The study, as yet unreleased, which will be presented to the commission for final approval Nov. 14, outlines 26 networks grouping suburban police departments together according to location and number of calls handled.

Bernie Epstein, of the ITT Research Institute, who helped prepare the study, said it will be up to the individual departments to get together and decide whether they will follow the recommendations.

Figures in the study show that in south suburban Cook County there are 35 towns with a total population of 464,858 on a single police radio network.

In west suburban Cook County one network is shared by departments in 17 suburbs with a total population of 334,705 persons.

Included in that network is Hillside, where Patrolman Anthony Raymond disappeared last month. At the time, police said Raymond's message relaying the license number of an auto he was stopping was interrupted when another police department began dispatching over the same frequency. Police believe the partial license number they got belonged to Raymond's abductors.

On the other hand, the small community of Golf with a population of 500 has its own radio network.

According to the communications study the number of networks available to police departments would be increased from 6 to 26 because of more channels being made available by the Federal

No Argument—They're The Champs

by KATHERINE BOYCE

Don't argue with anyone on the Maine East High School debate team, they're champions.

Last year the school's varsity team took the state championship title and also won several national contests. David Jeffers, head of the speech and drama department, said this year's team is as good if not better and he is confident they will take the state title again in March.

Two Maine East debaters, Tom Laman and Mike Ginsburg, won the Baylor University Institute debate, attended by debaters from 17 states, in Dallas, Tex., this summer. Last year's champs at Maine East won the Baylor title in 1971.

Interest in debate has soared this year, said Jeffers, as 35 students registered this fall for the beginning debate class. "Everyone loves a winning team," he said, and more and more students are joining the debate club as part of their after school activities.

DEBATE IS the most enriching extracurricular activity a student can have, said Jeffers. It teaches him "the ability to think on his feet," to do research, express himself, work on a team and develop "critical thinking," he said.

"The whole idea of debating in tournaments is enjoyable," according to Ginsburg. "And it really can lead you into a lot of other things" like research ability and the ability to think quickly, he said.

Ginsburg says there's no question that the Maine East debate team will take the state title in March. "I have seen some of the teams in action and I've beaten a lot of them," he said.

Ginsburg said the success of the Maine East debate team began about five years ago when Robert Swanson was hired as the debate coach. Maine East has a new coach this year, David Hamacher, and according to Jeffers and Ginsburg, he's every bit as good as Swanson.

THIS YEAR'S state-wide debate topic is, "Resolved: that governmental financial support for all elementary and secondary education in the United States should be provided exclusively by the federal government." Most debate tournaments involve four rounds, two supporting the topic and two against it.

Debate is a difficult mental exercise, said Jeffers. The debater must listen to his opponent, think about the reply he will make, and flip through his file cards to find the right information, all at the same time. When his opponent is through he must put it all together and present his speech to the judges as eloquently and persuasively as possible.

Parents at Maine East are just as enthusiastic about debate as the students and are organizing a boosters club this year to support the team. A small membership fee is asked of each parent and through these dues and fund-raising activities, the parents club hopes to send debaters to more tournaments this year.

The debate club has a budget with funds supplied through the Dist. 207 Board of Education. Parents hope to supplement the fund by giving debaters additional room and board money when they must make an overnight trip for a tournament.

THERE ARE 22 students on the varsity and junior varsity debate teams this year and 26 on the novice team, the largest turnout in the school's history. Although the debate team is not part of the school's curriculum, most of the students enrolled in beginning debate and advanced debate at Maine East, have tried out for the debate team.

Jeffers feels that the critical thinking developed by debate is lacking in today's society. "We should not have a 'silent majority' in this country," said Jeffers, "too many people are not capable of picking out and analyzing what is being sold to them," he said, using television commercials and political campaigns as examples.

Teaching debate, drama, and speech is one of the most rewarding fields a teacher can be in, he said. The results, as far as the development of the students' potential, are almost immediate, said Jeffers.

Behrel To See Nixon Sign Bill

Mayor Herbert Behrel has been invited to Independence Hall in Philadelphia to witness the signing of the federal revenue sharing bill.

Behrel received the invitation by telegram from President Richard Nixon. Gov. Richard Ogilvie also has been in National League of Cities which fought vited to attend the signing ceremonies for the bill.

the Herald yesterday. "I assume I was very state of the Union" and the board of Oct. 26, Des Plaines' share of funds from Behrel predicted that "governors in ev-directors of the Conference of Mayors also will be invited to the signing. The mayor predicted last week that Des Plaines will receive its revenue funds about Oct. 25. The city council will meet Nov. 1 as a committee of the whole to discuss program priorities.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Congress junked President Nixon's federal spending ceiling, overrode his veto of a $24.6 billion clean water bill, and prepared to adjourn for a campaign battle already focused on charges of fiscal recklessness.

The Soviet Union apparently has finished testing an improved SS-11 intercontinental ballistic missile and its triple warhead and now may be ready to deploy the new weapon, the Pentagon said.

Democratic candidate George McGovern challenged President Nixon to meet him in at least two nationally televised debates and offered to pay for the network time out of his own campaign funds.

The United States and the Soviet Union have reached a comprehensive trade agreement which includes settlement of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States, on which this country had claimed $800 million.

The World

The North Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris said secret talks held by White House adviser Henry Kissinger have failed to break the negotiating deadlock because of President Nixon's intransigence on both military and political questions. In Saigon, Kissinger arrived under heavy security for a new round of secret Vietnam talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

A second consecutive night of violence in which two civilians were killed brought about a meeting between militant Protestants and British military authorities seeking to avert a confrontation between the two groups.

The State

James Gallagher, 12-year-old son of a wealthy Barrington executive, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of his 15-year-old sister, Eileen.

Orlando Wilson, former superintendent of the Chicago Police Department, died in California.

The U.S. Labor Department announced it has devised new "Chicago Plan" aimed at employing some 10,000 blacks and Spanish-speaking workers in the construction industry by September of 1973.

Jane Fonda in Chicago said she finds it difficult to convince Americans that it is not unpatriotic to be against the war in Indochina.

The War

Communist forces stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam even as White House adviser Henry Kissinger flew in from Paris to discuss peace. War communiques reported Communist units launched 96 shelling and ground attacks in a 24-hour period. Fighting was reported 13 miles from Saigon.

Young Signs 'Code Of Fair Campaign Practices'

by AL MESSERSCHMIDT

Unfair campaign charges in the 10th Congressional district race took another turn yesterday when Republican Sam Young disclosed that he has signed the "code of fair campaign practices."

In an interview with the Herald, Young showed reporters a letter from the Fair Campaign Practices Committee in Washington, D.C., acknowledging Sept. 29 receipt of Young's signed pledge.

U.S. Rep. Abner Mikva, Young's Democratic opponent, criticized Young Sept. 25 for "resorting to outright falsehood in his campaign... unethical campaign tactics... attempts to twist and distort my positions." Mikva challenged Young to sign the pledge.

The Republican from Glenview originally refused to comment on the Mikva charges, then said "if he (Mikva) has signed the pledge, with the campaign of misrepresentation and concealment that that he has made, the pledge can't be worth very much."

After criticizing the pledge, Young apparently sent a signed copy to Washington within two days.

The campaign code "condemns use of campaign material of any sort which represents, distorts, or otherwise falsifies the facts regarding any candidate," Mikva, and 17 other Illinois Congressional candidates, signed the pledge before Young.

YESTERDAY, Young compared the campaign to arguments in court. "I'm 49. He's 46. We're both lawyers. We're both sufficiently mature to try and argue facts and let the people make up their minds," he said.

Mikva threatened in September to lodge a protest with the campaign practices committee "if these distortions continue." He claimed that Young misrepresented his position on amnesty for draft dodgers, impeachment of President Nixon, legalization of marijuana, North Vietnam and free trade.

A comparison by the Herald of a summer campaign pamphlet that allegedly contained the distortions and a more recent brochure shows that Young has modified some claims about Mikva's stances.

Recent changes include: MARIJUANA — Young originally claimed that Mikva favored legalization, which Mikva denied. Mikva says he favors "decriminalization... there is a vast difference between that and selling pot at the corner grocery." Young's new brochure states that Mikva favors "decriminalization... he is vice chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action which advocates legalization."

Gov. Ogilvie Here For Young's Day

Congressional candidate Sam Young will get a boost for his Oct. 31 "Sam Young Day" in Des Plaines from Gov. Richard Ogilvie, who will be here to campaign with Young.

Young is seeking election as GOP candidate in the 10th Congressional District. His opponent is Democratic Rep. Abner Mikva.

Ogilvie is running against Democratic Dan Walker.

The governor will campaign aboard Chicago & North Western Rwy. trains between Des Plaines and Park Ridge.

"We've got the governor for one hour beginning at 9:45 a.m.," Mayor Herbert Behrel told City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach yesterday. Mrs. Rohrbach and Realtor Ralph Martin head Young's Des Plaines campaign.

Mrs. Rohrbach said Young workers are hoping to schedule Ogilvie for a Young luncheon here Oct. 31. The lunch is planned at the Sheraton-O'Hare Motel on Mannheim Road.

Young will appear from 6 to 8:30 a.m., with Harvey Levy's Dixieland band, at the downtown railroad station to campaign with commuters.

Young, a Glenview attorney, will campaign at local industrial plants before the 55 a ticket lunch which includes entertainment by pianist Jean Bonnell.

A Halloween party from 5 to 9 p.m. at Casa Royale, 783 Lee St., with hors d'oeuvres, popcorn, and peanuts is planned by Young workers.

Local Student Heads Area Education Group

At a recent meeting of the Distributive Education Clubs of Illinois at Evanston Township High school, delegates from several suburban schools elected Maine West High School senior Ken Funk as president of Area 15.

Other officers include Kathy Zeigler, vice-president, from Schaumburg High School; Jackie Coy, parliamentarian, from Maine North; Lorrie Poniatowski, treasurer, from Conant High School; and Lia Piers, secretary, also from Conant High School.

Funeral Mass will be said at 10 a.m. tomorrow in St. Zachary Catholic Church, 567 W. Algonquin Rd., Des Plaines. Burial will be in All Saints Cemetery, Des Plaines.

NORTH VIETNAM — Young originally claimed that Mikva "refused to criticize" North Vietnam and called the Vietnam war "a holy war." Young's new pamphlet drops the terms. "I have criticized North Vietnam's aggression — the death and destruction it creates are no less reprehensible than the death and destruction created by the United States," Mikva has said. The new Young comparison said that Mikva, in 1970, spoke of return of prisoners before withdrawal but did not mention "cease fire or return of POWs" in 1972.

AMNESTY AND FREE TRADE — Young originally claimed that Mikva favored total amnesty and restricted trade. Mikva denied the charges. Young's new brochure does not mention Mikva's position on either subject, although a total of 18 issues are compared.

IMPEACHMENT — Young refused again yesterday to modify his claim that Mikva favors impeachment of the President. The new brochure states that Mikva "says Nixon does not want to end war and he would vote to impeach Nixon."

Yesterday, Young told the Herald that Mikva said Nixon should be impeached at a June 2 peace meeting at the North Store Hotel in Evanston. The speech, Young said he did not have a tape re-ate who took notes.

"All I know is that's what he said," Young answered. "I have a witness who appeared at the peace meeting... one of my campaign staff who took notes." Young said he did not have a tape recording of the alleged speech.

"When he talks to peace audiences, he tells a different story," Young charged.

"I have never said it because I have never been for it," Mikva said yesterday when contacted by a Herald reporter. "I opposed (impeachment) vigorously when they tried to put in on the House floor."

"This is not the kind of constitutional crisis that the impeachment procedure was reserved for," said Mikva. He said he recalls the June 2 talk at the Evanston hotel but said he did not say he favored impeachment of Nixon then or on any other occasion.

"His spy didn't take very good notes is all I can say," Mikva retorted.

Young claimed yesterday that Mikva's charges about campaign tactics are "a reverse smear on me, saying I'm smearing him which is a smear tactic itself."

"He's also said other things. He's said he's not for busing... look at his record."

'Dorothy Oliver

If you missed "VD Blues" you missed an incredible television program. You missed what was probably the most intelligent, honest, "tell it like it is" documentary ever to be done about so sensitive a subject.

I was impressed. What was coming across my TV screen was a far cry from the 15-minute, black and white film my girls physical education class squirmed through 11 years ago. Most of that film featured gonorrhea and VD bacteria swimming around the screen while a serious, deep voice spewed veiled threats about blindness and destroyed organs.

There was no question and answer period, no discussion, no embellishment on what was projected on the screen back in those days. The fear of THE DISEASE had been instilled into our heads and the less said the better.

"VD BLUES" (which was shown twice last week on Channel 11) was narrated by Dick Cavett and incorporated humor, song, skits and facts. The facts were repeated over and over again so that no one could walk away from their set without understanding.

I've spent a good deal of time talking with some of my young friends and acquaintances to get their feedback on the program. Those who saw "VD Blues" echoed the thoughts of one young man of 18:

"They really laid it on straight," he said. "No way you could not understand. I knew a lot of stuff about VD before the program but I learned some stuff, too."

More important, he continued — and again his comments were heard more than once — there was no moralizing, no preaching and no judgments. If you've got VD, be aware of it and get rid of it. That was the single message.

AFTER THE PROGRAM a half hour talk show was presented telling Chicago area people who to contact and where to go if they suspect they have VD. It also served as an open forum for questions "VD Blues" may have left unanswered.

The day after the program was aired the media reported that more than 500 calls were received in Chicago from concerned people. That situation is being reflected in the suburbs.

One youth counseling agency I contacted has reported a definite increase in the number of inquiries on where to go for VD treatments since the program. Most of the callers mentioned the show.

Because there is no VD clinic in the Northwest suburbs the Cook County Department of Public Health has made arrangements with a number of private physicians in the area to conduct VD tests at no cost to the patient. The department picks up the tab for tests and treatment.

EVERYTHING IS KEPT CONFIDENTIAL. Parents, school . . . no one is notified that a person is being treated for venereal disease. State law protects the privacy of any patient over the age of 12. This has been done to encourage young people to seek treatment who would not do so if their parents had to be notified.

If a person has VD he is asked to give the names of the people he has had sexual contact with. The department of public health will get in touch with these people and warn them of the probability of their having VD without using the original patient's name.

With the information that is now available, the number of clinics and treatment centers that are in operation and the sensible attitude that is being taken about VD there seems to be no reason that it is raging around the United States in epidemic proportions. But it is.

We, in our comfortable suburban homes, are no exceptions to the VD problem as physicians and counseling agencies can attest. I hope they show "VD Blues" again. And if they do, I strongly suggest you gather the family around the tube and watch it. It's worth it.

Used Book Store A Big Success

A student-operated used book store has been so successful this fall at Notre Dame High School for Boys in Niles that the school administration plans to take over the project next year.

Phil West, senior coordinator of the cooperative book store, said the store took in $1,300 this fall, $1,100 of which was returned to the students who contributed their old books. The remaining $200 was given to the student government and to charity.

The school book store, run by the school administration, only sells new books, said West. When Jack Detzner was elected president of the student body last spring, he suggested the cooperative book store as one of his first projects and he asked West to organize it.

Last spring 380 textbooks and 100 paperback books were turned over to the cooperative and the cooperative collected a 25-cent service charge from the students for each book.

The books then were sold to incoming students in the fall for about half price and all the money, except for a service charge, was turned over to the original owner of the book.

THE COOPERATIVE also contained a barrel of used paperback books not used for textbooks. No service charge was collected for these books and no money was returned to the students when they were sold. The money from the paperbacks will go to a local charity chosen by student government, said West.

The cooperative was very popular with students this fall, said West. "We set up the book store at 7 a.m., in the front foyer and there would already be a long line of students waiting to buy the used books," said West. One of the most expensive books is used by sophomores for biology. The book sells for $10.80 new, said West, but the book store sold it for $4.25 used. Books that were $5 or $8 were sold for half price. A student could save as much as $15 by buying used books, he said.

The used books were sold on a first-come, first-served basis, said West, and all 350 textbooks and most of the paperbacks were sold. About 25 Notre Dame students volunteered their time to operate the store, he said.

"An interesting sidelight was the respectability the student government gained," West said. "For example, when parents walked by our tables and saw students could save them money, they realized we were an active group trying to help them and Notre Dame."

Although the administration was "a little reluctant" to allow students to set up the book store, the principal, Father Haycock, gave his approval, said West. The project was so successful, said West, that the school administration plans to operate the used book store again next year.

Charged With Battery After Near Collision

A Des Plaines man, 20, was charged with battery and criminal damage to property yesterday after he allegedly struck a Wheeling man with his fists after a near auto collision in Des Plaines.

Daniel S. Teague, 20 of 1704 Mannheim Rd., Des Plaines, was charged by Des Plaines police after he allegedly used his fists to hit Michael B. Prenosil, 32, of 300 S. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling, on Oakton Street at 7:55 a.m.

Prenosil reportedly told police while he was driving west bound on Oakton Street Teague cut from the outside lane in front of Prenosil's auto in the inside lane.

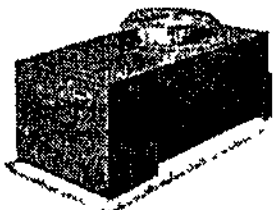

Prenosil told police he had to apply his auto's brakes to avoid hitting Teague's auto. Prenosil said when he stopped his auto for a traffic light at Oakton Street and River Road, Teague got out of his auto, came over to Prenosil's car and allegedly began knocking hard on the car's driver side window.

Prenosil said Teague allegedly pulled the sideview mirror off Prenosil's car. Prenosil then got out of his car and got into a scuffle with Teague. Both men told police they punched one another with their fists with each charging the other with throwing the first punch.

Police charged Teague with battery and criminal damage to property for allegedly pulling the sideview mirror from Prenosil's car. Teague was released on a $1,000 bond.

Prenosil was ticketed for improper lane usage and both men were scheduled to appear in the Des Plaines branch of Cook County Circuit Court Nov. 30 at 9:30 a.m.

School Caucus Topic Of Panel

Disagreement about the role of a local school caucus — whether its purpose is to aid the voter or elect its candidate — was part of a panel discussion Monday sponsored by the Des Plaines School Board Caucus.

The discussion, part of the group's first meeting of the school year, was designed to stimulate interest in caucuses and exchange ideas on how best to operate them.

The caucus groups, made up of representatives from various community and civic organizations, interview and then endorse candidates for school board posts. In most communities, a caucus endorsement assures victory in the low turn-out school elections.

Panel member Lillian Covitt, caucus delegate from a Skokie school district, said the purpose of a school caucus is not to elect its candidates but to screen qualified persons and present them to the voters.

ACCORDINGLY, Mrs. Covitt said, she has always been in favor of presenting two candidates for each school board position. The final choice should remain with the voters, she said.

Panel member Bernice Samuels, a member of the Skokie Valley Council Parent Teachers Association and former caucus delegate for Niles Township High School Dist. 219, disagreed.

The Dist. 219 caucus, as with most other caucus groups, selects only one candidate per vacancy with the idea that "whoever is selected will be elected," Mrs. Samuels said. Both the Des Plaines and Park Ridge caucus groups select only one nominee per vacant board seat.

The panel discussion was led by Stephen Loska, publicity and education committee chairman for the Des Plaines caucus and a trustee of Oakton Community College. Other panel members were Richard Carpenter, officer of the Park Ridge School Caucus, and George Mott, Des Plaines caucus member.

The discussion began with the history and general objectives of the caucus groups represented. Loska noted that the Des Plaines group reviews its bylaws every other year and said the exchange of ideas may help in that review.

Four vacancies are open on the two local school boards this year. On the Dist. 62 Board, a one-year term is open to replace Nancy Sharden who resigned in August, the three-year term of Kathryn Sciesz who is seeking reelection, the three-year term of J. Clayton MacDonald, board president, who will not run again, and on the Dist. 207 Board, the three-year term of Michael Bartos who has indicated to the caucus that he will seek reelection.

THE DISCUSSION revealed that the criteria for selecting organizations who are asked to send delegates to the caucus also differs from caucus to caucus. Mrs. Covitt said the small, 14-member caucus in Dist. 73½ votes en masse on each organization. She said there are also two members at large, one from the property owners association in the district and another delegate who is interested in schools but has no children in the elementary district.

Carpenter said all member organizations in the Dist. 64 caucus must be engaged in public welfare or education. The Dist. 219 caucus requires that an organization be in existence at least a year.

The Des Plaines School Board caucus requires that all civic organizations exist four years before asking to join the caucus. Parent-teacher organizations must contribute at least one half of the caucus delegates at Dist. 62. If they do not, they are allowed to send more delegates than other member organizations.

When screening a candidate, Mrs. Samuels said, the Dist. 219 nominating committee looks more for "philosophies than specifics." In other words, the committee looks more at how the candidate thinks and reasons than his prominence in the community. She said they also see whether he is liberal or conservative, and if he gets the facts before making a decision.

MRS. COVITT AGREED and added that the Dist. 73½ nominating committee evaluates the candidate's ability to express his thoughts verbally when pressured by his peers. The committee also asks why he is seeking election and if he is really concerned about education in the district or is he seeking a "personal vendetta," she said.

All panel members agreed there is apathy in the community towards caucuses and Mrs. Samuels said the number of candidates that appear before the Dist. 219 caucus often varies from 10 to 25.

Mrs. Covitt said "in recent years there is never complete satisfaction with everything the board does," so the candidate turnout has been high.

Margaret Wagner, chairman of the Dist. 62 caucus credentials committee said that the reason for the formation of the Oakton Community College Dist. 535 convention was one of apathy on the part of Maine Township citizens.

Whenever an election came up at Oakton, "Niles Township was right out there but not Maine Township," she said. The convention which will nominate candidates for the college board of trustees insured equal representation from caucuses in both Maine and Niles townships.

The Des Plaines School Board caucus will hold its second meeting Monday, Nov. 18, at the West Elementary School auditorium, 1012 Thacker St., Des Plaines.

In other action Monday night the caucus announced this year's delegates and organizations represented. They are the parent, teacher organizations of all 13 schools in Dist. 62, the Maine North and Maine West parent-teacher councils, St. Stephens Parents Association, the American Association of University Women, the Chamber of Commerce and Industry, the Des Plaines Education Association, the Junior Woman's Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Lions Club, the Woman's Club, the Northshire Civic Club, the First Congregational Church, the First United Methodist Church, Trinity Lutheran Church, and the Dist. 207 teacher's association.

Green Thumb Workshop Saturday

Homeowners interested in learning the correct techniques for pruning and shaping your shrubs, trees and ornamentals this fall can attend a special half-day workshop offered by the Maine-Oakton-Niles Adult and Continuing Education Program (MONACEP) Saturday.

Carl Klehm of the Charles Klehm Nurseries will demonstrate the correct techniques, care, and maintenance. The program will be held at the Charles Klehm & Sons Nurseries, Algonquin Road and Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights.

Klehm will discuss and demonstrate trimming, fertilizing, and spraying; pruning for shape and effect; and shearing ornamental and shade trees, shrubs, and evergreens.

Tuition for this program is $4 and may be paid Saturday prior to the 9 a.m. starting time.

Participants in the workshop meet at the back fertilizer shed on the north side of the Klehm Nursery. They should dress appropriately for the weather. They will be walking through fields of nursery stock, so comfortable shoes or boots will be in order. Ample parking space will be available.

For further information, call 825-3435. If in doubt about the weather, call this number after 7:30 a.m. Saturday.

Police May Have Party Line Radio

Communications Commission for police and fire departments in Cook County.

Under the proposed distribution of police radio channels, no more than six departments would be on any one frequency. Communities with larger populations would have fewer departments sharing a channel.

Under the proposal, Des Plaines, Park Ridge and Rosemont — with a total population of 112,000 — would be on the same network while Northlake, River Grove, Melrose Park, Stone Park and Bellwood with a total population of 94,700 would be on another police frequency.

Ebstein said it would be up to the local departments, if they accept the recommendations, to decide whether the towns sharing the channel would want to set up a central dispatching center to service all the towns or have each department dispatch individually.

Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Elk Grove Village have already begun plans for dispatching from a regional center over the same frequency.

EBSTEIN SAID Oak Park, Forest Park and River Forest are making plans to share one radio network but each town will have their own dispatching facilities.

Des Plaines police chief Arthur Hintz has indicated he would be inclined to share a network with Park Ridge and Rosemont if the costs could be held to a minimum. Although some federal financing is possible the amount has not yet been determined, Hintz said.

Lt. Don Scheunemann of the Park Ridge police said his department is presently spending a large amount of money installing a new communications center for his department.

Scheunemann said southern Cook County suffers most from the problem of overcrowded police frequencies.

"Northwest suburban communities have already spent considerable money to correct overcrowding radio channels. The problem of overcrowded channels exists in the southern area of the county but to correct the problem there is going to take redistributing channels throughout the county," Scheunemann said.

He added that his department, which already shares a channel with Rosemont, would also be willing to join with Des Plaines if the cost is not too great.

There are times when the men have a very good point in sneering about the feminine slavishness to style. Take the new clog shoes that have orthopedic specialists trying to keep pace with the accidents caused by these strange creations with no heel.

Part one has to do with the nurse — a bright, intelligent woman — who was wearing them. Made some comment about the story I'd seen about them. She agreed, said she knew how dangerous they were, but weren't they "cute"? Anyway, she wore them only on level ground, never attempting stairs.

Part two has to do with my niece. I told the story to her. She laughed and said she had some, too. She knew they were dangerous, but they were "all the rage" so she just had to have a pair, too. Go ahead, men. You probably can say it better than I can anyway.

Dear Dorothy: You recently answered a reader who wanted to know if a certain cream she was contemplating using to remove wrinkles would be harmful. If you couldn't give her a more complete answer than you did, publishing it was useless. Why couldn't you suggest she contact the FDA, the Consumer Protection Agency or even her family physician? — Jean B. Pillemer

Yours right. I bobbed that one.

Gerald Bach Takes A Bride

Sixteen men and women attendants lined the front of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church Sept. 10 to witness the marriage of Patricia Chibucos and Gerald Bach. The Rev. Herbert Nagel and the Rev. Robert Grosch, cousin of the groom, presided over the 5 p.m. candle-light, double ring ceremony.

Patricia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Chibucos of Northlake, asked her sister, Mrs. Robert Dennison of Schaumburg, to be her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Pamela Chibucos, the bride's sister from Northlake; Mrs. Wally Glasahagel, sister of the bride from Streamwood; Mrs. Tom Chibucos, sister-in-law of the bride from Lansing, Mich.; Mrs. Richard Christman, Lindenhurst, Ill.; Judith Melasner, cousin of the bride from Arlington Heights; Mrs. Emil Warncke, Bellwood, Ill.; and Nancy Shields, Norridge.

THE ATTENDANTS wore strawberry and white dotted swiss, floor-length gowns with V-necklines, short puffed sleeves and an eight-inch ruffle around the bottom of the skirts. They carried white lace parasols filled with pink carnations and wore wide-brimmed white moles. Thought you'd be interested in our experience. Visiting a friend we noticed plastic pinwheels stuck in various spots in the lawn. We were a bit surprised as we knew they had no children. On questioning, we found that these pinwheels by vibrating the ground under which were some mole runways had completed driven them away. — Mrs. R. C. Ferrell hats with pink ribbons.

Gerald, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Bach of Des Plaines, asked his brother Ronald to be his best man. Also attending the groom were Wayne Slago, brother-in-law of the groom from Northlake; Wally Glasahagel, brother-in-law of the bride from Streamwood; Tom Chibucos, the bride's brother from Lansing; Harry Reed, Peoria; Bob Dennison, brother-in-law of the bride from Schaumburg; Jerry Polacek, Minneapolis; and Ken Grosch, the groom's cousin from Arlington Heights.

For her wedding, Patricia chose a white silk organza A-line gown trimmed with Venetian lace. She wore a mantilla veil and carried a bouquet of white Amazon lilies and pink roses.

A RECEPTION for 250 guests was held at Casa Royale, Des Plaines, following the ceremony.

Patricia and Gerald spent two weeks in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida before returning to the area and making their home in Bloomingdale, Ill.

Patricia is a graduate of West Leyden High School and Triton Junior College. She is secretary to the executive vice president of Alberto Culver Co., Melrose Park.

Gerald is a graduate of Lane Tech High School, Wright Junior College and the University of Illinois, Champaign. He is a sales administrator with Control Company of America.

The Consumer

by Monica Wilch

AS ELECTION day approaches, one issue that ought not be overlooked in sizing up candidates is the consumer issue.

As far as the No. 1 political race is concerned, President Nixon has not exactly been the consumer's best friend.

The Republican National Committee, in its campaign literature, seeks to convince the consumer that the President is on his side by listing the consumer legislation he has proposed — a grand total of three bills.

One is the Fair Warranty Disclosure Act, which actually was proposed in Congress by Sen. Warren Magnuson and Rep. John E. Moss, both Democrats.

A second proposal is the Consumer Product Safety Act, under which the Secretary of HEW, (Health, Education and Welfare) would establish standards for such items as infant furniture. Another version of this bill, which would have created an agency independent of executive control to oversee product safety, was opposed by the administration.

The third Nixon bill is a Consumer Fraud Prevention Act "to regulate unscrupulous sales techniques." This is a job already being done by most state governments (including Illinois) and which probably is better left in the hands of the states.

ON THE OTHER side of the coin, the Nixon Administration has chalked up quite a track record in opposing consumer legislation.

At this writing, a bill to establish a consumer protection agency is being stalled in the Senate by an administration filibuster (which probably will kill the bill for this session. The administration supports the House version of the bill, which would eliminate grants to states for consumer protection services, prevent participation by the agency on behalf of consumers in legal proceedings, and eliminate a policy-making council of consumer advisers. With these changes, the bill is worthless.

Another important area of consumer legislation is that of flammability standards. As many as 5,000 deaths and 250,000 injuries result each year from burning fabrics. But Sen. Magnuson revealed last week that the Nixon Administration "promised to postpone federal flammability regulations for carpeting in order to get campaign contributions of $94,500 from a manufacturer on behalf of the industry."

GOING BACK further in the history of this administration, the Justice Department two years ago launched a successful battle against what would have been landmark consumer legislation — a bill that would have enabled consumers to unite to sue allegedly dishonest businesses. The bill was also opposed by the National Association of Manufacturers and the Grocery Manufacturers of America. In its place, the administration proposed a bill that would severely limit class action suits and the powers of the Federal Trade Commission, and would eliminate criminal penalties for businessmen found guilty of fraud.

Other non-favors to the consumer:

- THE NIXON appointees to the Supreme Court tipped the scales in favor of the Standard Oil Co. of California in a price-fixing suit brought by the state of Hawaii. The decision broke a string of precedents favoring plaintiffs against large corporations.

• THE DEPARTMENT of Agriculture tarried long in banning the use of cancer-inducing DES in cattle feed when cattlemen objected. This prompted an inquiry by Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass).

• THE ADMINISTRATION favors weakening the provisions of the Delaney Amendment to the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, which forbids any cancer-causing substance to be used in food.

• NO-FAULT INSURANCE, which was recommended by the Department of Transportation in 1970, would reduce the disparity between the $14 billion insurance premiums paid by consumers and the $7 billion they receive in claims. The White House and the Insurance Industry succeeded in killing the bill for this session of Congress.

• THE TRUTH in Advertising Act, which was introduced by Mr. Nixon's opponent, Sen. McGovern, would require advertisers to document the safety and performance of products. The administration opposes this bill, saying that the FTC already has a program for advertising substantiation. But, with a limited staff, the FTC has in nine months asked for substantiation from only six industries (30 per cent of this substantiation proved to be inadequate). Moreover, the FTC has no jurisdiction over companies that do not advertise nationally.

• A SENATE study revealed that auto repairs cost consumers an unnecessary $10 billion annually, and Sen. Phillip Hart (D-Mich) has introduced legislation calling for performance standards for cars, inspection stations, and licensing of auto repair shops. The Nixon Administration opposes this bill as "not in the public interest."

The consumer is paying 10 per cent more in July 1972 for his food than he did in July 1971, and the price of bread is expected to go up still more following the U.S.-Soviet grain deal. According to the Agribusiness Accountability Project, a public interest research group, the Nixon Administration capitulated to big grain exporters at the expense of consumers and small farmers in this deal.

(Note: Next week's column will discuss the Democratic record on consumer issues.)

It's moving day for all tender bulbs and plants that still haven't been brought indoors for the winter!

So very many people enjoy holding on to their plants over the winter or starting new ones that I thought I'd outline several propagating tricks.

Did you know that those lovely amaryllis bulbs for which you pay $4 or $5 apiece can be increased by bulb cuttings?

This method of propagation is not too well known among gardeners, but offers a free, swift way of increasing your stock.

Do it this way: Quarter a large, mature bulb lengthwise. Divide each quarter into two or more wedges, being careful to include a part of the bottom (or basal plate) of the bulb. Cut each wedge further by slipping a knife down between every third or fourth fleshy scale and slice through to the basal plate.

EACH SLIVER will form another bulb. Plant the slivers vertically, with the lower halves buried and upper part in the air, in flat containing a mix of peat moss and sand. When roots form in a few weeks or a few months (at most), repot the slices individually in a peaty, sandy soil.

Want to make more begonias? Don't wait for frost to cut down the foliage. Lift the whole plant, check for bulblets on the bottom that can be repotted. If there are none, select a stem with three leaves, cut it and root it in a pot of damp vermiculite.

Break off the stem of the begonia at the base of the bulb, wash the bulb free of soil and discard the stem portion. Let the bulb dry in the garage, and finally store all the bulbs in a cardboard box filled with dry vermiculite in a cool, frost-free spot.

Some people just put gladioli away in paper bags, only to find out in spring that the bulbs have shriveled or been eaten up by trips.

SO HANDLE gladioli similar to the begonias, pulling up the entire plant, tossing it in the garage to dry out the foliage. When dry, remove baby cormlets (spawn) for repotting. They will bloom in two years. Cut off the foliage right down to the corm, remove soil from the bulbs, dry and store as for begonias in dry vermiculite.

Impatiens saved over winter can be snipped and rooted in pots of wet perlite (or vermiculite). Give them sun, 60-degree room temperature and high humidity. If your kitchen faces south, the still over the sink is the perfect spot.

We discussed geraniums here several weeks ago, but want to mention to be sure you make geranium cuttings squarely across the stem just beneath a node or joint on the stem where a leaf was produced. Remember to remove lower leaves and spent blossoms from the geranium to avoid sapping strength away from root growth.

Don't try to root tuberous begonias or geranium slips in a glass of water. You could be tempting your luck in favor of stem rot instead of stem root.

'Wait Until Dark' Fails To Live Up To Billing

by PAT ADAM

I've now seen two area community theater productions of "Wait Until Dark," and neither has lived up to its advance billing as suspenseful melodrama.

In the Village Theatre production of the Frederick Knott play, which opened last Friday night at Prospect High School, Sue Ruetnik does a fairly creditable job of playing the blond heroine, Susy Hendrix, but the three villains in the cast fail to put enough believability into their roles. Daryl Schultz, George Corral and Ed Westfall simply aren't menacing enough.

Perhaps part of the difficulty is that they really are nice suburban fellows and because "Wait Until Dark" de-plot character development than plot to depict the danger in which Susy finds herself, the audience never really feels the threat until the final moments of the play.

From the beginning the audience knows the three things who enter the blind girl's Greenwich Village apartment under false pretenses mean to intimidate Susy to learn the whereabouts of a doll containing a cache of heroine. But it's still necessary to develop them as evil men to make the situation believable... and to raise the question whether Susy will realize her danger. Suspense has to build till the final frightening climax. That last scene does manage to stir the audience.

GEORGE CORRAL, who masquerades as Sgt. Carlino, a police officer supposedly investigating a murder in which Susy's husband may be involved, gives the most convincing performance of the three. Daryl Schultz as Mike Talman, posing as a friend of the blind girl's husband, is simply too nice. Granted neither he nor Sgt. Carlino have records of violence, they are ex-convicts desperate for money. They are a threat to Susy and need to be seen as such.

Visitors From Other Lands Entertained In Area Homes

Many first-time visitors to America are surprised to learn that Americans are warm and friendly, according to members of the International Visitors Center. The visitors also believe that being entertained in homes of Americans is the greatest way to know America.

In the past two years area membership in the Center has increased from two to twenty, and in recent months members have entertained more than 30 visitors, including 18 of the 30 members on the International Marketing Institute Tour.

Recent Arlington Heights hosts have included Mr. and Mrs. B. White who had dinner guests from Moscow and Nigeria; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Strubbe, dinner guests from Pakistan and Tanzania, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cagann, a family from Saudi Arabia as dinner guests; Mr. and Mrs. Horace McNeil, dinner guests from Kenya, teachers from the African-American Institute; and Mr. and Mrs. D. Selken, dinner guests from Moscow and Romania.

RECENT PALATINE hosts have been the Robert Elstads with a dinner guest from Swaziland and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hausler, who entertained guests from Kenya at dinner. The Hauslers' guests were also teachers from the African-American Institute.

Overnight guests from England have stayed in the Arlington Heights homes of Mrs. Penelope Delbi, Mrs. Carl Zehner and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jenkins; the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Harriet Forten; and the Roselle home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Daugherty. Several other IVC members are also expecting overnight guests from England.

Anyone interested in helping the Center by entertaining foreign guests may call Mrs. Selken at 392-6339.

County Assessor Cullerton Blasts News Media, Ogilvie

by ROGER CAPELLINI

Cook County Assessor P.J. Cullerton has snapped back at his critics, accusing the news media of "juggling statistics," and the governor's office of playing politics.

Cullerton said reports that he has instructed his staff to assess property at 25 per cent of market value, instead of the announced 20 to 22 per cent, were "irresponsible."

He also denied allegations contained in a 900-page report from the governor's Department of Local Government Affairs that the assessing practices of the office are "secretive and discriminatory."

Two Chicago newspapers charged Tuesday that Cullerton had ordered his staff to assess single-family homes in the north quadrant — including Wheeling and Palatine townships — at 25 per cent of market value instead of the announced 20 to 22 per cent. The newspapers said that would result in a 19 per cent increase in assessments.

Cullerton said he "categorically denies" the allegation, and assured homeowners affected by the quadrennial assessment they "will not generally feel an increase in either assessed valuation or taxes because of the actions of my office."

CULLERTON SAID a new system of assessing property has been instituted — a system which employs the market value of the property as the basis for assessing rather than the old method of determining what it would cost to reproduce improvements on the property. He said, "This does not mean an automatic increase in your assessment. It does mean more equitable treatment for all taxpayers, both homeowners and owners of commercial and industrial properties."

Generally, the new assessment system has resulted in higher assessments for vacant land, older homes and commercial and industrial properties. The assessments on newer homes generally have been reduced through the new system.

Cullerton said the system means, "I will continue to assess homes at a rate which is approximately half the rate applied to commercial and industrial properties."

He said, "It is time that irresponsible members of the press stop their juggling of statistics which only mislead the public."

THOMAS M. TULLY, chief deputy assessor, said the home classification percentage for homes in the north quadrant used in the recently completed quadrennial assessment remains at 21 to 23 per cent of market value. He said home assessments for suburban areas have either remained the same or gone down.

"In general, the big increases in assessments in the north quadrant are taking place in industrial properties," Tully said, "particularly in the newer properties. Assessments for some shopping centers are being increased."

The assessor also responded to Gov. Richard Ogilvie, who said Tuesday he will order a complete reassessment of property in Cook County if the assessor does not make "drastic changes" in his operations next year.

The governor's threat was made in conjunction with the 900-page report which charged, "The entire method of operation of the assessor's office is to avoid complaints from taxpayers."

Richard Kiesel, who compiled the report after an investigation initiated by Ogilvie last April, said a taxpayer now is, "completely in the dark as to how his property assessment is made, and therefore, is at the mercy of the assessor."

Cullerton said, "The only truly accurate statement in the report is the candid admission that it was prepared by a group of law students who know nothing about professional appraising. This fact is painfully apparent from a reading of the report."

The assessor also charged, "The so-called unbiased law students who prepared the report were summer patronage employees of the governor."

Cullerton said the report, coming three weeks before the election, "is a feeble attempt by the governor to bolster his faltering campaign for reelection."

Cullerton Denies Assessment Hike

by ROGER CAPELLINI
A News Analysis

The charges made by two Chicago newspapers Tuesday that County Assessor P. J. Cullerton has ordered a 19 per cent increase on reassessments of homes in the north quadrant of the county appear to be unfounded.

The charges, which Cullerton has denied emphatically, stem from the quadrennial reassessment of property in seven suburban townships and three in Chicago.

This year, Cullerton's office has instituted a new system of assessing, and it is only by coincidence the new system has been first applied to the north quadrant.

Basically, the new system is based on fair market value of the property and replaces the old "bricks and mortar" technique which considered only reproductive cost.

Under the new system, the assessor's office determines the market value of the property and then takes a certain percentage of that value as the assessed value.

The assessor's office announced, when it instituted the new system, that the assessment for single-family homes would equal 20 to 22 per cent of the market value.

The newspapers have charged, however, that Cullerton has instructed his staff to base the assessment on 25 per cent of the market value — a markup that would increase the assessment by 19 per cent.

Marshall Theroux, Wheeling Township assessor, said yesterday he has been compiling a study of the new assessments in the township in an effort to determine the results of the quadrennial assessment.

Theroux said the allegations made against Cullerton's office appear to be premature. Theroux said, "We don't have enough public information yet to compare the 1972 assessments with the actual sales figure of homes in the area."

The township assessor added, however, that based on a preliminary examination of the figures he has compiled to date, "It appears there has not been a substantial change in assessed values."

Theroux explained that while the old assessing system was not actually based on market value, a relationship has always existed between assessed value and market value.

That "unofficial" relationship, Theroux said, was that the assessment on single-family homes equaled about 20 per cent of market value. He said with the figures available to date, it appears the same relationship exists.

Additionally, an examination of the total assessed valuations for the township appear to contradict the alleged 19 per cent increase.

The total assessed valuation for Wheeling Township last year was roughly $281,650,000. As a result of the recent assessment, the total assessed valuation for 1972, subject to change, is approximately $332,500,000, an increase of about $50,850,000, or about 18 per cent.

That would seem to support the charges of a 19 per cent increase, except that there are other reasons for an increase in assessed value.

Initially, new construction in the township of about $30 million, can account for 60 per cent of the increase from last year.

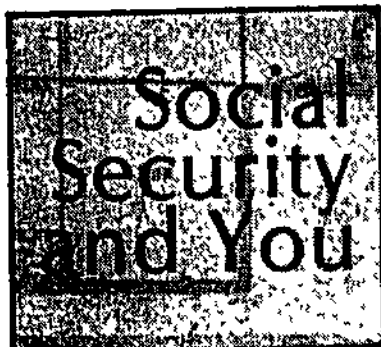

A substantial portion of the remaining 40 per cent of the increase can be attributed to the higher assessments for vacant land, commercial and industrial properties and the adjustments made to older homes.

In other words, the 18 per cent increase in total assessed valuation can be attributed to new construction and assessing adjustments — and that the 20 to 22 per cent figure for single-family homes remains accurate.

Cullerton's office, however, does not come out of the controversy blameless.

The difficulty in determining the relationship between market value and assessed value exists because Cullerton's office refuses to disclose to anyone the method used for determining market value.

Without that information, any attempt to pinpoint the relationship of market value to assessment is pure speculation. Also, without that information, the taxpayer has no way to determine if he is being assessed — and therefore taxed — properly.

Q—MY HUSBAND is 67 and gets monthly social security retirement payments. I'm 58 and totally disabled. Can I get disability benefits on my husband's work record?

A—No. You are not eligible to receive a wife's benefit until you're 62 unless you have a child in your care who is entitled to cash payments on your husband's work record. But, if you've worked long enough and recently enough, you may be eligible for disability benefits on your own work record if your disability will keep you from working for a year or more. For more information, call the Social Security Administration at 255-7512.

Q—SINCE MY wife died, I get monthly social security checks for my 17-year-old mentally retarded daughter. My sister told me her checks will continue even after she's 18. Is this true?

A—Yes, if your daughter qualifies for disabled child's benefits. You should call, write, or visit your social security office at least 3 months before your daughter reaches 18 to see about continuing her checks on the basis of her disability.

Q—I'M 36 AND get monthly social security disability payments. I got married last week. My wife has children by a previous marriage. Will they be able to get monthly payments too?

A—After you've been married for one year, your wife and step children can get benefits until the children reach 18. Your step children can get benefits until they're 22 if they are unmarried and attend school full-time. Any child born after the marriage is eligible from the time the child is born. In this case, your wife would also be entitled beginning with the month of the child's birth.

Go West...For Skiing Fun

WESTERN SKIING IS Starr Walton's Downhill, 14th. In the same year she was eighth in the world combined standing in the Downhill. At Innsbruck in the 1964 Olympic Games, Miss Walton finished as the top American girl in the

by GENIE CAMPBELL

Living on the midwestern plains, it's difficult for the Chicago suburbanite to be aware of all the skiing meccas in the Rocky Mountains, Grand Tetons or High Sierras.

So naturally, you find someone who is like Starr Walton who put on her first pair of skis at the age of three and is familiar with almost every skiing area of the Western United States.

There isn't too much that the native Californian doesn't know about the sport that in the past several seasons has snowballed in popularity. Now a family affair, more and more skiing resorts are opening up to accommodate this fired-up interest.

For those planning winter vacations on skis, the season out West usually begins around mid-November and carries through Easter vacation.

"The best time I think to ski out West is the week after New Year's. The holiday crowds have left and the snow conditions are very good," said Miss Walton, in town recently for United Air Lines who this winter is again operating special ski-oriented Snowbird flights.

Starr Walton affirms she has no one favorite area, though she admits individual resorts do have distinct characteristics.

The novice skier need not worry. He will be accommodated at the majority of areas out West that specialize in elementary and intermediate runs as well as more difficult ones.

One exception is Taos, N.M., a resort that is geared primarily to the intermediate and advanced skier.

"Taos doesn't offer such a tremendous variety of slopes. It's also harder to get to... almost a full day's drive out of Denver," said Miss Walton who was a member of the 1964 U.S. Women's Olympic Ski Team.

While the established reputations of Aspen and Vail, Colo., annually attract an entourage of midwestern skiers, other newer areas seriously being looked over are Keystone, Colo., Park City, Utah, and Alpine Meadows, Calif.

Of course most vacationers are interested in more than just the right skiing conditions. When later afternoon arrives and the runs close, everyone heads down to town for dinner and a little local color.

Night life in the form of discotheques and pubs is available in almost every Western ski area.

"Vail, Aspen and Jackson Hole are still considered the swinging places for young couples and singles," said Starr Walton. "And if you're looking for big name entertainment, it can be found in the Taos area."

Gambling is an advantage of Nevada. Both Snowbird and Alta, two skiing areas in Utah, are located 30 miles outside of Salt Lake City and 40 minutes from Reno.

A flavor of the old wild west is a part of both Breckenridge, an old Colorado mining town and Steamboat, a relatively new area four hours from Denver that in the last year has received a lot of publicity. Promoting itself with old fashioned hayrides and steak bakes, Steamboat offers a cowboy environment that is much less sophisticated than Aspen whose former cattle ranchers and cowpokes have long since fled the scene.

If you prefer having the slopes relatively all to yourself, check out Crested Butte outside of Denver, an area noted for good skiing and few people.

Also Telluride is opening this year. It's the newest of the Colorado ski areas, another old mining town that has been rehabilitated and turned into a recreational area.

Telluride is also famous for something else. It's the reported site where Butch Cassidy made his first unauthorized bank withdrawal.

"A super family spot that is noted for its excellent groomed slopes, is Winter Park, Colo.," said Starr Walton. Seventy-five per cent of the trails are marked either beginner or intermediate.

Other skiing resorts are located in upper California and Nevada where a lower altitude offers a milder climate. Yet ski runs are as long as those in Colorado.

"You can ski two states at the same time, California and Nevada, at Heavenly Valley in the Sierras," said Miss Walton.

"California skiing is characterized by a greater variety of snow conditions," she continued. "Like Colorado, California has both powder and hard packed snow. In addition, California has a granular corn snow that is caused by alternating thawing and freezing," she continued.

"It makes excellent spring skiing. Wet powder is the most difficult snow condition western skiers experience. Neither Colorado nor California has ice."

In general the United Air Lines representative said that all ski areas were developing good cuisine. Restaurants specialize in anything from seafood to Chinese dinners.

"Better transportation to the resorts is much less harassing on the passengers today," she continued, "and cars are seldom necessary. But sometimes it is better to have a car in California and around Salt Lake City, Utah," she added.

And where accommodations are concerned, the gamut is run, from dormitories to private chalets.

Those wishing to experiment with cross country skiing are wise to remain in Colorado where special trails and ski packages have been created to cater to the new surge in this sport. Packages are also available to enable a skier to try several different areas in the same trip.

SOCCER BALL, where are you going? That could be the question this Maine West Warrior is asking himself during Tuesday's 1-1 tie with Waukegan. Cesare Bratta scored West's lone goal two minutes into the first overtime period. Waukegan's lone goal came moments later. After a scoreless second overtime, the game ended tied. 'Develop A Will To Win' Says Bulls' Pat Williams

Chicago Bulls' General Manager Pat Williams is clever — effectively clever.

He had to be clever to successfully sell professional basketball to Chicago — a city that had rejected five previous franchises. Williams was clever again yesterday.

Addressing over 200 principals attending the Illinois Principal's Association Fall Conference at the Arlington Park Towers Hotel, Williams emphasized the moral value of sports.

The 32-year-old wizard preached the "tremendous amount of good that comes from athletics" despite first acknowledging "all is not well in the world of sports."

He dwelled on the undue strain heaped upon 8-9 year-old athletes by parents and amateur-level coaches so that by the time the kids are 10-11, "they couldn't care less."

He recognized the "immoral college recruiting, the cheating, the hypocrisy and buying of the high school athletes." And he spoke first-hand of the greed of the pro athletes whose lone concern is the accumulation of money.

Then, by cleverly situating his captive audience of high school principals into a role as high school athletes, Williams proceeded to outline the moral value of sports.

He set down a program of eight qualities that he felt a high school athlete should possess. "Develop the will to win," Williams stressed as his opening point. Paraphrasing the Grandland Rice line that when the Great Scorer writes the score next to your name, it's not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game, Williams admitted, "I disagree." "You must have a burning desire in your heart to win. Those that don't, will perish in this totally competitive society."

"Secondly, I would encourage you to strive for perfection," he said, citing baseball's Ted Williams and basketball's Hal Greer as examples of how practice (one percent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration) have paid off for them.

Bull Bob Weiss was mentioned in Williams' third quality of "refusing to give up." Weiss, who mullered around in the minor leagues, stuck with it to become what Williams called, "probably the best third guard in the league."

"Welcome competition" was yet another attribute Williams hoped his audience of high schoolers would possess and "believe the impossible," he added. "... But a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?" Williams quoted.

Inspiration and enthusiasm also found a spot in the 1962 Wake Forest grad's presentation. "Jesus is the greatest inspiration and source of enthusiasm," the avid member of the League Of Christian Fellowship Athletes stressed.

"You can only go as high as your faith and confidence," Williams added. "Hit your wagon to a star."

His final point concerned disciplining your lives and maintaining health and vitality, even if it means giving up certain desirable things.

In conclusion, Pat asked his pre-tentious youngsters to sacrifice spirit and attitude, develop a sound mind and body, be coachable and maintain a deep sense of humility.

"Do the best you can, but remember, there's no indispensable man."
